Duncan Meets With Japanese Officials

Congressman Robert B. Duncan (D-Ore.) was among guests invited to a luncheon this week at the Sheraton-Carlton hotel given by Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman in honor of the Japanese Minister of Agriculture, Munenori Akagi.

Secretary Freeman gave the welcoming speech and pointed out the importance of trade between the two countries.

Also attending the luncheon was Ryuji Takeuchi, the Japanese Ambassador.

"I had the pleasure of talking with Ambassador Takeuchi and discussing with him our mutual interest in Pacific fishery negotiations, export-import problems in logs, and forest products," Duncan said.

Other guests at the luncheon included two members of the Japanese Diet, S. Hamano and S. Hasagawa; the Chief of the Economic Bureau of Japan, R. Matsuko; the Chief of the Production Division of Fisheries of Japan, Mr. S. Okuchi; the Deputy Assistant Secretary of State in the Bureau of Far East Affairs, Edward Rice; Ambassador Christian Herter; and the Deputy Assistant Secretary for Economic Affairs at the Department of State, Philip Trezise.

"I was also pleased to be able to discuss with Ambassador Herter our negotiations at Geneva on the General Agreement for Tariffs and Trade—especially with reference to pears and meat products," Duncan said.

Tulelake Woman Is Killed in Accident

YREKA—Laura Olivia Thurston, 45, of Tulelake, Calif., was killed early this morning when the car she was driving went off Highway 130 about 4 1/2 miles south of Tulelake, the California highway patrol reported.

Patrolmen said her car left the highway and turned over three times. She was thrown from the car. The accident occurred about 12:10 o'clock this morning.

administration's plan to give Russia "free American wheat" without something in return.

The Arizona Republican, regarded as a leading contender for the GOP presidential nomination, told a meeting of the California Federation of Republican Women's Clubs that "countries don't just give to their enemies without first making a demand for something in return."

"I want to tell President Kennedy here that if he wants Republican support on this wheat matter, let's ask what we can get which will relieve tensions around the world," the senator said. "This is the way countries negotiate treaties."

'Mutual Aid Society' Seen
Goldwater said it appeared the Kennedy administration was working for a "Soviet-American mutual aid society."

"Since the end of World War II," he said "we've spent billions of dollars beefing up our security so that Khrushchev couldn't bury us, only to discover that in the past few weeks what the Kennedys are really working for is a Soviet-American mutual aid society."

"Along the New Frontier, the idea is to conform or keep quiet. Nothing must be done to ruffle Mr. Khrushchev's feelings, or lead him to think we are superior to the Soviets in any category."

Rebel Leader Shows Defiance; Defenses Built

ALGIERS (UPI)—Berber mountain fighters who have rebelled against President Ahmed Ben Bella's one-man rule rejected his offer of negotiations to end their uprising today and began building up their defenses.

They moved armor plate and barbed wire to their hideouts in the Kabylia Mountains 60 miles east of Algiers. Rebel trucks moved freely within the area, although Ben Bella's troops have cut it off from the rest of Algeria.

There has been no bloodshed since the uprising started Sunday, and Ben Bella, in a speech after receiving emergency powers to deal with it Thursday, said "any problems must be discussed within the party and not in the mountains with hands on submachine guns."

But the military leader of the insurgents, 65-year-old Col. Mohamed Ou El Hadj, was defiant when he talked to newsmen in his hideout Thursday.

"We are the last chance for Algeria to get on the path to democracy," he said. "For that, we are ready to sacrifice everything."

The assumption of full powers was the latest in a series of steps Ben Bella has taken against the Berbers, a separate nationality from the Arab majority in Algeria.

Since the dissidents rallied behind El Hadj and Ben Bella's former deputy premier, 34-year-old Hocine Ait Ahmed, Ben Bella has accused Morocco of aiding the opposition movement and has nationalized all remaining French-owned land. The latter move was considered a means of gaining public support for his regime.

In Paris, French sources said the government is seeking an early conference with Algeria to halt the deterioration of relations. The government has not yet followed up a statement threatening possible reprisals for the seizure of the farmlands.

