

County OEA Unit Supports Ballot Measure on Tax

The Jackson county division of the Oregon Education association recently decided to support actively Ballot Measure No. 1, the new state tax bill, John Stewart, county OEA president, said Saturday.

"Passage of Measure 1 would ensure continuation of state services and education, as well as local education, at their present level during the remainder of the 1963-64 biennium. It would provide up to $60 million to balance the overall budget approved by the recent legislature.

"It would also provide lower real property taxes if state income during that period should exceed estimates. All state surplus in excess of the $10 million would be returned for local property tax relief," Stewart explained.

Income Replaced

The only way the lost income could be replaced would be by major new taxes requiring a special session of the legislature. Even if this occurred, additional expensive, time-consuming referral elections could be expected, the OEA county president said.

"A saving of the magnitude of $60 million hardly can be found, even after stripping many needed state services without cutting education which accounts for 60 per cent of the state general fund budget," Stewart continued.

"This, in turn, means higher local property taxes — much higher in some districts — to replace funds now coming from the state basic school support fund for local primary and secondary education," he added.

Of the $404 million total in the general budget, all except $170 million is for basic school support and higher education. If the funds budgeted for education are not touched it would mean approximately a 35 per cent cut in other state services, Stewart concluded.

Railway passenger cars average 72 feet in length.

Board Reaches No Decision on Taxes Said Delinquent

PHOENIX — The Phoenix school board did not arrive at any decision this week or take any particular action regarding Rogue Valley Manor's two-year tax delinquency, according to Phoenix School Superintendent Ernest James.

"We do realize that the manor has not paid its taxes for some time and refer any interested person to the Jackson county tax office for further information," James said.

It was noted that the manor has not paid taxes for the fiscal years of 1961 and 1962. Walter Higgins, administrator for the manor said Saturday he had no statement to make. Some litigation is pending in the northern part of the state as to whether such homes as the manor can be declared charitable, non-profit institutions and exempt from taxation, he said.

Letter Is Read

In other business, the superintendent read a letter from the state department of education pertaining to standardization of schools. It indicated that the administration and school board should be commended on their evaluation of the district's education program and the plans for remodeling and further building for the school plant.

The board discussed the creative writing program held last year in the Talent grade school for students showing exceptional ability in creative writing in the fourth and fifth grades.

Most of Thursday evening was spent checking the proposed plans for the new Talent school gymnasium and cafeteria. Bids
