

DANCE AT WAYNE KING
ARMORY
SACRED HEART Hospital Fund
Wednesday October 9
9:00 to 1:00
Admits $2.50 Students $1.25

Mrs. Robert A. Miksche (at left) and Mrs. Dwight C. Speer are among the many members of Providence guild working on a coming event which will raise funds for the building fund of Sacred Heart hospital. The guild is making plans to bring Wayne King and his orchestra here October 9, and the committee made posters to call attention to the dance.

When Evelyn Watson told her husband, Richard, that pictures were to be taken at a family christening because six grandmothers and great-grandmothers could be present, he mentally counted. After a few moments Mr. W. protested that his wife said no, there were six. Again Mr. Watson thought and finally declared there just couldn't be more than five, and where did she get six?

So, Mrs. Watson counted aloud for her husband and guess who it was that Mr. W. forgot? His wife.

The christening, held at St. Mark's Episcopal church for Nancy Toynette Frink, daughter of the James Frinks, took place smoothly. Pretty little Toynette was calm, even when the Rev. George Bolster put water on her black hair, and dropped a brief kiss on her forehead at the conclusion of the ceremony.

Since it is most difficult to take group pictures, Kenn Knackstedt worked extra hard at his task and then the reporter didn't give him a credit line. Frankly, we were so worried that somehow all those grandmothers would come out mixed up that the photographer was forgotten.

Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority members in Grants Pass, Medford, Ashland and Eagle Point sold more than a thousand dollars worth of candy mints in a few days recently, and contributed the money to the Children's Hospital school in Eugene. Pondering over this feat, we wondered why it is that most of us hand out money for candy, cigarettes, liquor, golf, bridge, fishing, boating, and a thousand other things or are eager to buy chances on a lottery or bet on the races, but scream to buy heaven over taxes which support our schools, the aged and indigent and provide services which are essential. O.S.

Cherry Sherry Ice Cream Is Festive

Cherry sherry ice cream bombe is a festive dessert that looks hard to make but isn't. Pack one pint of softened vanilla ice cream firmly into a two-quart melon rind. Arrange 12 halved, drained maraschino cherries around sides of mold. Blend together one-fourth cup each of maraschino cherry juice and sherry.

Kane Book Reviewed For Club

ASHLAND — The little known story of the American girl who married a Bonaparte and spent the greater part of her 94 years fighting for recognition of that marriage is the basis for Harriet Kane's recent biography, "The Amazing Mrs. Bonaparte." The book was reviewed Monday afternoon by Mrs. Walter Redford when Ashland Study club members met at the home of Mrs. R. Drew Lamb.

What's in a sandwich? A famous designer called the sandwich the "perfectly designed container." A sandwich may take an infinite variety of flavors, shapes and forms.

Members of the congregation of Eastwood Baptist church and other friends of the couple honored the Rev. and Mrs. Clifford J. Young at a reception September 22 which celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary. The Rev. M. R. Young is pastor of the church.

Clifford Youngs Honored On Wedding Anniversary

The Rev. and Mrs. Clifford J. Young were honored at a reception September 22 following the morning worship service at Eastwood Baptist church. The event was in observance of their 25th wedding anniversary.

Pink and fuchsia colored chrysanthemums decorated the social hall for the event.

Mrs. E. Ronald Rice and Mrs. Charles Hilliker cut and served the anniversary cake and Miss Sharen Young, a daughter of the honored couple, presided at the punch bowl. Mrs. Paul Walker poured coffee. Miss Marilyn Young, another guest book, was in charge of the dinner.

The three other Young children were unable to attend. They are Darryl Young, San Diego; Miss Janet Young, Los Angeles; and Stuart Young, a student at Linfield college. The children presented their Food misinformation is the subject of an extension program developed by Virginia Weiser, nutritionist with the OSU Extension Service. This will be presented to women's groups in a number of Oregon counties. We asked her for the true facts about some common food myths.

Tomatoes ripen best and reach their peak nutritive value when kept at room temperature out of direct sunlight. This is contrary to the old idea of putting them on a sunny window sill.

Some people think vegetables grown with "organic" (natural) fertilizer are more nutritious than those grown with "chemical" fertilizer. Miss Weiser says this has no scientific support. Rich soil produces a larger quantity of vegetables but doesn't affect the nutritive value of the food.

The idea that cooking in aluminum is unhealthy is another fallacy.

Why do some clothes get harsh and wrinkled when laundered? There are several reasons besides the possible nature of the fabric. Inadequate rinsing is one. Hard water is another. Try using a water softener in both the wash and rinse waters. A fabric softener (this is different than a water softener) in the last rinse will help too. Over-drying in a dryer may also cause harshness and wrinkling of some fabrics.

Do the fishermen in your family come home with fish slime on their clothing? Mix a little vinegar with luke warm water and sponge this over the stain on the backside of the material. Then sprinkle with powdered pepsin you can get at a drug store.

Keep this "poilice" moist and lay the garment in a warm place because pepsin works best this way.

Let it stand 15 minutes, or several hours if necessary, depending on how long the slime has dried into the material. Rinse with warm water and launder in hot suds.

Party Is Given In Eagle Point — EAGLE POINT — A shower honoring Mrs. Robert Moore was held September 24 at the home of Mrs. Eldon Nave, Eighth and E streets. Hostesses were Mrs. Nave, Mrs. Harlin Stinson, Mrs. Oran Christalin, and Mrs. Fred Hay. About twenty three guests attended, including Mrs. Lester Russell, mother of Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Wesley Brown, Mrs. Neale Schrimpt, and Mrs. E. B. Webb, all of Grants Pass.

A rubber washer between the handle and the bolt on the inside of a dresser drawer will keep the handle from wobbling.

Family Units Will Remain, College President States

By GAY PAULEY
UPI WORKS Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)—The current century puts tremendous pressure on the family as a unit, but despite its changing face, the family will survive, says one authority.

Family life is buffeted by urbanization, by interracial tensions, by unemployment in some parts of the nation, by more leisure time generally as automation increases, by preemption of the family role by organizations, and by the changing duties of the housewife.

Yet, says Dr. James P. Dixon, president of Antioch college, Yellow Springs, Ohio, "It is the considered view of most anthropologists that the family is the most ancient of human social institutions and that in some form or another, it will survive."

Dixon examines the impact on families of our changing society in the current issue of the Journal of Home Economics, publication of the American Home Economics association.

Control Shifts
The changes in our culture mean a shift in control, he says. "Decreasingly, then, is the family unit that is physically and intellectually sustain itself," he said. "Decreasingly is the family able to determine the individual destinies of its mem-
