

Democrats Close Out Western Conference With Big Plans

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Democrats from 13 western states made big plans here at their Western States conference last week. All of them were aimed mainly at two things — beating Barry Goldwater and returning incumbents in the West to office.

There were many impassioned speeches about "the cancerous growth of the radical right" and pledges supporting everything President Kennedy does, from cutting taxes to supporting the nuclear test ban treaty.

But the main purpose of the convention, lost perhaps to the general public amidst cries of "Bircher," was to set the stage for the 1964 general elections.

The West will probably be crucial in the 1964 presidential election. The Democrats have lost it, and lost it badly, during the past three presidential elections. Republican Richard M. Nixon won all but three of the western states in 1960. Adlai E. Stevenson failed in 1956 and 1952 to take a single western state in his bids against Republican former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The Democrats at their conference here vowed to do better in 1964, and they are convinced that Arizona Republican Goldwater is the man they are going to have to do it against.

A well coordinated convention and host of Democratic leaders set the pace for the campaign and in effect picked out one of the key issues as far as the West is concerned. It will be the John Birch Society, or in other words what they call "the radical right's control of certain segments of the Republican party."

Every major speaker, from Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California to Senate Majority Whip Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, exhorted the virtues of the Kennedy administration and warned of the impending dangers powered by the "radical right wing."

Humphrey accused Goldwater of "waltzing with the Birchers" and Secretary of Interior Stewart Udall said the potential Republican presidential candidate "lacked the maturity" necessary to lead the United States.

Brown used most of his time to set the stage for Humphrey and Udall to hit at Goldwater by starting the ball rolling with his attack against the "radical right."

Brown called on Democrats to fight Birch Society members for what they are — warmongers, hate mongers and apostles of non-think."

Humphrey, probably more than any other speaker, set the stage for the Democratic campaign when he said, "The John Birch Society threatens me because it is a threat to the two-party system in the United States."

The resolutions committee of the conference followed this up with the campaign issue resolution urging the Republican party to purge itself of the society and disown any political candidate that garners support of the "radical right."

Sen. Wayne Morse (D - Ore.) Sunday night lashed out at U.S. foreign and military policy in South Viet Nam, calling it "a historic disgrace."

The senator said, "there we are, supporting perhaps the most tyrannical, dictatorial and atrocious regime on the face of the earth outside of the Communist world. I don't believe that we cannot do otherwise or South Viet Nam will go Communist."

Would Call Dare

"I'm for calling the dare of Mrs. (Ngo Dinh) Nhu when she said we dare not stop our aid." He cited his support of a statement by 21 senators who withdrew backing of aid to Viet Nam until there was a change in the policy of the Diem government.

Morse spoke at a Bonds for Israel dinner attended by about 250 persons.

He said the most effective weapon against the spread of communism was economic freedom.

"You cannot export a political ideology. You can export economic freedom," Morse commented.

Morse praised the state of Israel as a symbol of the spread of economic freedom in what he called the feudal areas of the Middle East, and also cited the efforts of the Israeli Youth Corps in spreading technical knowledge in Africa.

Businessmen Lauded

He said America was doing the best job of "squaring its actions with its professions in Latin America under the Alliance for Progress." But he warned that the Alliance is a quarter-century undertaking and would not be completed in a mere 10 years. He lauded American businessmen who, he said, were doing a better job than the U. S. government in spreading economic freedom south of the border.

Morse predicted passage of the nuclear test ban treaty in the Senate with a wide majority.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a Texas firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment that is not only stopping hair loss... but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If you believe that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to satisfy everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But how can any man or woman be sure what is actually causing their hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss. Actually, there are at least 18 scalp conditions that can cause hair loss. No matter which one is the cause of your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have hair (or at least some fuzz) on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair... now is the time to do something about it, before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatments will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered promptly, by mail and without obligation.

Danish Ferry Changes Course To Shield Communist Escapees

TRAVEMJENDE, Germany — (UPI)—Martin Helms' carefully planned escape from Communist East Germany appeared doomed Saturday night. The outboard motor on his kayak had failed and an East German patrol boat was closing in fast.

Helms, a 30-year-old sports instructor, had put his 29-year-old wife Bettina and 5-year-old daughter Kirsten in the small boat earlier that night. They had slipped away from East German territory and were in international waters headed for West Germany when the engine stopped.

As the Communist patrol boat approached, Helms knew what would follow. They would be arrested, perhaps shot. At the very least he would get a jail term for "fleeing the republic."

But another crew also was watching Helms kayak as it bobbed helplessly on the waves. The officers of the Danish ferry Gedser, which skirts the Iron Curtain regularly on its Baltic Sea runs, sized up the situation. Orders were shouted from the bridge engine room bells clanged, and the Gedser swung suddenly from its course.

The big ocean-going ferry sliced through the waters between the Kayak and the Communist patrol boat, cutting off the Helms family from their pursuers.

Then, as its 400 passengers cheered from the railings, the Gedser provided protection while a West German freighter sped to the kayak and picked up Helms and his wife and daughter.

The Helms family reached safety in Luebeck, West Germany. The Gedser continued on to Stockholm and nobody minded the fact it was 20 minutes late.
