

Polite Bandit

Waits on Trade

At Supermarket
FORT WORTH, Texas (UPI)—First the blond, dimpled young bandit held up the supermarket for $500. Then he handed out groceries and even sacked them for the customers.

"How are you and will you have anything else?" the polite young robber said Monday night.

When the customers started to pay, the bandit told them: "It's on the house."

Elbert Vassar, manager of the store, stood helplessly by. Finally the telephone rang. It was Vassar's wife. She hung up and called police.

When the police arrived, the bandit was gone.
