

Civil War Claims Conference Topic

SALEM (UPI) — The Oregon and California attorneys general will confer in October on the two states' claims for nearly $8 million from the federal government to repay them for maintaining troops during the Civil War.

Atty. Gen. Robert Y. Thornton said Oregon's claim is for $390,000 for state expenses during the Civil War, plus a possible $74,000 claim for expenses during the Modoc and Umatilla Indian wars.

California Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk said his state's $7.5 million claim also had not been paid.

The money was used by the states to recruit and maintain troops on Indian patrol duty during the war, and was spent after the federal government assured it would be repaid.
