

SOC Red Raiders Oppose Owls at Ashland Saturday

ASHLAND — This week's game will not be an easy one for the Southern Oregon Red Raiders, defending football champs of the Oregon Collegiate conference.

There are indications that is what Coach Al Akins has warned his Raiders.

The Ashlanders will be hosts to Oregon Technical Institute of Klamath Falls at the college's Fuller Field. Kickoff is billed for 8 p.m. It will be the second OCC fracas for each school.

SOC enters the fracas after beating Eastern Oregon. Portland State last week end trimmed OTI 26 to 7.

In discussion of the hassle Akins has remarked that, although the Owls have had a few "unfortunate breaks" this season, they are a young squad that is loaded with big men and not easy to play. He declared that this "darkhorse" club could come to life in this traditional skirmish and make a tough evening for the Raiders.

Glinses and Battle

Among the threats of the Owls are Mike Glinses and Bob Battle. Glinses has stepped into the Owl quarterback role after a great career at Crater High in Central Point. He has gained OCC back of the week laurels already this fall. Battle is a 227-pound fullback. He was junior college All-American in 1962 and has been running well this season for the Owls.

The tussle is being regarded as an "anything can happen" contest. It has its importance to the Raiders in maintaining pace in defense of their mantle. OTI will fight to remain in the titular running.

For Saturday's outing Akins has made a shift in his Raider backfield. Mike Hood will go at fullback and Dave Nord will be at right half. Nord is a transfer from Columbia Basin. Junior college and has been averaging 7.5 yards per carry for the Raiders. He has 30 points in scoring to tie for second honors among OCC players. Just one point ahead of him is his running mate Doug Olsen. Doug is left half for the Raiders.

Defensive coach John Buck has given his contingent 100 drills to prep them for the Owls. This unit has been improving and may give the Owls a load of trouble.

ON RED RAIDER FLANK — Denny Ellis, above, is an offensive end and does the punting for the Southern Oregon college football team which plays Oregon Tech Saturday in an Oregon Collegiate conference game. The tangle will be at 8 p.m. at Fuller Field in Ashland. Ellis, a 6-foot, 195-pound sophomore, was state A-2 prep champ in three field events.—(Dean Freeman photo)

Duden Scores Ace in Sahara

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Bob Duden of Portland, Ore., had a hole-in-one in the Sahara Thursday, but he still finished with a 74, seven strokes off the pace.

Duden aced the 169-yard 8th hole with a No. 4 iron.

Bob Rosburg of Portland shot a 72 in the opening round.

INTENDS TO FIGHT SEATTLE (UPI) — Fullback Charlie Browning, who replaced Junior Coffey when he was injured, ripped off a 50-yard touchdown in a Washington Husky drill Wednesday, showing he intends to fight for the starting job.

SPORTS

St. Louis, Green Bay In Crucial

By NORMAN MILLER
UPI Sports Writer

The champion Green Bay Packers, just about everybody's pre-season picks to succeed, and the upstart St. Louis Cardinals, who were favored by practically nobody, reach a crisis state in their National Football League goals Sunday. The NFL schedule-maker who arranged this inter-conference matchup last spring undoubtedly never realized just how important it would turn out.

Both the Packers and the Cardinals have a 4-1 record that puts them runner-up in each division behind the unbeaten Chicago Bears and Cleveland Browns.

Since the Bears and Browns figure to extend their records to 6-0 Sunday, a defeat by the Packers or Cards would leave either in a tough contending position two games behind the lead.

Packers Solid Favorites

The Packers are 9-point favorites for their first regular season visit to St. Louis. Oddly, in the five inter-conference games that have been played so far in the NFL Eastern Division clubs have won every one.

The Bears, Browns, New York Giants and Pittsburgh Steelers all were made one-sided favorites to win Sunday. The Bears were a whopping 17 points over the Forty Niners at San Francisco; the Browns 11 at home over the Philadelphia Eagles; the Giants 10 at home over the Dallas Cowboys, and the Steelers 10 at home over the Washington Redskins.

In Sunday's two other games, the Detroit Lions were 1-point favorites at home against the Baltimore Colts, and the Minnesota Vikings were picked by 6 points over the Rams at Los Angeles.

Crater's Fireballs At Yreka For Football This Evening

CENTRAL POINT — "Every-time we turn around it's a big one," says Coach Keith Johnson of the Crater High School football slate.

But, the Fireballs also have some business at hand tonight and they are not looking by the Miners of Yreka, Calif. Crater plays at Yreka at 8 p.m. and will be out to continue a fine season record against a longtime foe.

The Comets put forth a mighty effort against Medford last week. And, it did take something out of them. The task this week has been to get them back "up" again to go against the Miners.

Crater will be favored. But, Johnson did remark, "I hope the kids realize they have to play a good ball game and do a good job."

The Comets will be without the services of halfback Darryl Summerfield. He was kicked on the head and suffered a concussion in the Medford game. He's all right but is laying out of play this week.

In Summerfield's spot will be John Hall, a capable performer.

"Hall will do a good job," said Johnson, "but he does not have the size of Darryl."

