LA's Dodgers Instead of Yankees Had the Man Who Was Too Much

By FRED DOWN

NEW YORK (UPI) — It was like taking candy from a baby as it has been so often in the World Series, only this time it was the New York Yankees who were reduced to utter helplessness.

Because this time it was the National league champion Los Angeles Dodgers who had the "superman" in their corner.

Back through the golden years of the Yankees' World Series history they've had the Babe Ruth, the Lou Gehrig, the Joe DiMaggio, the Allie Reynolds and the Mickey Mantle who've proved just too much for the opposition to handle.

But Wednesday it was the Dodgers who had the man who was just too much. He's Sandy Koufax, of course, and he manhandled the lordly Yankees in a way that left American leaguers gaping.

Other great pitchers have beaten the Yankees but nowhere in World Series memory is there an instance of a pitcher who so completely overpowered them.

Koufax Took Command

A 25-game winner with 306 strikeouts in 311 innings and a backdrop of two no hitters and two games in which he struck out 18 batters during his career, Koufax took command of the Yankees like a big league pitcher would take command of a high school team.

He struck out the first five batters to face him and nine of the first 12. After four innings the Yankees had hit only one fair ball. He blazed his fast ball past them. He confused them with his deep - breaking fast curve. And he made them look ridiculous with nis change-up—thrown with the same motion as the high, hard one.

This was supposed to be a match-up of star pitchers—Koufax vs. Whitey Ford, who started the game with a 10-5 World Series record.

Frank Howard's 457-foot double, singles by Bill Skowron and Dick Tracewski and Johnny Roseboro's three - run homer gave the Dodgers four runs in the second inning and that was it. It was obvious the Yankees could not overcome such a handicap against Koufax and the brilliant lefthander just kept mowing 'em down.

Koufax had two tough innings — because he lost the pinpoint control of his curve ball — in the fifth and sixth. The Yankees put together three singles with two out in the fifth but Sandy fanned pinch hitter Hector Lopez to end that threat and they got two straight walks in the sixth with one out only to have Sandy retire Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris on infield pops.

Tom Tresh hit a two-run homer in the eighth but by then Koufax was throwing fast balls for strikes and he quickly closed out the game.

After the seventh, the crowd of 69,000 was cheering for Sandy to break Carl Erskine's mark of 14 strikeouts in one game, set against the Yankees in 1953.

Koufax finally accomplished the feat for a new mark of 15 when be buzzed a fast ball past pinch hitter Harry Bright for the final out of the game.

Bright stood there gaping — typical of a Yankee team that had run up against a man who was just too much.

Erskine Feels Sandy Can Beat His Own Mark

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sandy Koufax is capable of breaking his own World Series strikeout record the next time he faces the Yankees.

That was the opinion voiced by Carl Erskine, the former record holder, when he wandered into the Los Angeles Dodgers' locker room Wednesday to congratulate Koufax for his 15-strikeout performance in the series opener.

"Sandy may break that record again before the series is over," said Erskine, who 10 years ago to the day had set the old series mark by fanning 14 Yankees as a member of the Dodgers.

"I'm delighted that Sandy has kept it in the Dodger family, and I think he's the man who deserves to have it," added Erskine. "He's just about the greatest strikeout pitcher of them all, isn't he?"

Asked if he was surprised when Koufax erased his mark, Erskine replied:

"I'm sure no one ever predicted that Carl Erskine would ever break a series strikeout record, but they certainly did for this fellow."

EXTRA HAND—Los Angeles Dodgers' pitcher Sandy Koufax, left, has to get a hand from catcher Johnny Roseboro as he "counts" the 15 Yankees he struck out to set a new World Series record in opening game at New York on Wednesday. Roseboro lent a hand to the victory with his three run home run. (UPI)

First Game Makes Series Odds Even

NEW YORK (UPI)—Facts and figures on the 1963 World Series:

Today's game—Second, at Yankee Stadium.

