

King Oils Machinery for Demonstrations in Birmingham

'Task Force' To Hold Workshop, Mass Meeting

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. today began putting the machinery in motion to back up his threats of "bigger than ever" demonstrations if this city does not bow to Negro desegregation demands.

Also scheduled for this afternoon was the trial of three white men arrested by police investigating racial bombings here. They were charged with the misdemeanor of illegal possession of dynamite.

King's "task force" which led some of the largest protests in Southern history here last spring planned a "non-violent workshop" this afternoon and the Southern integration leader was to address another mass rally tonight.

Started Demonstrations

The workshops and mass meetings were launching pacts for the demonstrations last April and May in which King and more than 2,500 other persons were jailed in marches and sit-ins met by police with fire hoses and police dogs.

"If the conditions that brought on the dynamiting and the death of four beautiful little girls are not changed we will put on our walking shoes and demonstrate all over town," King said.

"Birmingham is the temple for segregation," he said. "We must turn on the temple."

Charles Cagle, 22, R. E. Chambliss, 59, both whites with Ku Klux Klan backgrounds, and John Hall, 36, were to go on trial in city recorder's court on the dynamite charges.

Conviction for violation of the city ordinances could result in $100 fines and 180 days in jail.

Strength in Sugars Features Moderately Active Stock List

NEW YORK (UPI)—Strength in sugars featured a narrowly mixed and moderately active stock market today.

American Crystal was up close to 4 and North American, South Puerto Rico, Holly and Great Western advanced at least 1½ each. Gains in this group reflected a sharply higher sugar futures market.

Du Pont rose about 1 and Rohm & Haas dropped a large fraction in a mixed chemical group. Motors and Steels were narrowly mixed. American Export and Lykes Brothers Steamship, both of which would benefit from a U.S.-Russian grain trade, were up about 1½ and 1, respectively.

Pet Milk, Polaroid and U.S. Rubber advanced 1 or more but Xerox and Eversharp weakened.

Resignation of Demo Secretary Eases Pressures

Political Fire Believed To Be Still Smoldering

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The resignation of Senate Democratic Secretary Robert G. (Bobby) Baker eased political pressures and potential senatorial embarrassment today.

But there was no certainty that the political fire his outside business deals built in the senate cloakroom had been entirely smothered.

Sen. John J. Williams (R-Del.), who had launched a one-man inquiry into Baker's financial interests in a food vending firm serving government contractors, would not say whether he would drop his investigation.

The FBI also is investigating the vending firm with which Baker had ties. Sources said the inquiry had been expanded.

Gave Up Job Baker gave up a $19,600 job, but his wife, Dorothy, who is on the Senate internal security subcommittee staff at $11,800 a year, apparently was remaining.

Both are listed as principals in the controversial vending firm.

The Baker affair, said one ranking Republican, was almost certain to be discussed at today's Senate GOP policy meeting. But he indicated that if the GOP made any public follow-up move, it would not be likely to come for several days.

Both Parties Concerned Republican and Democratic senators alike were frankly concerned that publicity about the former page boy's interests in the food vending, motel and insurance fields might prove embarrassing to the Senate.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield (Mont.), who announced Baker's resignation, said "his great ability and his dedication to the majority and to the Senate will be missed." Mansfield voiced his deep regret at losing Baker.

Mansfield named Francis R. Valeo, his own 47-year-old leadership assistant, to fill Baker's place for the time being.

Yank Expedition Said Stopped By Rocks 'As Large as Houses'

CHIHUAHUA, Mexico (UPI)—The leader of an abortive expedition into the wild Barranca de Cobre country said today boulders "as large as houses" in a treacherous 120 mile river (Rio Urrique) forced his party of American adventurers to turn back.

Dr. John L. Cross, 45, of Orem, Utah, who organized the expedition to gain scientific information, said his party of 15 Americans made it only 10 miles up the river before food ran low.

"I am definitely contemplating another try at the Rio Urrique," he said. "However, if I make another try it will be up another section of the river."

