

Local Officer Elected to Office

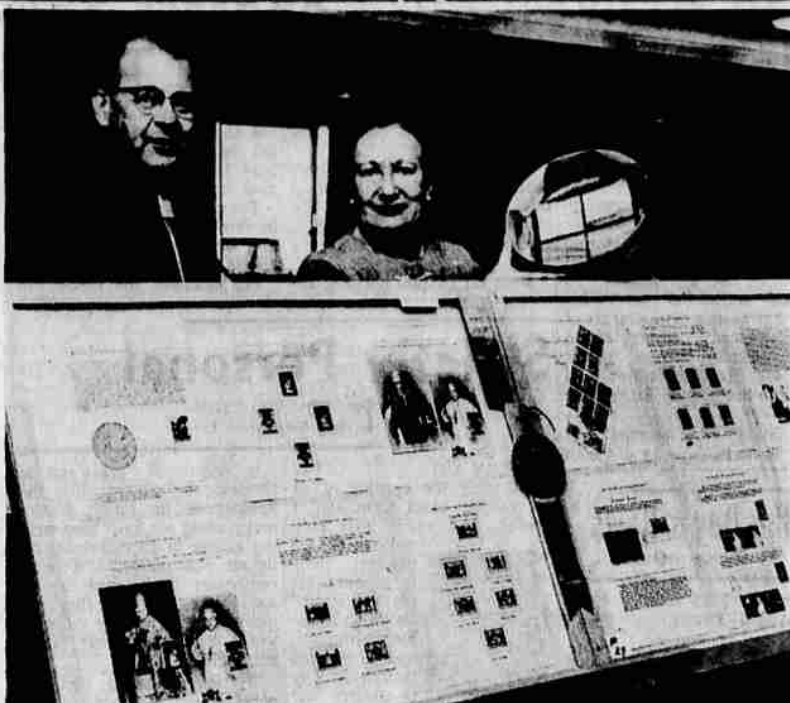

Medford Police Detective Lt. Lyle C. Perkins was elected secretary-treasurer of the Oregon chapter of the FBI National Academy associates at a meeting recently at Camp Withycombe National Guard Camp, Clackamas.

The Oregon chapter has a membership of 32 local law enforcement officers who have graduated from the FBI National Academy.

The meeting started with firearms training. The firearms trophy winner, awarded to the man shooting the highest score in the combat practical pistol course which is fired with a .38 caliber revolver, was Lebanon Chief of Police Karel Hyer.

Astoria Chief of Police Gerald T. Arrington was elected president and Sgt. Dale E. Allen of the Eugene police department was elected vice president.

Also attending the session from southern Oregon was Medford Chief of Police Charles P. Champlin.

STAMP EXHIBIT WINNERS—Mr. and Mrs. Russell L. Herbert, 414 West Jackson st., won the blue ribbon award in the Topical classification and the sweepstakes award which included all categories during the annual exhibit of the Southern Oregon Philatelic society at Girls Community club Saturday and Sunday.

Winners Announced For Stamp Show

A topical collection, entered by Mr. and Mrs. Russell Herbert, entitled "Pope John XXIII and the Ecumenical Council," was judged the best entry in the annual SOPEX exhibition, sponsored by the Southern Oregon Philatelic society, held at the Girls Community club on Sept. 21 and 22.

The entry included stamps and first day covers issued by Vatican City and by Italy commemorating the event, held in the fall of 1962. They received the walnut-wood bowl presented by the club. The exhibit also won the American Topical association award certificate for the best topical exhibit in the show.

Mrs. W. H. Walwyn won the Mrs. First Day Cover award certificate for entry of the Life of Christ on covers. She also won a second place ribbon; no first place was given. Mrs. Walwyn also received a gold pin from the Oregon Tuberculosis and Health association for entry of the complete set of United States Tuberculosis Christmas seals.

William Winterer, Detroit, Mich., won first place in the foreign airmail division, and also the American Airmail Society certificate for the best airmail exhibit in the show. He entered ten frames of Graf Zeppelin covers, showing cancellations from each of the places the dirigible touched in its flights.

The Apfelbaum gold medal, presented for the first time this year to the best exhibit on commonly recognized printed album pages, went to Lt. Col. C. Langley (USA-Ret.), Tacoma, for his entry of the complete issue of Ryukyu Islands. Mrs. Walwyn won the Korean Stamp society merit award for her Korean covers.

Mrs. Mildred Schuhard won a blue ribbon for her entry of United States Matched Plate blocks, under 20th century U.S. Second place in this class went to Mrs. M. W. Shortridge with United States Flag stamps; third place was won by Mrs. Eric de Place with her entry entitled "History of Atlantic States."

