

School and Play Shoes Steal the Season Spotlight

Little girls' school and play shoes steal the spotlight away from party shoes this season. Casual but elegant "everyday" footwear features leather boots, almost boots, kilties and spectators, in clean, simple designs.

Bell-ringers for the grade school boy are such sturdy styles as four- and five-eyelet brogues in smooth and fine-grained leathers, brushed leather chukkas, waxed leather moccasins and one-loop ghillie ties.

Representative of the look for little girls is the almost boot. It usually appears as a slip-on or tie, with a high-rising silhouette just below the ankle, in brushed, grained or polished smooth leather. Fashion touches include contrasting stitching, pixie peaks, side gores and collars.

Ankle and calf-length boots, for both in and out of doors, are generally sleeker and closer to the leg this fall, and textures range from gleaming patent to suede.

Moccasins and T-strap sandals for girls have been dressed up with waxy and grained leathers in countryside colors. The moc retains its classic look with hand-sewn stitching; the T-strap shows new perforation treatments, a lower silhouette and wider range of colors.

For the social season skimmers with or without straps appear in black or gaily colored smooth and patent leather, lustre leather and suede. Detailing is kept to a minimum centering mostly on high-riding or square throat shapes, restrained use of overlay or underlay motifs on vamp and sides and occasional combinations of texture or colors.

For dress wear, boys' slippers in smooth or grained leather are highlighted by side gores or monk-strap detailing.

AT THE NECKLINE
Neckline note for the sportive look is provided by ties, in ascot and other versions.

LONG SKIRT — Elegant at home is magenta print long skirt, and velvet weskit with matching collar and bow.

Classic Glove Is Given '63 Look

On hand for off-hand, sportive fashions are classic, casual gloves.

Cuffs, gauntlets, flares show up in longer-than short gloves, while the pigskin shortie takes a top position.

Seaming, saddle stitching, cuff links, side button trims and real buttons-ups, diagonal treatments and snakeskin touches give the classic glove a fall '63 look.

Both knit and leather contribute to the casual air, often in combination—the wool knit glove with leather palms. Cotton and miracle fabrics win new fashion favor, in smartly tailored versions.

Important feature of many fall gloves is the lining—silk or silk-look in the dressier styles, warm lamb-look and other furry favorites for comfort in cold weather. Some gloves are designed to provide a peek-a-boo view of their linings.

SPORTIVE FASHION— Simple sweatshirt becomes sportive fashion for teens, when it's braided trimmed and appliqued with a sly fox in felt and wool.

Reds To Show Up In Fashions for Men This Year

For wear during their leisure hours, men will "see red" for fall and winter. Shirts, outerwear, ski wear, sweaters, accessories and even red blazers will be featured.

The reds will show up in many interpretations and will include Tartan, Brigade, Firebrand, Ember and Oxblood. Tartan is a bright firemen's red; Brigade, a rich cherry shade; Firebrand, a deep cranberry hue; Ember falls into the solid beet shades; and Oxblood—the deepest of the reds—has a deep blackish-wine tone.

In outerwear, "ski" will still pack a wallop... expect the classic hooded parka to appear in a new longer, belted style with less heavy quilting and trimmer, racier lines. Quilted will reverse to printed nylon. Leather will be in for a major revival, and this will mean suedes as well as the classic finishes.

SHAPED FRONT — Raglan-sleeved double-breasted coat with shaped front panel is in lightweight English tweed.

Straighter Slips Are Noted in Fashions

A-shapes, shifts and lifted waistlines in little girls' fashions have their counterparts in softer, straighter slips for perfect underlining.

Detailing is pretty and demure—lace edging, scalloped hems and, on the bodices of raised-waistline slips, lace insets, tucks, satin ribbons.

DETAILS DOMINATE

Mediterranean influence on fall furniture is expressed in a wealth of architectural detail. Lattice or fretwork effects, graceful columns and arches, framed panels and moldings emphasize the classic, architectural feeling at home.

Moccasins and T-strap sandals for girls have been dressed up with waxy and grained leathers in countryside colors. The moc retains its classic look with hand-sewn stitching; the T-strap shows new perforation treatments, a lower silhouette and wider range of colors.

Zebra, Leopard Are Seen in Footwear

Imitations of the animal world are afoot for at-home lounging this fall. Fur fakery finds zebra and leopard spotlighted.

Not fake, but real, is shearing, appearing in solids or crazy-quilt combinations of vivid colors for at-home boots. New in the at-home picture is the high fabric boot.

Slippers on the sophisticated side of fashion are interpreted in furs, velvets, gold, and often studded with "jewels," to wear with elegant at-home costumes.

Daughter Inherits Approving Fashion From Her Mother

Daughter inherits an approving fashion nod from Mother this season, while she also inherits many of the "grown-up" styles. But she's not a replica of Mom, quite to the contrary, grade-school fashions have a vivid originality all their own.

The casual look and simple shape prevail, featuring shifts and skimmies with new-look long sleeves and lifted waistline effects. Flat front pleats spreading from neckline to hem and suspender looks are everywhere, with the spotlight catching the A-line.

Traditionalists, not to be left out, will find numerous little girl classics with pleated or demure bouffant skirts in styles that stress the little round collar and are interpreted for fall with lifted or, in some cases, lowered waistlines.

Take Sporty Spotlight
In sporty-sportswear jumpers lead all the way, usually unwaisted. The jumper look echoed in dresses is all part of a larger "layered look" that extends from dresses to separates. Vests, jackets, blouses, sweaters appear in layers, with jumpers and skirts, or the look is simulated in dresses.

Other combinations for the grade schooler include dresses with removable tunics and dresses where the top is a removable smock.

Fashion also puts the little gal in country, tomboy and "Oliver" looks, the latter featuring long-sleeved cuffed shirts and little vests.

Knits and corduroy—especially the wide wale versions—are among the favored fabrics. Plaids and prints appear in early fall cottons and a variety of blends. Velvetens and cotton suedes come out for a party time.

Cranberry Color
The shade in color is cranberry—a rich blue-red—but there's plenty of choice here, too. Olive-gold, muted greens, teal to midnight blues, mid-brown and plenty of gray browns from the men's wear fabrics get attention.

Newest coats for little girls go elegant, with raised waistlines, cape tops, and sometimes smock backs. Big pockets are important, as are scarf necklines. Casual boy-tailored types continue strong as basic coats. Coating woollens vary from crisp to boldly textured.

Still a favorite is the fur look pile, either as a coat or coat lining. All-weather coats borrow colorful hues and colorful styling from the skiwear department.

VEERING TO VESTS
Medley of many parts, fashionable for fall, finds the vest and its near relative, the jerkin, in top position. Among the favored versions are vests in suede, velvet and menswear-textured wools.