Cross and 13 other persons in his party, including two women, traveled by train during the night from Creel, Mexico, and arrived at Chihuahua early today.

James C. Dean of Salt Lake City had staggered to civilization Saturday and said the expedition might be lost and without food.

Rationed Food Cross said his party never ran out of food, but had to do some rationing.

The explorers including three Mexicans arrived safely Monday at the northwestern Mexican village of Creel, 160 miles west of Chihuahua. Creel is a railhead on the New Chihuahua at Pacific Railroad. They left for Chihuahua at 4 p.m. (PDT) Monday.

Cross said he was mystified that large boulders were in the river.

Sen. Morse Pilots Job Training Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) led the way Monday as the Senate rejected an amendment by Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) to cut about $805 million from a proposed five-year program of expanded federal aid for vocational schools.

The amendment to the bill was defeated by a 52 to 23 vote. The measure carries funds for three different aid programs, including authorizations of up to $1.4 billion for a five-fold expansion in federal matching grants to the states for vocational training.

Morse, floor manager for the bill, said it would provide training to help combat joblessness among the nation's rural and urban youth.

"The unemployed don't pay taxes," the Oregon Democrat said. "This is in the nature of a loan to those people. It will be repaid many times over."

Air Traffic Control System Planned for Military Aircraft

By ROBERT J. SERLING United Press International WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Federal Aviation Agency is bringing all military aircraft on interceptor missions under its Air Traffic Control System.

The move is designed to reduce the possibility of collisions between fast-flying fighters and private planes. The FAA has tried out the concept in the Indianapolis, Detroit and Chicago Air Traffic Control Center areas with "very successful" results.

This major air safety action was revealed in the FAA's monthly publication "Aviation News," which contained a digest of a hitherto unpublished speech by the agency's top official, David Thomas.

Thomas said nearly half of the 2,500 near-collisions reported to the FAA in the past five years involved military aircraft. Several near-misses between fighters and airliners have occurred this year.

Changeover Soon Thomas said as soon as expanded equipment and personnel requirements are met, all intercept activities will be under ATC guidance except for the actual intercept portion of a mission.

He said the FAA also is providing personnel to assist the Air Defense Command in setting up a training program for all personnel in fighter-intercept operations. The civilian agency also is encouraging the military to conduct as many flights as possible under the FAA's ATC system—such as filing instrument flight plans which enables ATC to keep better track of military aircraft.

Thomas said the FAA's study of 2,500 near-collision reports since 1958 showed that:

—About 20 collisions involving civil aircraft occur each year. This rate has been fairly consistent since the immediate post World War II days.

—Sixth to 100 incidents annual-

Algerians Detain Yank Newsmen

ALGIERS, Algeria (UPI)—Algerian police, searching for a pro-rebel National Assembly deputy, detained an American newsmen Monday night while they searched his home for the wanted man.

CBS reporter Don Stephen, who lives next door to Dehiles Slimane, was kept under police guard while they searched his home for Slimane. He was released 40 minutes later.

Informal sources here said police thought the deputy was from Tizi-Ouzou, the rebel stronghold, and might have asked a neighbor to hide him.

Medical Mirror

HAIR OILINESS

Q. What is the cause of excessive oiliness of the hair?
A. Some people have dry scalps, some oily scalps, and some in between. When the "normal" scalp more or less suddenly becomes too active in producing oil, a change of shampoo may be called for. Some medicated shampoos tend to make the scalp oily. Switch to a different brand of shampoo and see if that helps.

NYLON

Q. My skin breaks out every time I wear nylon stockings or underclothing. How can this "allergy" be overcome?
A. So far as is known, there is no really effective way to desensitize again nylon. Just avoid wearing nylon clothing.

"RESISTANCE" TO POISON IVY

Q. Are some people naturally resistant to poison ivy?
A. Yes, people born in the Orient are much less likely to be bothered by poison ivy and poison oak than people born in this part of the world. You get ALL 3 — professional skill and care . . . prompt service . . . and reasonable prices in our prescription service.
