

Dr. Fincke Named Department Head At Oregon State

CORVALLIS—Appointment of Dr. Margaret L. Fincke, head of the foods and nutrition department, as acting dean of the school of home economics at Oregon State university was announced Tuesday by President James H. Jensen.

Dr. Fincke will serve as acting dean for the 1963-64 school year during the absence of Dr. Miriam G. Scholl who has requested a leave for the coming academic year to undertake special studies. This will be Dean Scholl's first leave since joining the OSU staff in 1954.

Dr. Fincke, a nationally-known home economist, has been a member of the foods and nutrition faculty at OSU since 1935 and head of the department since 1945.

She began a two-year term in June as national president of Omicron Nu, national honorary society in home economics, which has about 20,000 members and chapters in 45 colleges and universities. President of Association.

Dr. Fincke also is 1963-64 president of the Oregon Dietetics association; was a member for three years of the Foods and Nutrition Board of the National Research Council; and was chairman of the foods and nutrition section of the American Home Economics association.

She has traveled widely and spent six months as visiting professor of home economics and consultant at Kasetsart university in Bangkok, Thailand, in 1955-56. More recently she attended the International Biochemical Congress in Moscow, Russia, in 1961.

Dr. Fincke is author or co-author of several publications, technical and scientific papers. She served as acting dean once previously during the absence of former Dean Ava Millam Clark.

The appointment was approved by the state board of higher education at its September meeting.

Woman Injured in Highway Accident

A 53-year-old Central Point woman was injured in a rear end collision on Crater Lake highway six miles from Medford Tuesday night, state police said.

Irene Plina Smith, Central Point, suffered facial injuries. She was a passenger in a car driven by George David Smith, 53, Central Point.

The Smith car hit the rear of a car driven by Charles Henry Hoffmeister, 75, of 122 Portland ave., Medford, police said. Both cars were going south. Smith was cited for no operator's license, officers said.

A three car collision occurred on Vilas rd. at Table Rock rd., yesterday afternoon, state police said.

A pickup truck towing a homemade trailer operated by Gustavus Pratt Clerin, 66, of 4005 Southwest Valley View Court, Portland, going east on Vilas rd., proceeded into the Table Rock rd. intersection and into the path of a car driven by Peter Robert Bateman, 58, of 3008 Table Rock rd., Medford. The Bateman car hit the truck and trailer in the rear and spun it around, state police said. It hit a car operated by Jerry Everett Michael, 22, of 1225 East 11th st., Medford, police said. The trailer also hit a power pole.

First Issue of New Magazine Published

CORVALLIS—First issue of a new business magazine, "Northwest Business Management," has been published by the Oregon State university school of business and technology.

The magazine will be published four times a year. It is aimed at helping small and medium sized business firms in the Northwest.

Editor is Jack L. Rettig of the business school staff. Other faculty members on the editorial board include Jack Bluestein, Homer M. Dalbey, Richard J. Hopeman and Fred E. Winger.

Free copies of the first issue are available on request, Rettig said. The subscription rate for subsequent issues will be $4 per year.

AND RISKY TOO
 LONDON (UPI) — The British army has refused to supply Maurice Fogel, 47, a magician and illusionist, with a firing squad so he can catch nine bullets with his teeth. Maj. Gen. Eustace Elois Nelson, who Tuesday turned down Fogel's plan to have the trick done on television, said:
 "It is not a suitable job for his majesty's guardsmen."