First game score—Dodgers 5, Yankees 2.

Second game pitchers—Dodgers: Johnny Podres (14-12); Yankees: Al Downing (13-5).

Second game odds—Yankees favored, 7-5.

Series odds—Even money.

First game attendance—69,000.

First game financial figures—Receipts $490,259.11; players' share—$73,538.87; clubs' and leagues' share—$41,672.03.

NEW YORK (UPI) — In the wake of Wednesday's stunning 5-2 triumph of the Los Angeles Dodgers over the New York Yankees in the first game of the World Series, oddsmakers reduced the series to even money. They established the Yankees as 7-5 favorites to win the second game, however.

The Dodgers carried a "we told you so" attitude into today's second game while the Yankees — despite a healthy respect for the fireballing Koufax — were confident they would draw even today and go on to win their 21st world championship in 28 tries.

Although today's odds favored the Yankees, many experts were inclined to believe that it is the Dodgers who now have a key advantage — the advantage of sending a classic clutch pitcher like Johnny Podres against a 22-year-old lefthander who will be appearing in series competition for the first time.

Johnny entered today's game with a 3-1 mark in series competition, including his never-to-be-forgotten 2-0 victory over the Yankees that gave the Dodgers the 1955 series and the only championship they ever won while in Brooklyn. Podres also beat the Yankees, 8-3, in that series and had them popping the ball into the air throughout most of both games he pitched. He was 14-12 this season.

Impressive Credentials

A 22-year-old medium - sized left - hander, Yankee pitcher Al Downing has more impressive season credentials than Podres. Brought up to the Yankees from their Richmond farm club in the International league on June 2, Downing won 13 games and lost only five. He had four shutouts and struck out 171 batters in 175 innings. Before the Yankees saw Koufax Wednesday it was fashionable in their clubhouse to say that Downing was as fast as Sandy.

But — and right now it is the big "but" of the series — Downing is a rookie in all but the purest technical sense and was appearing in his first series game. Not since Frank Shea in 1947 have the Yankees called upon so inexperienced a pitcher to carry such a heavy load.

At the moment Koufax looms as the mighty man of this series — the mighty man of many a World Series to come, in fact.

Mandandled the Yankees

Now since the greatest days of Bob Feller has a' pitcher so manhandled the slugging Yankees as did Koufax en route to his 15 strikeouts.

There couldn't have been a second guess in the Yankee clubhouse, and there wasn't.

"You can sum up the entire game in one word: Koufax," said manager Ralph Houk. "He was great all the way. There's nothing you can do when a man pitches a game like that against you."

"His greatest game?" smiled manager Walt Alston of the Dodgers. "How can you tell with Koufax. He pitches so many good ones. But this one was a good one because we won."

Neither manager planned any changes in his second-game line up.

NEW YORK (UPI)— Fraley's follies and the week end footbal "winners" — along with some reflections from the World Series.

Game of the Week

Navy over Michigan —This one sho'ld give a real line on how Navy stacks up among the big fellows and from this corner it looks as if Roger Staubach will make the winning difference.

The East

Penn State over Rice — The Series opener marked Maury Wills' 31st birthday.

Pitt over California — Personally he wasn't too hapy.

Syracuse over Holy Cross — None for five.

Princeton over Columbia—But wait'll he reaches first.

Also: Yale over Brown, Dartmouth over Penn, Cornell over Lehigh, Delaware over Gettysburg, Buffalo over Villanova, Colgate over Boston U., Rutgers over Harvard, Bucknell over Massachusetts and Temple over Connecticut.

Midwest

Army over Minnesota — The blueplate special.

Northwestern over Illinois — Hot dogs sold like hot cakes.

Notre Dame over Purdue — Koufax worried 'em all the way.

Ohio State over Indiana — Weiners taste better than fingernails.

