ABERDEEN, Wash. (UPI) — A lumber barge loaded with waste sulphite pulp liquor sank in heavy seas Monday near Destruction Island.

The barge was the Island Cypress, being towed by the tug Sudbury II of Vancouver, B.C., according to officials of Rayonier Inc. for whom the shipment was consigned.

Heavy seas and 50 mile per hour winds were reported in the area.

The tug came into Grays Harbor for gear repair after the barge sank. There were no casualties.

Any Rumor of Ike's Candidacy Clearly Quelled in Constitution

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International

The whimsy now advanced that former President Eisenhower has asked former Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell whether he, Ike, is eligible to be elected vice president of the United States.

It is not suggested that Ike is much interested. But it is stated that he did ask Harry S. Truman got into the act in response to questions in New York. HST said that in his opinion a former president of the United States could seek the vice presidency but that it was a legal matter for the attorney general to decide.

All of this is disturbing to your correspondent's peace of mind to say nothing of the shattering impact of this silly business on the bright little minds of students who, about now, are contemplating the elements of a course called "civ-

Small Worlds Around Us

By LYNN M. WATKINS
(Register and Tribune Syndicate 1963)

Periwinkle Can't Decide Where He Wants To Live

There is a simple little flower commonly known as a periwinkle that grows along city streets and in vacant lots. It was introduced into the United States from far away Madagascar some few years ago, but has done so well it is now considered a weed in some sections; a weed with white or pink four-petaled flowers and bright green foliage.

There is also a periwinkle that is a mollusk and lives close to the sea, and is distributed along the entire eastern seaboard of America. It is also abundant in Europe.

This, the periwinkle that is a mollusk, is related to the clam and the oyster and thousands of others. It is headed landward, away from the sea-home. It is already climbing trees and weeds near the coast lines.

In England, people always knew the periwinkle mollusk as a "winkle shell." Its simple beauty was appreciated by describing it as a "pretty winkle," which was changed to periwinkle, a sensible modification. Besides, the shell creature that lives in the periwinkle shell has been a staple food in Europe for centuries. It is sold in markets and fish shops; even roasted on the streets and enjoyed as a simple sea-connection.

Mundane Life

Undoubtedly the periwinkle that inhabits the eastern shore of the U.S. came from Europe, as members of this family are pretty well scattered around the world. It seems to enjoy a mundane life in the cold waters of northern latitudes, as well as tropical, heated waters in the extreme south.

The periwinkle shell is snail-like in shape, about an inch and a half in height, and brown, gray or pale yellow, with rows of dark colored dots arranged in circles around the shell. Some are a rich, glossy black, with or without the characteristic specks and dots. The periwinkle is a true vegetarian, living entirely on plant food such as algae or other minute plants. For the securing of this food Nature equipped this mollusk with a long, rasp-like tongue called a radula which is twice as long as its body. It scrapes the tiny plants from tree trunks or rocks over which the mollusk crawls.

Two Environments

These mollusks are almost terrestrial in habit, spending their lives on mangrove trees, rocks, or weeds and remain a short distance always above the water. Mangrove limbs that grow above the high tide line are favorite grazing areas.

As the tide rises, inundating the mangrove roots and lower limbs, the periwinkles crawl higher. As the tide recedes they descend the tree trunks. They love the beach but they don't go in the water.

The unusual behavior of this shell to move away from the sea leads scientists to think it is turning its back to the ocean, to gradually become a land-dwelling mollusk. This transition may take thousands of years, but the periwinkle is in no particular hurry. It has all the time in the world. In the know by now that General Ike has sent Herb Brownell on a child's goose chase and that HST was talking through his hat. The shattering nature of all of this is that the students statesmen never had read the Constitution which both twice swore to preserve, protect and defend. Or, if they did read it, they didn't understand it.

Might Do It

It is possible that a lawyer could torture out of the language of the Constitution some kind of rule that a two-term president of the United States thereafter could be nominated and elected vice president. A lawyer might be able to do that — a Philadelphia lawyer, maybe, or a Harvard. But I'll lay you a dollar to a dime that Herb Brownell did not learn that kind of law at the Yale Law School.

If Ike and HST had read the Constitution, they could not have missed the concluding sentence of Article 12, proposed by Congress Dec. 12, 1903, and proclaimed adopted Sept. 25, 1904. That sentence reads: "But no person constitutionally ineligible to the office of president shall be eligible to that of vice president of the United States." Plain enough?

Bans Third Term

This sentence must be understood in the light of Article 22, effective Feb. 26, 1951, which forbade any person thereafter to be elected president more than twice. The third term amendment. It follows, then, that General Ike is constitutionally ineligible to the office of president and, therefore, is not eligible for election as vice president.

Of course Ike would dress up a stop-Kennedy ticket, even in second place, but the whole idea is balmy and should be filed in the 1900y bin.

However, we might get a new constitutional amendment requiring a candidate for president to prove he has read the U.S. Constitution before he is put in charge of preserving, protecting and defending same. Seems reasonable!

Four Men Appear In Circuit Court

Two men were sentenced, one had a trial date set and a presentencing report was ordered on a fourth in circuit court action Monday.

Paul Jerome Flower, Monterey Park, Calif., was sentenced to 2 1/2 years in the Oregon State Correctional Institution after his probation was revoked for violation of probation.

Original charge was burglary not in a dwelling involving the entering of the Beckman Antique House, Jacksonville, on May 2, 1961.

James Kenton Young, 22, of 140 Seventh st., Ashland, was sentenced to three years in the Oregon State penitentiary for violation of his probation. Original charges was uttering and publishing a false check.

A trial has been set for Jan. 20 in circuit court on Woodrow W. Edwards, Vancouver, Wash., charged with perjury. He was arraigned in circuit court yesterday and pleaded innocent. He is accused of making a false statement as to length of his Oregon residence during a divorce trial on June 4, 1962.

A presentencing report was ordered on Walton Charles Tillman, Butte Falls Star route, Eagle Point, who pleaded guilty to uttering and publishing a false check.
