FIRST SERIES PITCH—The Yankees' Whitey Ford delivers the first pitch of the World Series to Los Angeles Dodgers' Maury Wills at Yankee Stadium.

Sandy Koufax Sets New Mark For Strikeouts

Four-Run Inning Brings 5-2 Victory

NEW YORK (UPI)—Southpaw Sandy Koufax broke the World Series strikeout record today when he fanned 15 New York Yankees batters in a superb six-hit pitching performance that enabled the Los Angeles Dodgers to win the opening game of the classic, 5-2.

John Hotch's three-run homer and a pair of "pin-producing" singles by Moose Skowron drove in all the Los Angeles runs of Yankee lefthander Whitey Ford before a crowd of exactly 60,000 fans in sun-soaked Yankee Stadium.

Koufax' fast ball set the record at 11.4 mph by Carl Erskine of the Los Angeles Dodgers exactly 10 years ago to this day in the 1953 World Series against the Yankees.

By striking out the first five batters he faced, the 25-year-old Koufax also tied a record set by Nolt Cooper of the St. Louis Cardinals in 1943, also against the Yankees. The Dodgers fireballer pitched 4 2/3 perfect innings before Elston Howard singled with two out in the fifth for the Yankees' first hit.

Tom Tresh drove in both New York runs with a homer into the left field stands in the eighth inning. The homer also drove in Tony Kubek, who had beaten out an infield hit.

Three other records were set in this series opener.

Ford, by going down to the sixth defeat of his illustrious World Series career, tied a losing record held by Christy Mathewson, Eddie Plank, Leslie Bush and Schoolboy Rowe. Ford, who retired for a pinch-hitter after five innings, was seeking to extend his record of 10 World Series pitching triumphs.

The total of 25 batters struck out for both teams also was a mark. In addition to Koufax' 15, Ford struck out 4, Stan Williams 5 and Steve Hamilton one.

And Roseboro set a series catching record of 18 putouts. The Dodgers unloaded on Ford with four runs in the second inning. Frank Howard opened the frame with a long double off the centerfield fence and Skowron promptly singled him home with one out.

Dick Tracowski, playing in place of injured Ken McMullen, singled Skowron to second base, and then Roseboro hit Ford's second pitch into the short right field stands, just inside the foul pole, to give the Dodgers a 4-0 lead.

Skowron singled home the Dodgers' fifth run after a single by Jim Gilliam, a forceout and Tommy Davis' single in the third inning.

Koufax did not allow a batter to reach first base during the first four innings, permitting only one Yankee to hit a fair ball off him during that stretch.

Then, after Mickey Mantle went down swinging as Koufax' 10th strikeout victim and Roger Maris fouled out, the 27-year-old Dodger lefthander yielded his first hit. That was a line single to right field by Elston Howard.

Joe Pepitone followed with a single to right field, sending E. Howard to second base, and Cleo Boyer singled off the glove of Dodger second baseman Dick Tracowski, leading the bases. Tracowski made a good stop of the ball and cut off a possible Yankee run by preventing the hit from going into center field.

Hector Lopez then was sent up to pinch hit for Ford and struck out, ending the Yankees' threat.

Stan Williams, who was sent to the Yankees last winter in the trade with the Dodgers for Skowron, took over the New York pitching in the sixth. Williams retired the first three batters he faced.

Pearson Resents Higher Education Tuition Boosts

Fewer 'Leading' Teachers Suggested

PORTLAND (UPI)—State Sen. Walter Pearson (D-Portland) said Tuesday he resents the "threat" by the State Board of Higher Education to raise entrance requirements and tuition if the Legislature's tax program goes down to defeat Oct. 15.

Pearson and State Sen. Thomas Mahoney (D-Portland) are scheduled to make a television appearance in opposition to the tax program Sunday.

If a special legislative session is called, Pearson said he would introduce a bill forbidding the board to increase tuition of scholastic standards for Oregon residents.

"Public-supported higher education was never meant to be only for the best students," he said.

"Most of our prominent citizens have been in the average student class, people who want their children to go to practically a graduate school should send them to some private school, such as Stanford, Yale or Harvard."

Pearson also suggested the state could get along with less "leading" teachers.

"I think we can tailor our teachers from the average teacher group, rather than those who spend their time writing books which the students are required to buy the next year," he commented.

Pearson, vice chairman of the Senate Taxation Committee in the 1963 legislature, said proponents of the tax program are guilty of misrepresentation in stating that its defeat would automatically mean an increase in property taxes.

He said nearly every school district in the state is over its 6 percent tax limitation and any increase in property taxes would have to be approved by the voters.

County Resident Seeks Judgment

PORTLAND (UPI)—Boyd Scheffner, a Jackson County resident, has filed a complaint in U.S. District Court seeking a $48,000 judgment from Olin Malheur Chemical Corporation.

In the complaint, filed Tuesday, Scheffner contends that he was using an explosive-operated stud gun which was manufactured by the chemical firm. The accident allegedly occurred while he was working for Harry & David, Inc., of Medford.

The complaint asked for a jury trial.

