

Golden Lukhang, son of the former prime minister of Tibet, demonstrates here with the Rev. Elcho Redding how a ceremonial scarf is presented to a guest. The young man, who has come to the United States to enter school in Los Angeles, was a guest in the home of the Rev. Mr. Redding's mother, Mrs. Sam Redding, 191 Clover lane. He is dressed in typical Tibetan attire. The scarves, or khaddaks, are kept by all Tibetans in quantity and are presented on many occasions. The minister, his wife and three children are in the United States on leave from their work in Missouri, India, with the Tibetan Refugee Educational Institute sponsored by the Evangelical Mission alliance. A small hand-woven Tibetan rug which the Tibetan student gave the Reddings can be seen on the sofa.

Tibetan Youth Is Guest; To Attend U.S. School

Because he feels a great desire to help his fellow countrymen, the son of the former prime minister of Tibet has come to the United States to continue his education. The young man, Golden Lukhang, is being aided by the Evangelical Mission alliance, a nondenominational Christian movement, and was in Medford recently with his benefactors, the Rev. and Mrs. Elcho Redding, who work in India as missionaries for the alliance.

Young Lukhang left Medford for Los Angeles where he will enroll in Culter academy, a private Christian school. Although his English is good — after months of tutoring with the Reddings — the student is not yet ready for study on the college level. Later he hopes to enter one of this country's large universities to study political science.

Many Refugees Golden and the Rev. Mr. Redding point out that there are now about 80,000 Tibetan refugees in India, these people having fled their homeland since the Communists have taken over the rule of Tibet. The young man's father, Prime Minister Lukhana, was next in power to the Dalai Lama and remained in Tibet for a considerable period after the Lama had sought refuge in India. The Dalai Lama is both the political and spiritual leader of the Tibetans under the time-honored system which the Communists upset.

Asked if the refugee Tibetans are beginning to give up hope concerning their return to their country and the overthrow of the Communists Golden replied firmly "Never—we will never give up hoping and trying."

Education Needed Both the Rev. Mr. Redding and the young Tibetan said that Tibetans need a wider and different education than has been possible in the past if the people are to solve their problems and make progress. In addition to studying with the Reddings, Golden studied courses sent him from the American Correspondence school, Chicago.

Brogues Good For Autumn United Press International Shoes for fall will look like brogues, others like sturdy oxfords with welt soles and tongues.

One sumptuous "at home" costume features soft glowing blue warp print with a long overskirt which doubles as a cape.

New ball gowns colors range from whites to golds to corals — in gold and coral brocade, gold headed crepe, sable-trimmed brocade and coral boucle.

"Ski look" sweaters of black and white will be equally suited for the ski slopes and country living.

Knits will be strong for fall in daytime suits and dresses. Leading colors include tones of beige, gold or bronze.

Top couture designers feature the sportswear look this year. Sample: topcoat of tortoise shell leather, worn with matching ankle boots.

For evenings, the longer the earrings, the better. Just sweep the hair back of the ears and let the sides froth forward in saucy pines.

Sheers are getting sheerer and filmy fabrics are getting filmer. Most popular are clipped laces.
