By ZAN STARK
SALEM (UPI) — Plans to guarantee a massive turnout for New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller at the Western Republican Conference in Eugene were drafted in a private meeting held recently in Boise, it was revealed today.

Both Rockefeller and Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater are to speak in the 10,000-seat McArthur court basketball pavilion on the University of Oregon campus Oct. 12.

Rockefeller is to speak at noon, Goldwater at 7 p.m. House Minority Leader F. F.

Montgomery (R-Eugene) said he and Tuck Wilson, Portland Young Republican, attended the Boise meeting.

"I'm in charge of arrangements for Rockefeller and Goldwater at Eugene. I'm trying to get together with the Goldwater people now," Montgomery said.

"I don't stay at the meeting, we discussed arrangements for Rockefeller, then I left. I didn't want to get involved because I'm on the host committee," he added.

Rockefeller boosters from several Northwest states reportedly attended the session.

Montgomery said "I know Wilson will do some work. I understand he is working closely with the Rockefeller forces."

When asked by United Press International what plans were drafted at the meeting, Wilson said "I'm in no position to tell what happened in Boise."

Wilson did reveal plans to provide free bus rides from Portland "for college students and others."

He said buses would arrive in time for Rockefeller's speech. Asked if special buses were planned for Goldwater's appearance, he said "we aren't going to shuttle buses back and forth all day."

Wilson said he was coordinating for a group headed by Martha Kate and Bob Ridgley, both of Portland, who were heading an independent Republican conference committee.

"We didn't plan any announcement now. We have arranged a publicity campaign. It wasn't to be announced until next week," he said.

R. Mort Frayn, former Washington State Republican chairman and Camden Hall, former University of Washington student body president and now a law student at the university, told UPI they attended the Boise meet.

get an enthusiastic welcome from his supporters at Eugene." He said it would not be a conventional-type demonstration, "it's not 'he or me' or place for that kind of action."

Montgomery said Rockefeller is scheduled to fly to Portland at 9:55 p.m. Oct. 11, then fly to Eugene.

He said Rockefeller would stay at the Village Green at Cottage Grove, south of Eugene.

He said Goldwater would stay at the Country Squire, north of Eugene. Montgomery said he did not yet know when Goldwater would arrive in Oregon.

Transfer of License For Tavern Voted By Medford Council

Removal of one of the last of the front st. taverns was assured by action of the Medford city council last night.

The group, despite the protests of a "stirred up" downtown businessman, approved the transfer of the liquor license for Otto's tavern from 39 South Front st. to a new location at 2940 North Pacific highway.

Charles Burton Broomfield, proprietor of the tavern, was represented last night by Medford lawyer Joel B. Reeder, who said his client's lease at the front st. location will expire Nov. 1, and that its operation would close Oct. 15.

But George Lewis, owner of Rogue Travel Service, 111 East Eighth st., urged the council to "eliminate" the tavern rather than transfer its location.

"Front street has been a pigsty for years," Lewis charged, "and you shouldn't sweep it under the rug. You should eliminate it entirely."

Lewis, whose business is located about a half block away from Otto's tavern, claimed the proprietors "haven't done a decent job." He said he has had to call the police at least once a week about things "these dregs of humanity have done."

He said he was "at complete variance" with the city police report, which had found no reason to recommend against the transfer. "The proprietors will run a poor establishment," he predicted. "Their patrons have ruined my business for five years."

Reeder replied that the new North Pacific highway location would "not be objectionable." He pointed out that there will be "no close grouping of taverns," and that the closest similar operation would be about one-quarter mile away.

"As long as there is a demand for this kind of operation, and as long as it is approved by the Oregon Liquor Control commission, it should be continued," he stated.

Police Capt. Clyde C. Fichter, in answer to councilmen's questions, said that taverns were more of a problem when they were "concentrated" in one area, such as Front st.

Mayor James Dunlevy agreed that "decentralization will help minimize the problem." The vote to permit the transfer of the license was unanimous.

Grant Application Will Be Forwarded

JACKSONVILLE — The application for a $41,086 federal grant to finance a year-long study of the feasibility and cost of restoring the central business area of Jacksonville will be mailed this week end.

The city council took the necessary action to take care of a few last-minute technical details at its meeting Tuesday night, according to City Attorney Ervin B. Hogan.

Hogan reported he had approved the application and turned it over to Jack Sutton, coordinator of the project. Sutton said the application, which will go to the San Francisco office of Federal Housing and Home Finance agency, will be mailed this week end.

