Token Opposition To Rights Bill Seen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate leaders expected only token opposition today when the bill to extend the Civil Rights Commission for one year is brought up for action.

Several southern senators were ready to attack the extension, but major delaying moves such as a filibuster were considered unlikely against the measure which is the first civil rights proposal to reach the Senate floor this year.

The measure will be attached as a "rider" to a House-approved private relief bill that would pay $816.83 to Mrs. Elizabeth G. Mason, a World War II widow in Houlton, Maine.