An explosive-operated stud gun is used in driving pins or nails into concrete. It is a gun fired by a cartridge, according to Scheffner.

Scheffner has not been employed at Harry & David, Inc., for several months.

Beaverton Man Files for Legislature

BEAVERTON (UPI)—Elwin Pearson of Beaverton has become the second Republican to file a petition for the vacant legislative seat held by new Multnomah County Circuit Judge Robert E. Jones.

He said the board should make Mrs. Peterson be specific as to charges, then make an investigation.

"By conducting this audit you would be responding to a shotgun blast written by an emotionally upset woman. I assume the board has questioned each disbursement as it was made, anyway. You would be opening yourselves to the 'App Todd' approach. It would be opening the door to litigation as now faced by Eagle Point Irrigation district," the lawyer emphasized.

Cambridge, Md., Voters Turn Down Desegregation

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (UPI)—Negro leaders called on Gov. J. Millard Tawes today to ignore voter rejection of an anti-segregation amendment and issue an executive order banning segregation in all places of public accommodation.

The proposed city charter amendment, designed to end six months of racial strife in this Chesapeake Bay community, was rejected by a scant 274-vote margin Tuesday — 1,994 to 1,720.

The proposed amendment would have guaranteed equal service to all, regardless of race, in places of public accommodation.

The amendment was part of an agreement negotiated in Washington July 23 by Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and was aimed at putting a halt to violence which blossomed in this fishing community of 12,000.

The setback stunned both white and Negro leaders who had been working toward conciliation. Neither side had any plans to begin new negotiations immediately.

New Law Urged

Negro leaders promised not to resume demonstrations here at least a week, and urged Cambridge Mayor Calvin W. Mowbray and the city council to pass an ordinance banning segregation.

Philip Savano, a representative of the National Association for Advancement of Colored People, said if the pleas to Tawes and Cambridge officials were not heeded, and if the city's businessmen refuse to desegregate their facilities voluntarily, the Negroes will "march into the streets again."

Though Negro leaders placed most of the blame for rejection of the amendment on white voters, some said privately that McGloria Richardson, chairman of the Cambridge non-violent coordinating committee, also was responsible.

Mrs. Richardson urged Negroes to boycott the referendum, and said they should not have to vote for rights guaranteed them by the Constitution.

The total at the end of the fourth year was divided into 364 women and 1,452 men.

Registration will continue through Monday, Oct. 14.

On hand were American and Greek officials to extend the official greetings.

He was the 17th person to be killed in automobile accidents in Jackson county this year.

Results of Study Will Be Discussed

TALENT — Results of a study of the feasibility and cost of the proposed South Talent sanitary district sewer system are scheduled to be discussed at a district board meeting Thursday night.

Board members urged all residents of the district to attend the meeting, at the Talent city hall at 8 p.m., to hear the report.

Representatives of Conall, Howland, Hayes and Merryfield, engineering firm which conducted the preliminary study, will be present to report their findings, which will include recommendations on ways to pay for construction of a sewer system.

The study was financed with a $500 federal loan.

Also at Thursday's meeting the board will discuss its agreement with the city of Talent regarding expansion of the city's sewage treatment plant. It is proposed that the district sewer system will be connected with the city's plant.

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Bishops and the Roman Curia debated today to detail a document on the nature of the church.

Today's third meeting of the new council session heard a plea for a clearer statement that the church is not seeking earthly power and has come "not to dominate but to serve."

It also heard long arguments on the exact relationship between St. Peter and the other apostles 20 centuries ago — a subject which has an important bearing on present day relationship between the Pope and bishops.

The 200 council fathers today started detailed debate on the introduction and first chapter of the draft "De Ecclesia" about the church — which they approved by an overwhelming vote Tuesday as a basis of discussion.

Irrigation Water Still Is Provided In Two Districts

Continuing high temperatures and water-use demands has caused both Medford and Talent Irrigation districts to continue to provide irrigation water through mid-October.

MID will continue to provide irrigation water, tentatively, until Oct. 15. However, the MID board instructed Secretary-Manager Jack Hoffbuhr "to play it by ear."

Hoffbuhr said the district has two rehabilitation loans from the federal government. This money must be expended this year on federal work, he noted.

One loan is for $901,755 and the other $1,137,125. It means that the work must be done this fall to take advantage of the good weather. But the work will be impossible with water in the ditches, he pointed out.

To Write Nelson

The board instructed him to write Harold T. Nelson, of the bureau of reclamation regional office, Boise, Ida., to see if a second time extension can be obtained.

Talent district will turn its water out by Oct. 13 instead of ending the season Oct. 3 as customary.

Right said if irrigating water is paid off now many of the farm trees will come into bloom prematurely which will eliminate their fruit crop for next season.

Hoffbuhr said many of the farmers are still raising cattle. To pasture irrigation is caught off they would have to start feeding hay, he added.

During other business yesterday, the TID board appointed Gilbert H. Hill board member to serve until the end of this year to replace Homer Moore who has retired from the board.

Evon E. Rasmussen was elected president for the balance of the year.