Mrs. Shortridge won a white ribbon for her entry in first day covers, showing the first day and last day covers of the Seattle's World Fair. In the specialized United States collections, first place went to Clyde E. Smith for his entry of covers showing machine post office cancellations; Mrs. de Place won a red ribbon for her collection of metered mail; and Frank L. Applegate received a white ribbon for his collection of hunting and fishing stamps.

Colonel Langley won second place in the foreign airmail category with his entry of stamps and covers from Trieste; Malcolm L. Melville won a white ribbon for his frame of Graf Zeppelin covers and blocks of mint Zeppelin stamps issued by the United States.

Foreign Grouping Mrs. Schuhard received a red ribbon for her entry of Tristan Da Cunha, in the foreign grouping, under British Empire; under the European classification, Thomas M. Riley, Eagle Point, won first place with his 19th century Belgian covers.

Miss Cora Maxfield received a red ribbon and a one year subscription to Mekeel's Weekly Stamp news for her entry of medicinal herbs on stamps. A third place winner in telling a story with stamps was William L. White with an entry entitled "Jackson County Activities as Shown on Stamps of the World."

The first page in White's entry showed logging as depicted on the stamps of French West Africa and Cameroon, the timber industry with stamps of the Republic of China, including reforestation, and protection of the forests. The second page showed a stamp of the British Antarctic Territory honoring the cross continent trek, and depicting the Tucker Sno-cat which is built in Medford. The third page brought out the type of livestock raised in Jackson county with stamps from Hungary, showing four stamps, one showing a cow and calf, a mare and foal, a ram and ewe, and a sow and her young. One page mentions the Fruit-of-the-Month club of Bear Creek orchards and shows stamps of Bulgaria depicting pears, peaches and apples. For the flower gardens of Jackson county he entered a stamp of Bulgaria showing a rose, one from Romania showing daffodils and a stamp from Hungary showing tulips. One page listed the activities open for the sports enthusiasts of the county using the stamps of Canada showing fishing, swimming, hunting and skiing. For the youth activities he mounted the stamps of the United States that honor the 4-H clubs, Future Farmers of America, and Camp Fire Girl. Those interested in the service clubs could see the stamp of the United States honoring the Rotary clubs and the issue of the Republic of China honoring the Lions clubs.

Lodge Stamps Another exhibit of interest to those interested in lodges was entered by Mrs. Edith M. Gifford "Masonry on United States Stamps," for which she received a red ribbon and a one year subscription to Mekeel's.

Activities Get Under Way at UO

EUGENE — Students began to arrive at the University of Oregon campus Friday in anticipation of new student registration week which begins Sept. 24.

The university anticipates the largest enrollment in its history for the 1963 fall term, with at least 9,910 expected to enroll for classes before the registration period closes.

Higher academic and tuition standards, especially for out-of-state students, were expected to keep the enrollment slightly under the budgeted estimate of 10,076. The highest previous enrollment was 9,621, set in the 1962 fall term.

Dormitories will open Tuesday, and registration material will begin to be issued at noon that day.

New student week will continue through Sunday, Sept. 29, and classes will begin Monday, Sept. 30.

Students will begin to have individual meetings with their faculty advisers Wednesday morning. A president's convocation and introduction of deans is scheduled that day at 7:30 p.m. in McArthur court.

Special placement tests will be given throughout the week. A new dormitory, the second half of Bean hall, will be ready for student occupancy when the fall term begins. It will house 360 students.

Also in use for the new term will be the university's new humanities building, Prince Lucien Campbell hall, which houses the English department and other faculty offices and departments.

Home Use of Books Increase Reported

Home use of books from the public library of Medford and Jackson county showed a 9.01 per cent gain for August over the same month in 1962, in the monthly report released by Omar A. Bacon, head librarian.

Home use of books in the branches of the library in various sections of the county showed a 5.48 per cent gain.

There were 20,901 registered borrowers on Aug. 31, a slight decrease from the preceding month of July when there were 20,945 registered borrowers.

There were 298 gift books added to the library during the months of July and August. Volumes repaired totaled 293 and requests for books from the branches numbered 808 during the same two months.

There were 327 books catalogued for other libraries and 1,191 notices sent out for overdue books.

The public meeting room in the library was used by 36 organizations during the months of July and August.

THEIR FIRST LOVE

TRIESTE, Italy (UPI) — Two young cave-fanciers were married near here Sunday 44 feet underground. The bride, Laura Gregoris, 21, wore a white speleologist's outfit, gumboots and a helmet for her wedding in a cave called "Grotto Gigante." So did the groom, Rinaldo Gauring. They were married by the chaplain of their speleological group.