The club yesterday went over films of last year's Yreka game, fences were set up on the chalk board and the Comets went through their pre-game drill.

Yreka and Crater have played no common rivals. However, the Comets had better showings against Lebanon and Sweet Home than Ashland, which last week beat the Miners 15-6.

For defense it may be Jorde and Armstrong, ends; Ryerson and Bush, tackles; Mel Johnson and Jack Peck or Don Gail, guards; Jim Pitts and Ray White, linebackers, and Hall, Chuck Taylor and Kiger, deep backs.

CRATER WING — Frank Armstrong, above, is a 172-pound end for the Crater High Comets who play a non-league football game at Yreka, Calif., this evening.

Woods, Water, Wildlife

By Hank DeVoss

Oregon hunters are reminded that they have one more week of deer hunting during the 1963 general season.

MIGHTY COLUMBIA
As in the past, the Columbia river was the big producer of salmon with almost 40,000 reported taken by anglers. Columbia river tributaries producing good catches include the Willamette with just over 16,000 salmon, the Clackamas with more than 3,600, the Deschutes with 1,850, and the McKenzie with just over 1,000.

ROGUE LOW

The offshore fishery produced the most salmon for anglers with almost 89,800 fish reported. Coos river and bay yielded just over 15,000 salmon, and the ever-popular Umpqua produced just over 16,200. The latter does not include the more than 6,300 salmon reported taken at Winchester bay. Despite the excellent run recorded on the Rogue river last year, the catch actually fell off from the preceding two years. Anglers here reported taking just under 9,500 salmon.

Other hot spots among coastal points include Yaquina with more than 5,800, and the Siuslaw with more than 5,700 reported.

LOCAL PHEASANTS

Opening day of pheasant season turned out to be just an average day of good hunting. A check by the game commission people showed an average of 1.3 birds per hunter. Some of the younger roosters that were taken showed up kind of puny in comparison with the more mature birds. Although no birds were planted before the opening day, the game commission is planning to release 65 birds per week in the management area.

ALL-TIME RECORD

Salmon and steelhead anglers during the calendar year of 1962 made an all-time record catch of these seagoing sport fish according to statistics recently completed by the game commission.

Catch records as reported by anglers through the salmon-steelhead punch cards show a total of 364,000 salmon and steelhead were taken by 221,364 anglers during 1962. The previous high was recorded in 1959 when anglers reported taking 342,583 salmon and steelhead from the waters of the state. The salmon catch tallied 237,811 fish, while steelhead anglers reported taking 126,288 fish. Both figures are new records for each species.

IRONHEADS
The big steelhead producer was also the Columbia river where anglers reported taking just over 26,600 Columbia river tributaries where steelhead anglers was tops include the Deschutes with more than 5,700 fish reported, the John Day with more than 3,700, and the Clackamas river and Eagle creek where the combined total reached just over 3,400 steelhead.

THE BEST

Best steelhead stream along the coast was the Rogue river with almost 12,700 taken by anglers in 1962. The Wilson river was next high with a take of just over 7,000 steelhead, an all-time high for this river, followed by the Nestucca river with almost 6,000 reported. The Applegate produced about 2,600, and the Illinois came up with some more than 1,000.

THE ANGLE'S LOG

The lakes are almost empty fishermen-who-are-now-hunters, and there's a lot of excellent fishing going to waste. The fall steelhead runs are coming up the rivers and finding little opposition. This means that the hunting may be too good or pretty bad.

Diamond Lake — Fishing has been terrific. Catches are averaging over 3 fish per angler with plenty of limits coming in. Most of the catches are yearling fish up to 11 inches long. The FF&W is the favorite lure, but flatfish will take a good share at times.

Howard Prairie — Also is terrific fishing. Almost everyone is catching a limit of bright sculpers 8 to 20 inches long. The same lures are doing the business.

Willow Lake — is still getting better. Kokanee to 10 inches and about 2 fish per angler is the limit.

Klamath River — The natives are still making whoopee over those black salmon in the upper river. Steelhead are between Horse creek and Happy Camp. Nightcrawlers will take a share. A small one.

Rogue River — Nothing is happening at the mouth. Steelhead are providing good sport in the Galice area and on down. Worms seem to be the favorite attracter.

TIE OPTIMIST'S CORNER

The spring chinook runs of this year seem to point out that the game commission has finally solved the problem of when and how to plant these fish so that they will return in good numbers. Let's hope for a repeat on the summer steelhead.

GOOD LUCK!

Bing Devine Executive Of Season

NEW YORK (UPI) — The 1963 major league baseball season of quiet heroes.

Sophisticated Sandy Koufax won National League pitcher of the year and major league comeback of the year honors — silent Walter Alton was voted the National League's manager of the year — and now urbane, retiring Vaughan (Bing) Devine is the United Press International's major league executive of the 1963 season.

Devine was voted the award today by 24 baseball experts representing every city in the majors.

He received 10 of the votes cast by the 24 experts with eight going to E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi of the Los Angeles Dodgers and two each to John Quinn of the Philadelphia Phillies, Ed Short of the Chicago White Sox and Jim Campbell of the Detroit Tigers.