The proposed Jacksonville Historic Preservation and Restoration project calls for restoring the central area of Jacksonville from First st. to Fourth st. and between Main and C sts.

If the initial loan application is approved, a study will be made to determine the cost of restoring each building involved in the proposed project.

Finance Director Warns of Drastic Cuts in Services

SALEM (UPI) — Immediate drastic cuts in state services will have to be ordered if the legislature's tax bill is defeated at the Oct. 15 election, regardless of whether a special session of the legislature is called.

Freeman Holmer, director of finance and administration, told the legislative fiscal committee here today "reductions must be made if the vote on Oct. 15 is negative."

He said because part of the biennium already has passed, cutbacks would have to average about 27 per cent.

He said this means the "food for prisoners and hospital patients will be cut, the number of guards and hospital workers will be cut.

"A cut of this magnitude means dropping back to the barest minimums."

He said welfare cuts would be made because there would be no money, and admitted this would work a severe hardship on welfare recipients.

"There's nothing else we can do," Holmer said.

He warned there would be no change in these cutbacks for as much as five months, even if a special legislative session were called and enacted new taxes, because of the possibility of any new tax bill being referred.

He said because of the attorney general's ruling that basic school support could not be cut by the governor, and because certain other general fund monies cannot be slashed, only about $244.5 million of the state's $404 million general fund budget is subject to cuts.

He said tentative planning indicated these cutbacks would have to be made:

Grants to local schools $1.2 million, community college support $2 million, higher education, $17.6 million from operations, and another $7.4 million from construction.

Matching Fund Loss
Public welfare would be cut $8.5 million, which could trigger a loss of an additional $12 million in federal and county matching funds for a total loss of $20 million.

Mental health institutions and clinics $6.7 million, correctional institutions $2.6 million, natural resources agencies $1.9 million, and other general fund operating appropriations $8 million.

In addition to the $7.4 million cutback in higher education's construction budget, another $2.5 million in other capital construction will have to be postponed.

Holmer said these cuts "cannot be made without extremely grave consequences."

Earlier legislative fiscal officer Ken Bragg said the state might have to revert to issuing warrants if there was not enough money to perform "the basic functions of government."

Grants Pass People Complain to City

GRANTS PASS — A group of about 30 persons present to complain about the city administration was advised by Grants Pass Councilmen Wednesday night to "get some facts" if it expected them to give the complaints serious consideration.

Those present to complain charged that there was discrimination among employees of the city and the police department, but spoke primarily of rumors they had heard.

One speaker said he knew of "20 or more" dissatisfied city employees, but that they could not be identified for fear of losing their jobs.

The councilmen and Mayor Robert C. Martin assured the visitors they would talk with anyone who had a specific complaint.

Kennedy's UN Address

Russians Invited To Share in Joint Expedition To Moon

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — President Kennedy invited Russians to share an expedition to the moon today in a speech before the UN General Assembly. Russian delegates seemed delighted.

The Chief Executive who occupied the rostrum for 28 minutes, challenged the Soviet Union to abandon the cold war for a "contest of achievement." He made a bid for joint ventures in the expensive conquest of space and accepted a Russian proposal to negotiate a ban of nuclear weapons on spacecraft. Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko termed Kennedy's speech "very good" and "conciliatory," and permanent Soviet UN delegate Nikolai T. Fedorenko described it as "excellent." Kennedy mingled with a cluster of smiling Russian delegates after the speech for an amiable exchange of conversation.

General reaction to the Chief Executive's address to the new 18th General Assembly was enthusiastic. Sir Patrick Dean of Britain said it was "moving and inspiring" and Sir Muhammad Zafrullah Khan of Pakistan described it as "a real leadership speech."

A standing-room-only crowd heard Kennedy question the wisdom of making man's first flight to the moon "a matter of national competition" in view of the waiver of claims to territorial rights in outer space made by all members of the United Nations.

Some Americans Pressing for Cuts In Aid To Viet Nam

SAIGON, Viet Nam (UPI)—High-ranking American civilian officials here are pressing for selective cuts in U.S. aid to South Viet Nam despite opposition from U.S. military and intelligence chiefs, diplomatic sources said today.

Washington officials have rejected the idea of massive cuts in the $500 million annual U.S. aid to the government of President Ngo Dinh Diem in its fight against Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

But the sources here said carefully calculated small cuts could help America's image in Viet Nam and other parts of Southeast Asia by showing that the U.S. government is not committed irrevocably to the Diem regime, which has been accused of suppressing democracy and persecuting the nation's Buddhist majority.

