The summer of 1963 was one for stories about "unusual" plants. We're putting the word unusual in quotation marks, because it is almost inevitable that when stories about such plants are run, they turn out to be not so unusual.

Back in the last part of August, we ran a story about a philodendron in the living room of the Don McGovern home in Eagle Point. It had bloomed, something which local florists said was very unusual.

It wasn't. Within a couple of days we were informed of at least two other such plants in the valley, one of which had not only bloomed but had also produced fruit.

At the tail end of September, United Press International transmitted a photograph of a couple of tomato plants in Chicago, Ill., which had grown 13 feet high in the yard of a man's home. Within 24 hours after the picture appeared in the Mail Tribune, sure enough, someone called up to report a similar feat. Mrs. Albert Mueller of 404 East D St., Jacksonville, grew two tomato plants from seed to a height of 15 feet. They climbed up onto the roof of her home.

In the meantime, we received another story, this one from Central Point, about an avocado plant which had developed in a reportedly unusual way. Mrs. Homer Dale of 524 Manzanita St. tried a seed first in water, and when that didn't work she planted it in earth. It grew, but instead of growing just one long stem two or three feet tall, it put out five shoots, three of which developed and started leafing when only two inches tall.

County Agent Cliff Cordy was asked for an opinion. He said he had never seen an avocado plant like it but he hastened to explain that he should not be considered an authority on avocado plants.

We aren't either, but by this stage of the game we've decided that most "unusual" things are quite normal.

Christmas Seal Chairmen Have Donated Many Years of Work

A total of nearly 100 years of work to help promote better health in Jackson County and of service to the Jackson County Tuberculosis and Health Association was represented at a luncheon planning meeting of Christmas seal area chairmen held at the home of Miss Helen Bullis Oct. 2.

Chairmen attending the meeting were representative of nearly every community in Jackson county and some of them have served as Christmas Seal chairmen for 15 and more years.

Other Chairmen

Others attending the luncheon included Mrs. F. G. Petrie of Rogue River, Mrs. M. Schoenemann of Gold Hill, Mrs. Marcus Day of Prospect, Mrs. Vernon Thorpe of Medford and Mrs. Arthur McKintosh of Phoenix. Mrs. Chester Guches, county seal co-chairman was in charge.

A good many hours of work is given each year by Christmas seal chairmen in getting the mail ready to go out and in keeping the lists as correct as possible and up to date, Mrs. Guches stated.

From the standpoint of years of service, Mrs. Hoffman of Eagle Point has one of the lengthiest records. She started helping with the mailing of seals while she was still in high school and for the past 15 years has been chairman for her district.

Mrs. Schoenemann represents the Gold Hill Health unit, which has the distinction of being one of the first county health organizations in the state and as far as is known the only one in the state still organized. It was first formed around 1917 and has been helping with Christmas seal mailing and many other activities to promote better health for the citizens of Gold Hill since that time.

Mrs. Bartuss has been taking care of Christmas seals in the Shady Cove - Trail area since 1948 and with the efficient help of Mr. Bartuss does all the work for that area. In fact, seems many of the husbands, families and friends are drafted into the army of volunteers.

Mrs. Pingle has been Mrs. Christmas Seal in Butte Falls the past 10 years while Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. MacKintosh of Talent and Phoenix are comparative newcomers with 4 and 5 years respectively.

In Prospect, the women of the Episcopal church Guild make a joint project of getting the seals ready to mail but Mrs. Day has accepted the responsibility of seeing that the files are ready for the past 10 years.

Mrs. Phil Engle has been chairman for Rogue River for around 10 years but since she was unable to attend Wednesday Mrs. Petrie who assists her represented that area.

The Christmas seal mailing is a new service project for the wives of members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce in Ashland — Jaycettes they are called — and Mrs. Burghart is this year's president.

Recent resignations have left Jacksonville and Central Point without chairmen and volunteers for help there would be most welcome, county seal chairman report. Also there is a new area at White City needing attention, they state.

"Eradication of tuberculosis and the control of other respiratory diseases is the long-range goal of the Public Health associations," Chester Irish, president of the association stated, and it is for this purpose and to build healthier communities for all of us that Christmas seal chairmen are working.