Also: Boston College over Detroit, Kansas State over Colorado, Nebraska over Iowa State, Missouri over Idaho, Cincinnati over Xavier, Ohio U. over Kent State and Bowling Green over Dayton.

The West

Washington over Idaho—Clete Boyer ain't no weak hitter.

Oregon State over Baylor—He had a rare distinction.

USC over Michigan State—Got a hit off Koufax.

Stanford over UCLA — And was the only Yankee who didn't strike out.

Also: Washington State over Arizona, Brigham Young over Montana State, Utah State over State over Colorado State.

The South

San Jose State and Arizona State—Richardson fanned three times.

Oregon over West Virginia — Tennessee over Mississippi Kubek, Tresh and Mantle all fanned twice.

Georgia over South Carolina—Maris, Howard and Pepitone each once.

Georgia Tech over LSU—And three pinch hitters all took a whiff.

Also: Alabama over Vanderbilt, Auburn over Kentucky, man over W&M, Florida over Richmond, Miami over Tulane, Duke over Maryland, North Carolina over Wake Forest, Clemson over North Carolina State, VPI over Virginia and VMI over Davidson.

The Southwest

Texas over Oklahoma State—The Dodgers shook up the oddsmakers.

SMU over Air Force — They dropped the Series to pick 'em.

Arkansas over TCU — Downing is 7-5 over Podres.

Mississipi over Houston — I still like the Dodgers in six.

Also: Texas Agies over Texas Tech, Memphis State over Tulsa, West Texas State over North Texas State and Utah over New Mexico.

Mick Takes His Hat Off To Koufax

By MILTON RICHMAN

NEW YORK (UPI) —Mickey Mantle, always quick to give credit where it's due, took his hat off to Sandy Koufax today as one of the finest pitchers he has ever faced.

"Everything I read about him was true," Mantel marveled. "And everything they told us about him also was true. Whatta pitcher! Still I don't feel too bad at what I did against him.

"He only fanned me twice. Carl Erskine once got me four times."

Mantle not only ranks as a prime judge of good pitchers but also knows a long-ball hitter when he sees one because some of the tape-measure blows he's belted never have been duplicated in all baseball history.

The Dodger slugger he singled out for special comment was hulking, six-foot-seven Frank Howard, who started Wednesday's decisive four-run uprising with an eye-popping 460-foot double off the center field wall at Yankee Stadium.

Hard Hit Ball

"That was one of the hardest balls ever hit over my head," Mantle declared. "It wasn't exactly a high fly, either. That ball was really traveling."

Koufax, of course, was the Dodger player most of the Yankees talked about and he had everyone's respect from Ralph Houk right on down to the batboy.

"You gotta give him credit," Houk said. "He's an extraordinary pitcher and he would have to be to strike out 15 of our hitters like he did."

Then, as an afterthought, the Yankee manager added, "chances are we'll see him again."

Houk didn't say it apprehensively; neither did he say it happily.

"It's only one game," he said, trying to rationalize. "We've lost before and we've won a few, too."

Tresh Wasn't Awed

One of the few Yankee players who wasn't completely overawed by Koufax' record-breaking performance was sophomore Tom Tresh, who spoiled Sandy's shutout with a two-run homer in the eighth inning.

"I don't think he's going to strike out 15 the next time he pitches against us," Tresh said. "You gotta see any pitcher at least once before you really know anything about him."

Not that Tresh was crowing about his homer or trying in any way to take some of the luster off Koufax' performance.

"Don't get me wrong," he said. "He's a terrific pitcher and he may even beat us again but I simply think we'll do better the next time out against him."

PLAYER SETS RECORD

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) South Africa's Gary Player shot a record nine-under par 63 in a tourney tune-up to join Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer as early favorites among the field of 151 golfers at today's start of the $125,000 Whitemarsh Open, the world's richest professional golf tourney. Player had one eagle, nine birdies and two bogeys in setting a new competitive course record on Wednesday at the Whitemarsh Valley Country club in a pro-amateur tournament. The previous record on the 6,807 yard, par 72 course was 66, set in 1949 by Joe Kirkwood, Jr.