Willamette Student Charged in Death

Independent Audit of MID Books Voted

An independent audit will be made of the Medford Irrigation district's books, it was decided following a long and heated argument and discussion during yesterday afternoon's regular MID board meeting.

The decision followed the reading of a letter of resignation from Mrs. Jack (Eleanor) Peterson, former assistant MID secretary, and a recommendation by Robert Root, member of a special water users' committee, which has been observing MID board meetings during recent months.

MID Secretary-Manager Jack Hoffbuhr termed the letter a "biting blast."

Had Written Checks

Mr. Peterson wrote, "I have, under instruction, written checks and made disbursements which I personally did not feel were properly authorized, nor in some instances, justified under accepted procedures for the handling of public money."

Board Chairman Albert Huebner said he had accepted Mrs. Peterson's resignation more than two weeks ago. The board accepted the letter of resignation, but apparently did not feel any other formal action was required.

Sen. Harbison, of MID, said he would like to see the

USIS Building in Venezuela Attacked

CARACAS (UPI)—A fast-shooting policeman broke up a Castro Communist attack on the U.S. Information Service branch in Maracaibo Tuesday — the first Red reaction to the government crackdown Monday on its leftist foes.

The policeman wounded two of three terrorist gunmen who tried to shoot their way into "American House," the USIS building in the oil capital. The policeman was seriously wounded, but the attack failed.

One seriously wounded attacker, captured by police, was identified as a student from Caracas's Central University, one of the nation's principal centers of terrorism. The other two gunmen escaped.

The government flew two platoons of paratroopers into Caracas late Tuesday to reinforce the city's garrison against "the possible Castro-Communist counterattack," but there was no immediate outbreak of violence in the capital.

County Court Will Consider Request For Checking Books

R. J. (Bob) McNeil, a local businessman, this morning in Jackson county court, demanded an impartial check be made of the Howard Prairie concession books by other than the county auditor.

His request was supported by County Commissioner Edwin Taylor. County Judge Earl M. Miller said the request would be considered the first of next week when County Commissioner Donald E. Faber returns from vacation.

McNeil said he has nothing against Howard Prairie concessionaire Bob Johnston personally. He said he became interested in obtaining more exact information as to how much profit the concessionaire is making after an informal conversation with some other men.

The local businessman referred to a statement in the concession contract which says any audit will be confidential.

Nothing Confidential

"Nothing should be confidential when taxpayers' money is being spent for private industry," McNeil commented. "I am concerned as to what the county is making as a profit," he added.

Judge Miller said County Auditor George Stacey did make an audit of the Howard Prairie account, but not of Johnston's account. This was an audit of the gross and net profit to see if the county was getting its proper percentage, he said. According to a sliding scale, the county now receives 5 per cent of the gross receipts plus rental of the concession building at Howard Prairie lake.

"This is not exactly a public issue," Miller said.

"Public money put him (Johnston) in business," Taylor retorted.

County Purchasing Coordinator William Cochran also said Stacey had audited Johnston's gross and net receipts, but Taylor said this was the first he knew of it.

The county commissioner also charged that the county judge had not read letters in open court he had received this summer from two officials of the National Park Service which recommended changes in the Howard Prairie concession operation.

The county judge retorted nothing had been withheld except, perhaps, some personal letters. Taylor said the two letters referred to are not in the court minutes.

A letter from Mark Pike, Seattle office of the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, recommended the county provide its own maintenance crew at the Howard Prairie concession instead of paying the concessionaire for the work. The county can perform the work more efficiently and economically, Pike wrote. He also recommended the county instead of concessionaire's personnel collect the overnight camping fees.

A letter from Ed Arnold, Portland National Park Service, was addressed to Camosa (on a letter Johnston, but Taylor charged a copy had been sent to the county court and withheld. This recommended against over-crowding of camp grounds and urged changes in other operational details.

Should Be Disregarded

Both Hueners and Cameron said the former assistant secretary's charges did not mean anything to them, and thought they should be disregarded.

In moving that the audit be conducted, Culbertson said Mrs. Peterson's resignation "was regrettable." He described her as loyal, conscientious and competent and well versed in the irrigation district operation.

Cameron said a special audit had not been budgeted for. Hueners said he felt a former district employee was right to request an audit.

Hoffbuhr said the report he had made showing how he spent his time, as requested by Culbertson, had cost the district about $200 and that Culbertson had disregarded the report. Culbertson retorted that he had studied it and would continue to do so and would mail the district a check for whatever the report cost.

Election Scheduled In Jacksonville

JACKSONVILLE — This year's city election in Jacksonville will be held Tuesday, Nov. 5, the city council announced last night.

Jacksonville's city charter provides for an election every year. The terms of city councilmen run for only two years instead of four as in most other cities in the valley.

Three councilmen will be elected this year. The terms of Don Wendt, Paul Godward and Ruth Walker expire at the end of 1963.

Nomination petitions for candidates must be filed by Oct. 12, the council announced. Petitions may be obtained at the city recorder's office. The signatures of 25 registered city voters must be obtained to nominate a candidate.
