

Foreign Students, U. S. Counterparts Attend Luncheon

American Field Service students, attending high schools in the southern Oregon area, met at the home of Mrs. H. D. Christensen, area representative of the program, recently.

While they were meeting at the Christensen home their American brothers and sisters met with Mrs. R. E. Mencke, Mrs. Christensen's assistant.

The whole group then gathered for luncheon at the Christensen home and was joined by the two students from this area who spent the summer abroad.

Present were Ashland High school AFS student, Christina Hoberg from Hamburg, Germany, who lives with Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Cecil and daughters, Marcy and Karen; Judith Guttridge of Kent, England, who is attending Crater High school and living with Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Tomlinson and their daughter, Virginia; Tsutomu Sasaki of Tokyo, Japan, who is attending Grants Pass High school and living with Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Forsgren, whose son, Larry, is in high school; Maria Castro from San Juan, Costa Rica, who is living with Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Hibbs and their daughter, Jill, in Medford; and Bart deBeer of Voorburg, Netherlands, who is making his home with the Otto Frohmayers and son, Phillip.

The two valley students, who reported on their summers abroad under the American Field Service program, were James Rowan, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Rowan, who spent the summer in Grottingen, Germany; and Karen Krebs of Grants Pass, who also spent the summer in Germany. She was at home in Stuttgart.

Robert O'Hara is chapter president for the Ashland participation in the program. Charles Bateman heads the Central Point chapter, Pete Loughridge the Grants Pass chapter, and Mrs. Robert Sleeter the Medford program.

Bodies Sought in Refinery Debris

MOSES LAKE, Wash. (UPI)—Workers continued to look for bodies today in the rubble of an explosion-torn plant here which the owners, the U & I Sugar Refining Co., hope to have back in operation within two weeks.

Five men were killed and two were missing and presumed dead in the wreckage left by Wednesday's explosion.

Four bodies have been recovered and a fifth has been spotted by workers who have been unable to remove enough debris to enable them to bring it out.

Unique Oregon Law May Determine GOP Standard Bearer

SALEM (UPI)—Oregon gave President Kennedy and former Vice President Richard Nixon key primary victories in their race to win the presidential nominations in 1960. Under its unique election law, Oregon may determine who will be picked as the Republican standard bearer next year.

It appears Kennedy will automatically get the Democratic nomination. The Republicans have a wide open race.

Oregon law requires the secretary of state to place on the ballot the names of all he feels are "generally advocated or recognized in national news media throughout the United States."

Secretary of state Howell Appling Jr. is scanning eight major newspapers and five national news magazines to determine who is being "generally advocated."

First Used in 1960
The unusual Oregon law — first used in the 1960 primary — was drafted to rule out favorites, publicity seekers and self-starters.

In 1960 Appling listed Nixon and New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller on the Republican ballot. Rockefeller withdrew.

On the Democratic side, Appling listed Kennedy, then Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, Sen. Hubert Humphrey, Sen. Stewart Symington, the late Sen. Estes Kefauver and Adlai Stevenson. Sen. Wayne Morse got on the ballot by petition. Stevenson and Kefauver withdrew.

Even before the new law went into effect Oregon had an impressive record of selecting the men who would go on to win the nominations.

Oregon has missed only once in the past 20 years. In 1952 the state's Democrats elected Kefauver, who bowed to Stevenson at the national convention.

Oregon Gov. Mark Hatfield, often mentioned as a vice presidential possibility, and sometimes as a presidential dark horse, is expected to play a neutral role in the months ahead.

Oregon elects its presidential delegates, and delegates are pledged to support the primary victor.

By using the Oregon law as an excuse for neutrality, Hatfield can avoid throwing his support to the wrong man.

Rockefeller, Goldwater and Hatfield are scheduled to speak at the Western Republican Conference in Eugene Oct. 11-12.

The conference will take place two weeks after a visit to Oregon by President Kennedy.

OFF TO WASHINGTON

PARIS (UPI)—French Finance Minister Valery Giscard d'Estaing planned to leave for Washington today to head a three-man delegation to the forthcoming International Monetary Fund meeting.