Cross Country Run Slated at Canyonville

CANYONVILLE—Eagle Point and Rogue River highs will be among schools participating Saturday, Oct. 5, in the Pilot Invitational Cross Country meet of Canyonville Bible academy.

A varsity race of about 2.25 miles and a junior varsity run of approximately 1.7 miles will be held.

Among schools entered along with the Rogue league teams and CBA are McKenzie, Philomath, Pleasant Hill and Roseburg. One or two other schools may join the field by race time.

Stanford Has Fullback Battle

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI)—sharp battle for fullback developed at Stanford today when the Indian roster went over full strength.

Coach John Ralston had two fullbacks on both the first and second teams. Dan Conway and Tony DeFilis were on the first string and Glenn Meyers and Ken Babajian were on the second.

St. Mary's Engages Lakeview on Friday

St. Mary's High school's football game at Lakeview in the Rogue league has been shifted to Friday night, Oct. 4.

That is the report of St. Mary's Coach Bill McKibbin.

Kickoff will be at 8 p.m. at the rodeo grounds. The tussle had been set for Saturday night and was changed to better accommodate the delegation from Medford parochial school.

Knee injuries continue to plague the SM Crusaders. Latest victim is halfback Don Valentine who was hurt in the third quarter of the game last Saturday with Illinois Valley. McKibbin said that Valentine may be lost for the season.

The coach reported that John Batzer, regular quarterback, who hurt a knee in practice last week, definitely will not be ready for the Lakeview game and is doubtful for the Phoenix fracas on the following week end.

Jensen at Quarter

Freshman Eric Jensen is ticketed for quarterback duties this Friday with either Jim Reverman or Anthony Mete at the halfback spot vacated by Valentine.

Bill Reverman, a halfback hurt in an auto accident during the preseason practice period, was in pads for the first time Tuesday. An ankle laceration and pulled thigh muscle sidelined him.

Guard John Lucas, who played last week despite a back whiplash injury, has been taking therapy all week and is doubtful for the Friday fray. McKibbin said he may put Ray Richter at an end and shift Dennis Rose to an interior line position. Lucas might play with Rose spelling him and Steve Cook, who has a banged up knee.

A possible lineup would have Richter and Ron Roberts, ends; Mike Hutchinson and Randy Corliss, tackles; among Lucas, Cook and Rose at guards, Dan Kosmatka, center; Jensen, quarterback; Tim Sakraida and Mete or Jim Reverman, halfbacks, and Jeff Randolph, fullback.

St. Mary's will enter the game with a 1-1-1 record. The Crusaders tied Glide, defeated Glendale and lost to Illinois Valley. Lakeview has defeated Trinity of Weaverville, Calif., and lost to Burns and Rogue River.

MATCH OFF

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A proposed lightweight title match between champion Carlos Artiz and Kenny Lane in Los Angeles is off, according to peeved matchmaker George Parnassus. Lane said in Michigan that the bout was set and World Boxing Association President Ed Lassman announced Wednesday at Miami Beach the contract would be signed "momentarily." But Parnassus countered that Lane's manager, Pete Petroskey, never agreed to his terms. The terms were $10,000, but Parnassus said Petroskey wanted expenses paid also.

Forty Niners Activate Lind

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The San Francisco Forty Niners' squad was at 36 players today following the activation of 220-pound running back Mike Lind of Notre Dame.

Lind has been out with injuries since before the season opener. His return leaves the squad still one man short of the National Football league limit.

New coach Jack Christiansen reported that "both Bob Waters and Lamar McHan have been passing well in practices." Starting quarterback John Brodie is out for a minimum of six weeks with a reinjured arm, so it's up to McHan and Waters to move the team.