Purpose Of Fees At Crater High Explained

By MARY COLLEY Mail Tribune Correspondent

Since many inquiries have been received at Crater High school concerning school fees and their use and purpose, C. A. Meyer, superintendent of schools in district 6, issued an explanation which he hopes will bring about a better understanding between the school and the parents.

It should be understood that in Oregon the state does not furnish textbooks for grades 9 through 12 and it is the obligation of each student in high school to supply his own, Meyer said.

At Crater the following fees are assessed against students at enrollment time.

There is a student body membership fee of $10 which in part is used to set up a student book loan fund. Seven of the $10.00 dollars goes to the student book fund, $1.00 to the school paper, $1.00 to athletics, and $1.00 to the general student body fund.

The $7 book fee furnishes all textbooks for one school year. Students must return books at the end of the year or pay for them, also he may be assessed a fee for excessive damage. Each year a student must get a new set of books. If he had to furnish his own, which he may if he wishes, the price would be prohibitive.

Following is a breakdown of book costs for an average 9th grader (costs for each succeeding year would be about the same): English grammar, $2.40; English literature, $3.45; world geography, $4.73; algebra, $3.30; general science, $3.98 and foreign language, $3.25, for a grand total of $21.11. This can vary some either way.

In comparison, for a four year cost of $20, a student is furnished his needed textbooks, if he bought his own, which he can, the cost would be at least $50.00 even if he were able to re-sell some of his books. Because of state requirements books are changed every six years, thus every time a series changes there is no resale value, Meyer explained.

The $1.00 for the school paper gives the student a copy of the paper every three weeks for the school year. The $1.00 for athletics and the $1.00 for the student body fund give students a student body card that admits them to all home games free and also admits them to many events at student rates.

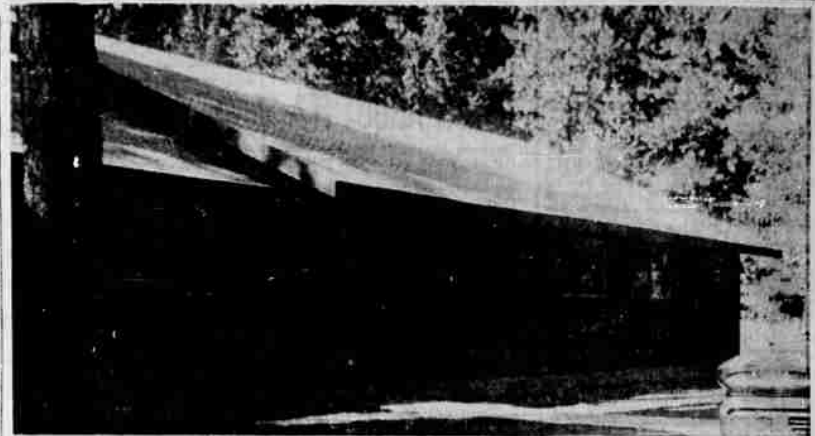

Some of this money is used for student council affairs and to help certain activities, such as the annual and paper, meet their obligations.

For those taking P. E., a $1.50 towel fee is charged, and this furnishes the student with a clean towel daily. It can readily be seen that a towel alone would take about half of this. If a student is asked to furnish his own it seldom gets laundered, and if taken home for laundering is often forgotten.

A $1.00 locker fee is assessed and if the student's record is clear this is refunded at the end of the year. Most students get this refund.

P. E. suits for boys are $2.75 and if a boy takes care of his suit it will last through his high school years.

There is a $3.00 shop fee and a $3.00 mechanical drawing fee. The shop fee pays for any shop project the boy takes home. If any amount is left on the card at the end of the year, it is refunded. The mechanical drawing fee furnishes students with drawing board, paper, drawing set, and most needed materials.

The $1.50 typing fee furnishes typing paper all year for typing students.

Insurance School insurance is $3.50 for girls and $4.50 for boys. The reason for the difference is that boys put in more claims than girls.

The school annual is optional and the cost is $3.50. The students receive a yearbook which costs $6 a copy to have published. The difference is usually paid for by advertising.

"No school is interested in nickel and diming students continually, but it is evident that costs outside the school are many times greater than school costs, with the school doing quantity buying," Meyer said.

"All schools should welcome questions from parents as to fees and why they are charged," he continued.
