GOLD HILL — Gilbert A. Mack, principal of District 6 schools in Gold Hill, announced classes will begin daily at Hanby Elementary school at 8:15 a. m. starting Monday, Sept. 9.

Grade 4 at Patrick Elementary school will begin at 8:20 a. m., and grades 1, 2, and 3 at 8:30 a. m. He said dismissal time is 3 p. m. at Patrick and 3:10 p. m. at Hanby. Buses leave Hanby at 3:15 p. m.

Mack said buses will run on the same schedule as last June. He advised parents to have youngsters waiting a bit early the first morning, however. He asked parents to notify new neighbors who have children entering Gold Hill schools for the first time of the approximate time and bus stops.

School lunches will be the same price as in the past—25 cents per lunch or $1.25 per week, which should be paid in advance on the Monday of each week. Youngsters who take a sack lunch may supplement it with milk at five cents per half pint.

Cost Accounting System Is Studied

A uniform cost accounting system may be installed in county road departments throughout Oregon pending a follow-up of questionnaires now being sent to each county by the Association of Oregon Counties.

The Jackson county court read a questionnaire Friday which is designed to determine what counties use a cost accounting system and how detailed it is. This information will be used as a basis for establishing a uniform cost accounting system, the accompanying AOC letter stated.

County Engineer Robert J. Carstensen said Jackson county is one of the few counties in Oregon which has a detailed cost accounting system for its roads department. The county engineer said through this system he can determine the construction costs of each road per foot, the efficiency of road equipment and other information.

"This information will give the county courts information they need to control road department operations and to make sound decisions on road policies," according to the AOC letter explaining the need for such accounting.

Oregon Supreme Court Decisions

Salem — (UPI) — The Oregon Supreme Court in a split decision Thursday overruled a long line of previous decisions and declared a charitable enterprise, as well as its employees, could be held liable for damages.

Thursday's were the first decisions handed down since the court's August recess.

The high court reversed a decision by Multnomah County Circuit Judge James W. Crawford and instructed the lower court to enter a judgment against the Portland Sanitarium and Benevolent Association. Wayne E. Hungerford had sued for damages for injuries caused by a nurse's aide employed at the hospital.

The jury awarded a judgment against the nurse's aide, but was instructed by Judge Crawford to return a verdict in favor of the hospital.

Doctrine Upheld

Previous decisions of the Supreme Court had upheld the doctrine of charitable immunity. In the decision the high court said "It is neither realistic nor consistent with the common law tradition to wait upon the legislature to correct an outdated rule of case law."

The majority opinion was written by Justice Alfred T. Goodwin.

Justice George Rossman dissented, noting that the last legislature failed to pass a bill which would terminate charitable immunity. He also said that since a charity receives no profit, the foundation for the doctrine of respondent superior is absent.

Conviction Upheld

In another decision, the Supreme Court upheld the murder conviction of Lee Parker in the Multnomah County Circuit Court of Judge E. K. Oppenheimer.

Parker was accused of killing Robert Holloway near Vernonia. He was indicted for first degree murder and convicted of second degree murder. On appeal, that conviction was reversed by the Supreme Court because of erroneous admission of hearsay testimony. Parker was convicted again at his second trial, and appealed that conviction.

In other decisions, the Supreme Court:

Ashland Council Has Brief Session

ASHLAND — In a brief session Thursday evening the city council disposed of business, deferred action on the PD and L sale until its next meeting Sept. 17, and referred other matters to committees.

It approved action of the city planning commission in refusing petition for a kindergarten on Elkader st. Similar requests have been turned down in single family residential areas.

Approval of a package store B liquor license requested by the new Safeway store on Siskiyou blvd. was approved and referred to the state liquor commission.

Alan Porter, Medford air pilot who had previously asked for a fixed base operation at the city airport, requested a five-year lease with first option for a permanent base. He is presently operating under an agreement with the owner, Mrs. Minnie Parker. His letter was referred to the airport committee.

Howard R. Pierce, bank executive, was named by Mayor Richard Neill to fill the vacancy on the city planning commission. John Reed, a longtime member, submitted his resignation last month.

City Attorney Harry Skerry said that he had checked the statutes on cemetery zoning and found that the city has no jurisdiction because this comes under county subdivision. He has notified Davis and Ainsworth, lawyers for the owners of proposed 78-acre cemetery site northeast of Ashland.

A hearing was set for 8 p. m. Oct. 1 on curb, gutter and paving on Cambridge and Kent sts. in Quiet Village.
