Psychiatrist Gives Mental Patients Psychiatry Lessons

By DELOS SMITH, UPI Science Editor. NEW YORK (UPI) — "Even today," said Dr. Henry C. Everett, "some medical practitioners tend to view themselves as an inner circle of wise men possessing secrets of great power and profundity." "Hence, such knowledge is not to be imparted to ordinary people, and especially not to patients, lest they should misunderstand, misuse or be confused by it."

That was his preamble to describing his experiment with mental patients at Mendota State hospital, Madison, Wis., where he is director of research. The experiment was to teach some psychiatry to the persons psychiatry was trying to benefit. "Psychiatry still retains some of its priestly trappings, perhaps to conceal self-doubt," he said in his report to a technical session of the American Psychiatric Association. "Rationalizations include the notion that psychiatric knowledge might somehow be overwhelmingly upsetting to a mental patient, or might tempt him to the sin of intellectual trespassing into the psychiatrist's field."

Portland NAACP Chapter Defended

Webb, president of the Portland chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, defended his organization today against what he called a "small reactionary group." He referred to a delegation of 12 Negroes which visited Mayor Terry Schunk at City Hall Monday and told him that the NAACP did not represent the majority of Negroes in Portland. The Negroes criticized its policies and Webb.
