

West Coast Plans Plane Purchases

SEATTLE — West Coast Airlines expects to exercise an option Oct. 1 to purchase two turbine-powered F27 Fairchild passenger planes from Aloha Airlines of Honolulu. J. Nicholas Bez Jr., vice president and assistant to the president, has announced.

The acquisition will be subject to approval of the Civil Aeronautics Board.

"West Coast also is desirous of obtaining a third F27, which would increase its jet strength to 10 planes within the next few months," Bez said.

At present WCA operates to 44 points in six Western states and Canada with a fleet of 7 F27s and 14 DCs. The two additional F27s will have an effect of increasing the overall passenger load capacity by 15.6 percent when fully incorporated into the schedule. Each can carry 40 passengers in addition to cargo and cruise about 300 miles per hour.

The F27s were introduced to U.S. air travel by West Coast Airlines in 1958 as the first American-built jet transports to enter scheduled service.
