Deke Slayton Quits Air Force For Civilian Job

HOUSTON (UPI) — Maj. Donald K. (Deke) Slayton, 39, whose "grossly irregular" heartbeat made him the only original U.S. Mercury astronaut never to make a space flight, has given up his Air Force career.

He will continue with the national space agency as a civilian. "Maj. Slayton feels that in a civilian capacity, he can better carry out his responsibilities for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) said. To avoid partiality of resignation from the Air Force that he felt that as a civilian, he can participate in selection of flight crews without the possibility of appearance of partiality towards any one branch of the service.

He asked that the resignation be made effective Nov. 20, giving proper time for processing of his records. Slayton will then be appointed a civilian astronaut and coordinator of astronaut affairs through civil service.

He will be the third civilian astronaut among America's first 16 chosen for space. The others are former civilian test pilots Neil Armstrong Jr. and Elliot See.

Sense of Permanency
"Being a civilian gives Slayton a sense of permanency," the NASA spokesman said. "It means that he will not just be assigned here as an Air Force officer, but will be here with us permanently."

All military astronauts are on loan to NASA from the various branches of the service. Slayton still hopes to participate in a manned spaceflight. His civilian status will neither hamper nor help him accomplish this, the NASA spokesman said.

Ironically, it was the Air Force medical board which passed Slayton for his original space flight. It was the civilian cardiologists who countermanded the Air Force decision.

In Slayton's opinion, his "grossly irregular" heart beat "isn't anything unhealthy. It's just like having one blue and one brown eye."

'Unloaded' Rifle Shot Kills Man

AL TAHOE, Calif (UPI) — A cook at a gambling casino was killed Tuesday by a rifle bullet two neighbor boys said was fired accidentally from a bedroom window.

John E. Robinson, 38, was killed instantly when a .30-.30 rifle bullet pierced his jaw as he stood on the front porch of a home next door to the home of one of the boys.

Deputies said the rifle was fired by Carl Harris, 18, State-line, who was visiting Larry Henderson, 17, Al Tahoe, at his home. Harris said he was operating the mechanism of the rifle in Henderson's bedroom when it fired, broke a bedroom window and struck Robinson 85 feet away. The boys said they didn't know the rifle was loaded. The victim's wife said Robinson was visiting the home of another cook, Robert Hatley, who was leaving the area. She said it was the first time Robinson had visited the Hatley home.

Christmas Project Appeal Is Made

An appeal to local service clubs interested in a Christmas project has been issued by Mrs. Harry Daudt urging them to consider collecting gifts for distribution to the more than 2,500 residents at Fairview Home in Salem.

The gifts, which would be for the mentally retarded persons of all ages, will be gathered by a special committee for wrapping and distribution. Mrs. Daudt said. Participation in this project, she pointed out, gives organizations an opportunity to help many individuals who may otherwise be forgotten.

Organizations and individuals interested in the project, and wishing more information are asked to contact Mrs. Daudt by telephoning 482-0853.