One of the ideas said to be under study would be termination of the $3 million which the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency is reported to pay annually to Vietnamese special forces controlled by Diem's brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu.

These are the forces which spearheaded a series of violent raids on Buddhist pagodas Aug. 21, under the command of Col. Le Quang Tung.

Nhu could probably divert funds from some other source for the special forces, the sources said, but U.S. withdrawal of direct support for the organization might have desirable political and psychological effects.

The name was selected by the city parks and recreation commission. The report was made by Commissioner Donald Reverman, who said the commission felt the Bear creek site "should stand distinctly apart from the school parks in Medford."

He said it will be developed to provide for all age groups and was intended to replace Hawthorne park, which was reduced in size by construction of Interstate 5 overpass.

Reverman said many groups, organizations and individuals have expressed a desire to assist and participate in the development of the new park site, but at present the city had "no means of recognizing their contributions."

He said it was for that reason "Memorial park" was chosen. He proposed that all above-ground facilities bear the names of groups or individuals who contributed them.

He said in time he believed the park would come to be known simply as "city park." The council accepted the report, but took no action on it.

Kennedy Appoints Mediation Team On Racial Issues

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy counted today on two personal representatives to help restore racial peace in Birmingham, Ala. He ruled out sending federal troops to the strife-torn city.

The President named the two special mediators Thursday shortly before he met with seven Negro leaders and appealed for "restraint and responsibility" by all citizens of Alabama.

To Meet White Leaders
Kennedy also agreed to meet Monday with five white civic leaders from Birmingham, at the request of Mayor Albert Boutwell, to receive their report on what is being done to restore racial harmony.

Selected by the President to try to bring white and Negro community leaders together in Birmingham were former Army Secretary Kenneth C. Royall and former West Point football coach Earl H. Blaik.

Royall and Blaik received immediate pledges of cooperation from both Boutwell and the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., leader of the Negro delegation who met with Kennedy. The two Presidential appointees will go to Birmingham in a few days.

The Thomas trial now is in progress in Josephine county circuit court, with Judge Orval J. Millard presiding.

Troops Ruled Out
King planned to meet today with Justice Department officials to discuss the Birmingham situation.

Three Teen-Agers Sentenced in Court

Three Medford teen-agers youths were sentenced in municipal court today to terms of work in city parks after they were found guilty of having defective mufflers on their motorcycles.

Four other youths who have been cited for motorbike violations have future appearances scheduled in municipal court. Seven citations were issued by police in a two-day period this week, records show.

One of the boys was meted five hours work in city parks, and two of the youths were sentenced to three and a half hours work.

They said they were given four dollars to buy food. Both carried small suitcases with clothing and some crackers inside.

They told Youth Bureau officers that their stepfather was out of work, and their mother ill with heart disease.

"I didn't like the idea of coming, but mother and our stepfather thought it best," Daniel said. Both were placed in a youth center here pending further development.

Economy Pledges Not Satisfactory To Congressmen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Conservative Southern Democrats were reported today swinging to support of a proposed Republican anti-spending amendment to President Kennedy's $11 billion tax cut bill.

Rep. Omar Burleson (D-Tex.), chairman of an informal association of Southern congressmen, said neither he nor other members of the group were satisfied with Kennedy's economy pledges. Other Southern sources confirmed this report.

Broadcast Planned
The amendment's sponsor, Rep. John W. Byrnes (R-Wis.), prepared to make an "equal time" radio and television broadcast tonight to reply to Kennedy's tax cut appeal and to defend the GOP economy plan.

Byrnes was expected to argue that taxes should not be reduced in the face of continued government deficits unless Congress acts at the same time to block further increases in spending.

Kennedy, in a broadcast to the nation Wednesday, pledged that waste and inefficiency in government would not be tolerated but he urged Congress not to tie to the tax cut "ruinous amendments" that might delay or impede its beneficial effect on the economy.

The tax cut comes up for House action next week. It would trim both corporate and personal taxes, with the first phase of a two-part reduction set to take effect on Jan. 1.

To Suggest Two Steps
Byrnes, top Republican member of the Ways and Means Committee which recommended the bill on a split vote, will ask the House to make the cut contingent on two specific economy steps.

First, Kennedy would have to submit to Congress in January a revised budget for the rest of the current bookkeeping year which ends June 30, projecting total outlays of not more than $97 billion. This is about $1 billion less than the spending now planned.

Second, the President in projecting spending for the fiscal year which starts July 1 would have to propose a budget of not more than $98 billion. This, too, is less than is now considered likely.