ANSWERS CHARGES

Actor-author Sterling Hayden strode into court in San Rafael, Calif., almost incognito behind a heavy beard and deep tan to answer old tax charges on his former boat, the Wanderer. It is contended Hayden owes $721.60 in 1957 taxes on the $35,000 schooner which he has since sold. About the beard, Hayden says "I've been hiding behind it for almost a year and it's been a pleasure to be anonymous." (UPI)

Parents Hope for Return of Boys Sent To Omaha

SALEM (UPI)—The parents of Danny and Ronald Presnell, two Salem boys they sent to Boys Town, Neb., told Marion County Circuit Judge George R. Duncan Thursday they wanted to make a home for the boys here.

Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Hackworth, the mother and stepfather of the two boys, said they had not intended to abandon them. They said they were driven by financial and emotional worries to send the youngsters by bus to Omaha in hopes they could be better cared for there.

Judge Duncan ordered the boys placed under temporary jurisdiction of the Marion county juvenile department. Juvenile director Richard McDevitt said he would seek the boys' return to Salem.

Regrouping Hoped
The parents said they wanted the juvenile department to take charge of the boys, aged 12 and 10, and said they hoped they could work to regroup the family.

The Hackworths, who went to Charleston, near Coos Bay, after the youths were sent to Omaha last week, returned to Salem Thursday. Hackworth said he was still trying to find a job.

Judge Duncan said it was up to Omaha juvenile authorities whether the boys will be returned here. A hearing is scheduled in juvenile court in Omaha Oct. 9.

If the boys are returned to Marion county, McDevitt said his department might ask a private or public welfare agency to help the family to get back on its feet and build a home for the boys.

Biologists Complete Aerator Field Test

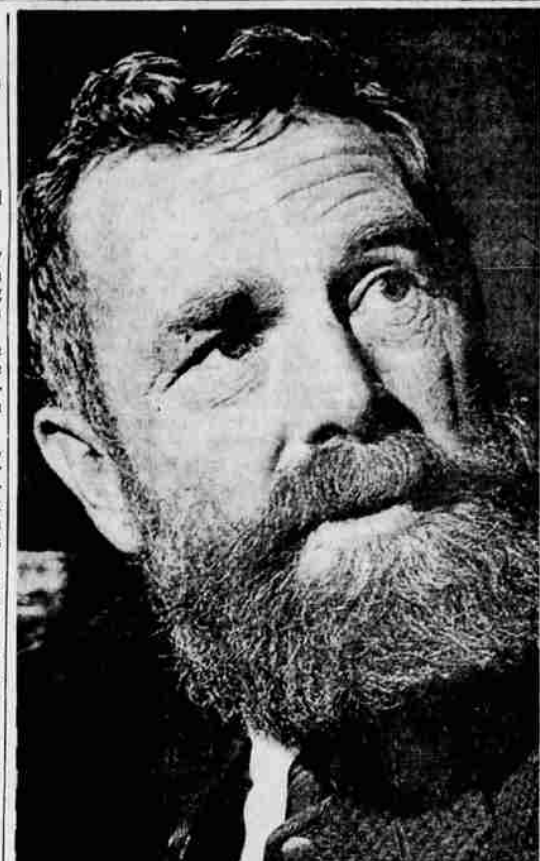

HORN BROOK — Biologists of Pacific Power and Light company's research department and the California fish and game department have completed field testing an experimental aerator for fish water at the Iron Gate hydroelectric dam.

Reporting on progress of the joint program started last month, Dr. Roy Hamilton, chief biologist for Pacific Power, said the experimental work had resulted in establishing some performance criteria that will be used in designing the aerator needed at Iron Gate at certain seasons of the year.

The Pacific Power biologist reported the studies of the fish water, which flows from the reservoir into the fish ladder and fish-holding tanks, indicated the quality of the water could be improved by additional oxygen during certain months.

Water for the tests was drawn from the reservoir at outlets built into the dam specifically for fish water purposes.

NEW PAPER DUE
CONSTANTINE, Algeria (UPI)—A new French-language daily newspaper was scheduled to appear today, printed on the presses of the former Depeche de Constantine, seized from its European owners last week. The new daily, called an Nasr (victory), is published by President Ahmed Ben Bella's National Liberation Front.

Early College Enrollments Dip

EUGENE (UPI)—Advance registration for freshmen and new students at Oregon's higher education institutions was 738 below advance registration for a comparable period last year, it was learned today.

Higher education registration officials said enrollment figures could change drastically in the next few days, however.

Registration of returning students began this week.