Government sources said Paris may cut the amount of aid it has promised Algeria and use the money to indemnify French farmers who lost their property. Under the agreements, granting Algeria independence, France undertook between $250 million and $400 million in aid annually.

Castro Declared Defying Moscow

LONDON (UPI)—Cuban Premier Fidel Castro is defying Moscow and withholding his signature from the partial nuclear test ban treaty, according to diplomatic dispatches reaching here.

The dispatches said Castro was believed to be using the test ban issue as a bargaining element. Among his demands is believed to be stronger Russian pressure on the United States to ease its restrictions on Cuba.

Castro's loyalty to the Kremlin was showing signs of wavering, the reports said, and he appeared to be renewing a flirtation with Communist China.

The Cuban leader has kept out of the bustling polemics between Moscow and Peking so far.

The test ban is one of the major arguments in Peking's latest anti-Moscow campaign, which charges Russia is selling out to the West. It would be a sharp blow to the prestige of Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev if Castro refused to sign the treaty, thus giving tacit support to China on a key issue in the Sino-Soviet dispute.

How to make a '54 look like a '64.

Paint it.
See? It looks like next year's model.
And next year's model looks like last year's model. And so it goes.
VWs always look the same because VW only changes the car to make it work better, not to make it look different.
So the people who bought '63 VWs aren't nervous about what the '64s will look like. (And neither is Volkswagen.)
Volkswagen has made over 5 million cars, and they've made lots of changes.

Not enough to make you run out and buy a new car every year.
But enough to notice the difference when you do. (14 changes for '64 alone.)
In the meantime, no matter what year VW you own, you can always get parts easily; many of them are interchangeable from one year to the next.
So if you want to, you can keep your old VW running forever.
Just spray it every few years.
Old paint rides again.

Search Continues For Estacada Man

OREGON CITY (UPI)—Investigation continued today into the disappearance of Patrick Edwin Morrison, 43, Estacada, last Saturday.

Sheriff Joe Shobe said Morrison had told his wife he was going hunting and was last seen in front of an Estacada cafe early Saturday.

Morrison's car later was found about three miles north of Estacada and articles belonging to him were located in the Mt. Scott area east of Portland.

Grants Pass City Officials Given Vote of Confidence

Grants Pass—The Grants Pass city council Wednesday night expressed its confidence in City Manager Roy E. Eames and the intentions of Mayor Robert C. Martin and city employees to aid in the solution of the city's problems.

The council spent two weeks investigating the claims by interviewing many townspeople and announced Wednesday night that the charges were found to be groundless.

The council statement, read by Reese Jamson, council president, was: "We the council by a show of hands hereby assure Mr. Eames that we have complete confidence in his ability to solve the internal problems of the city and we also have confidence that the mayor and employees of the city of Grants Pass will aid in the solution of these problems."

Council Responds
Following the statement the council responded with the show of hands.

Mayor Martin stressed the fact that the whole purpose of city government is to make Grants Pass a better place in which to live and make a living. To accomplish this purpose, he added, "We must have unity and confidence that we have competent people in government."

Returning to city business, the council called for an election Nov. 8 on annexation of an area north of the city limits. The area includes 150 acres along the Sixth and Seventh st. approaches to and from Interstate 5. The land is north of the city between the city and the freeway and is a heavy traffic section, it was pointed out.

The population of the area is estimated at less than 200. The landowners petitioned the planning commission for the annexation and the commission recommended that the city council call the election for people within the area.

Submits Recommendation
The planning commission also submitted a recommendation for the acquisition of land in the Bridge st. development as part of the East-West arterial development project. The land under consideration is needed, it was noted by the planning commission, to eliminate two sharp corners.

The council authorized the city administration to negotiate further with the two property owners, who are the State of Oregon and Mayer Martin. Both have indicated that the property might be available if deemed necessary to the improvement.

The Grants Pass police department report to the city manager regarding a study of visual hazards at 17 intersections was presented. The study was recommended by the Women's Federated Breakfast club.

The council recommended that immediate steps be taken to correct the obstructions which are on city property and make a further study of the hazards that are located on private property.
