Operating Budget Of Research Unit Reaches $800,000

Corvallis — The Oregon State University Science Research Institute, which was organized in 1952 to promote basic research in science, now has an annual operating budget of $800,000—nearly all of which comes from grants—according to Dr. Vernon H. Cheldelin.

The Institute has passed the $3,000,000 mark in grants received during its 11 years, Cheldelin noted. He is dean of science at OSU and founder and director of the Science Research Institute.

Projects now under way in SRI cover a wide range of problems related to human health such as how the heart gets its energy from body fuels, how hormones act, chemical composition of normal and abnormal cells, and changes that take place in embryonic development.

Other studies are under way on fundamental structure of chemical compounds such as proteins and sugars, weather modification, and forest products chemistry.

The bulk of the research funds come from the U.S. Public Health Service, Atomic Energy Commission and National Science Foundation. But grants also are included from the American Heart Association, American Cancer Society, Nutrition Foundation, Office of Naval Research, Life Insurance Medical Research Fund, and the Gillette company.

Only $32,000 of state appropriations are involved in the Science Research Institute budget, Cheldelin noted.

Along with research findings and benefits, the Science Research Institute activity engages in the training of advanced degree students in science.

Sixty-nine papers were published in scientific journals last year by SRI workers, Cheldelin said in calling attention to the rapid growth of the Institute and accomplishments of the scientists.

Keatings Attend Services for Sister

Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Keating of Valley View have returned from Portland where they attended funeral services Tuesday for Keating's sister, Mrs. Willard B. Wells, the former Virginia Keating.

Mrs. Wells is survived by her husband; a son, Capt. David B. Wells, stationed at Ft. Knox, Ky., and a daughter, Judith K. Wells, at home.

Mrs. Wells had visited often in the Rogue valley and is also remembered here by a number of friends with whom she attended the University of Oregon, where she was affiliated with Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.

Dr. Cecil Attends Executives Meeting

ASHLAND — Dr. Herbert Cecil, head of the music department at Southern Oregon college, attended a meeting of the Oregon State System Music Executives recently at Oregon College of Education in Monmouth.

Problems of the various music departments in the Oregon State System were discussed and the group organized themselves officially as the Oregon State System Music Executives with Dr. Robert Trotter, dean of the University of Oregon school of music as chairman.

It was unanimously voted that each school in the system should be granted the privilege of awarding the BS or BA degree with a major in music and instructed the chairman to write the chancellor's office of the recommendation.

Henrik Ibsen's play "Hedda Gabler" has only seven characters in it.

And the seven players who are portraying these characters in the 90-minute drama special, to be presented Friday at 9:30 p.m. on KBES-TV, represent a most imposing combination of talent and acting experience.

The cast consists of Ingrid Bergman in the title role, and Sir Michael Redgrave, Sir Ralph Richardson and Trevor Howard, with Dilys Hamlett, Ursula Jeans and Beatrice Varley rounding out the cast in the supporting roles.

With the exception of Miss Bergman, all are stalwarts of the London stage and screen.

"Hedda Gabler," one of the theater's great dramatic classics, is the story of a brilliant and beautiful woman married to a dull, plodding professor. Bored with her life, she resumes a friendship with a former admirer and in doing so destroys herself and those around her.

A circuit court jury earlier in the week found him guilty. Blank was charged with breaking into the Oregon Food Store Aug. 15.

Imposition of sentence was suspended for five years for James William Prewitt, 22, Bakersfield, Calif., who pleaded guilty earlier to a charge of burglary.

Prewitt was placed under the supervision of the Oregon parole and probation officers subject to release to California to face criminal charges there. He was charged with entering a home in Central Point.

Raymond Harold McCoy, 31, of a local hotel, yesterday pleaded guilty to charges of burglary not in a dwelling and his case was continued for a pre-sentence report.

Anna Virginia Sage, 35, Grants Pass, was placed on probation on a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property and imposition of sentence was suspended for three years. She was directed to make restitution for any articles not recovered. She had pleaded guilty to the charge.

Norman Douglas Dane, 34, of Bandon, Ore., was placed on probation and imposition of sentence suspended for three years on a charge of obtaining property by false pretenses. He was directed to make restitution for checks issued. Dane had pleaded guilty.

Shirley Rae Russell, 20, of Los Angeles, Calif., was placed on probation and imposition of sentence was suspended for three years for uttering and publishing a false check.

Charles Merrill Wright, Seattle Wash., was sentenced to 2 1/2 years to the Oregon State Correctional Institution on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor. He had pleaded guilty.

$100,000 Home Added for Quints

ABERDEEN, S.D. (UPI)—The thriving Fischer quintuplets added a $100,000 home today to their bonanza that already is worth nearly $200,000.

And in South Dakota, that's really a lot of house.

The quintuplets themselves were "getting along good" in the fifth day of their lives. Their doctor paid them a midnight visit and said he had increased their milk formula again.

The promise of a new home was the biggest item on a growing gift list for Andrew Fischer, 38, a $76-a-week grocery clerk, and his wife, Mary Ann, 30.

The Curtis Publishing Co. announced it had bought publication rights to pictures and stories of the Fischer family.

The Fischers and their other five children have been living in a five-bedroom two-story stucco house two miles out of Aberdeen. Fischer also has rented some barns and a few acres so he could keep two milk cows.

Dr. James N. Berbos, the general practitioner who delivered the quintuplets, told newsmen after his midnight visit that he has not decided when Mrs. Fischer will return home. He said earlier that she was being held in the hospital because of the excitement and hectic activities that surely will surround her when she does leave.