Officials said "meaningful" college enrollment figures probably would not be available until some time next week.

The preliminary figures showed only Oregon Technical Institute and Southern Oregon College had increased advance registration of freshmen and new students.

OTI was up to 641 from last year's 540, and SOC jumped to 1,174 from last year's 992.

The University of Oregon was down to 4,679 from last year's 4,870, Portland State had 2,053 this year compared to 2,615.

Oregon College of Education had 654 compared to 711, Eastern Oregon College was down to 504 from last year's 569, and Oregon State University had 4,411 compared to last year's 4,357.

'Watchdog' Space Vehicles Planned

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—The United States will attempt to send the first two of a series of "watchdog" satellites into space next month to guard against violations of the new nuclear test ban treaty.

A 10-stock Atlas-Agena rocket is poised on launching pad No. 12 at Cape Canaveral for an attempt to shoot the two 465-pound satellites into orbits 60,000 miles up in a single push.

The satellites represent a first step in a Defense Department project called "Vela Hotel," a program aimed to provide insurance against violations of the nuclear test ban by the simple expedient of putting sensitive electronic "eyes" in space to keep tabs.

Portland, Local Non-Stop Flight Started by Airline

West Coast Airlines has shortened air travel time between Portland and southern Oregon with the inauguration of an exclusive non-stop flight to Medford leaving Portland daily at 8:35 a.m.

The 70-minute F27 flight is the only direct connection between the two cities and it is nearly one hour faster than any commercial airline schedule.

The speed-up also will affect flights to Sacramento via Klamath Falls.

The Portland-Medford schedule will comprise five flights, two southbound and three northbound. The evening Medford-Portland flight has been reduced in time by the elimination of one stop.

These and other schedule adjustments by West Coast Airlines, which have been made possible by the utilization of more jet-prop units and by route compression, will greatly improve air service between major Oregon and California points, according to J. Nicholas Bez Jr., vice president and assistant to the president of WCA.

The faster scheduling has been matched by efforts to provide significant savings in fares and other passenger service features. As an example, our Portland-Medford round-trip fare is the lowest in effect on any airline connecting the two points.

On an overall basis, the service we now are providing Oregon is the best since the beginning of our operations there, and it is anticipated that these improvements will continue as additional equipment is acquired.

Corvallis Man Doctor Citizen

PORTLAND (UPI)—The Oregon State Medical Society honored Dr. Craig Billings Leman of Corvallis as its annual Doctor Citizen of the Year Thursday.

The award was presented by Society President Dr. Melvin W. Breese, Portland, at a dinner meeting of the 89th annual session.

The Oregon Academy of General Practice, which is holding its 16th annual meeting in conjunction with medical society meeting, named Dr. Archie O. Pitman Sr., of Hillsboro as its Outstanding Family Physician of the Year.

Dr. Pitman has been practicing in Hillsboro since 1930.

The society also gave awards to James Long and Mrs. Marge Davenport, Oregon Journal staff writers, for their medical writing in the past year.

John Salisbury, news director of radio station KXL, received the editorial award plaque for his programs dealing with free enterprise and good business.

The session was to close late this afternoon.

A RACEY STORY

NEW GLOUCESTER, Maine (UPI)—Ten race horses escaped from a New Gloucester fairgrounds compound Thursday and cavorted along the Maine Turnpike before being recaptured. State police learned of the situation when a motorist stopped at the toll gate and asked the collector: "Is this the win, place or show window?"

JOHN STRALEY tells about the young Wall Street clerk who was summarily discharged, allegedly having stolen $500 in postage stamps. A crusading lawyer, convinced of the young man's innocence, volunteered to take his case and boasted, "We'll sue that former boss of yours for false arrest, mental cruelty, defamation of character, and several other things I'll think of later. My fee will be $500."

In Buffalo, a young lady spotted this ad in the Help Wanted section: "I need a Girl Friday. Starting salary: $300 a month." One applicant arrived at 6:00 a.m. and waited with ill-concealed impatience for the office to open. "You've just got to give me the job," she told the employment clerk. "Who ever heard of getting $300 a month for working only one day a week?"

A snake charmer was introduced to a lady undertaker, and after a whirlwind courtship, persuaded her to marry him. One of their most cherished wedding gifts was a set of towels, marked—how else?—"His" and "Hers."
