

Businessmen May Still Take Part In E-B Activities

There is still time for member business firms to register for participation in Education-Business day, Oct. 24, according to Medford Chamber of Commerce Manager Don McNeil.

On that day, a Thursday, businessmen will be guests of Medford educators for a half-day of visits to city schools.

This will be the "return visit," McNeil said, following Business-Education Day Sept. 5, when teachers and administrators were guests for tours of a number of Medford businesses.

Not A Prerequisite
McNeil stressed that participation by businessmen in the Sept. 5 activities is not a prerequisite for taking part in Education-Business Day on Oct. 24.

The chamber manager urged all interested firms to call the chamber office at 772-6293 as soon as possible so they can be scheduled for a visitation.

"This is our sixth annual program," McNeil said, "and is part of our continuing efforts to build a two-way street of communication between our business leaders and our educators, the two most important segments of a community."

"This is an opportunity that ought not to be missed for the businessman to see for himself what goes on in our public schools in Medford," McNeil added.

Adult Welding Class Scheduled at Crater

CENTRAL POINT—An adult welding class for beginning welders will start at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 22, in the vocational building at Crater High school, Central Point.

The course will include 10 classes to be three hours in length. All equipment and materials will be furnished with the exception of gloves and those persons planning to enroll are advised to purchase heavy canvas or leather gloves.

The course has been designed as a beginning welding course in electric (arc) welding and oxy-acetylene welding and cutting.

Persons interested in the course and wishing additional information are advised to contact Darrel Shepherd or Bill Jeskey at Crater Vocational Agriculture department at Crater High school, telephone 664-1241.

Enrollment in the class will be limited and must be done in advance of the first class.

200 Physicians To Attend Convention

PORTLAND—About 200 physicians specializing in the treatment of rheumatic diseases from the Pacific Northwest states and British Columbia are expected to attend the annual meeting of the Northwest Rheumatism Society and graduate symposium in Portland Oct. 24-26.

Guest speakers will include Dr. Hans Seyle, director and professor, Institute of Experimental Medicine and Surgery, University of Montreal, Canada; Dr. J. Stanley Stillman, chief of medicine, Robert B. Brigham hospital, and clinical associate in medicine, Harvard Medical School, Boston, and Dr. Thomas F. Dougherty, professor and head of the Department of Anatomy, College of Medicine, University of Utah, Salt Lake City.

Dr. John E. Stamwood, Lebanon, vice president of the Society, will be program chairman.

Lumbermen Plan To Attend Conference

Robert Kline, Kline Contractors, Inc., Medford, is among logging contractors who will participate in the program to be presented at the Sierra-Cascade Logging conference to be held in Sacramento next February, according to early planning reported last week.

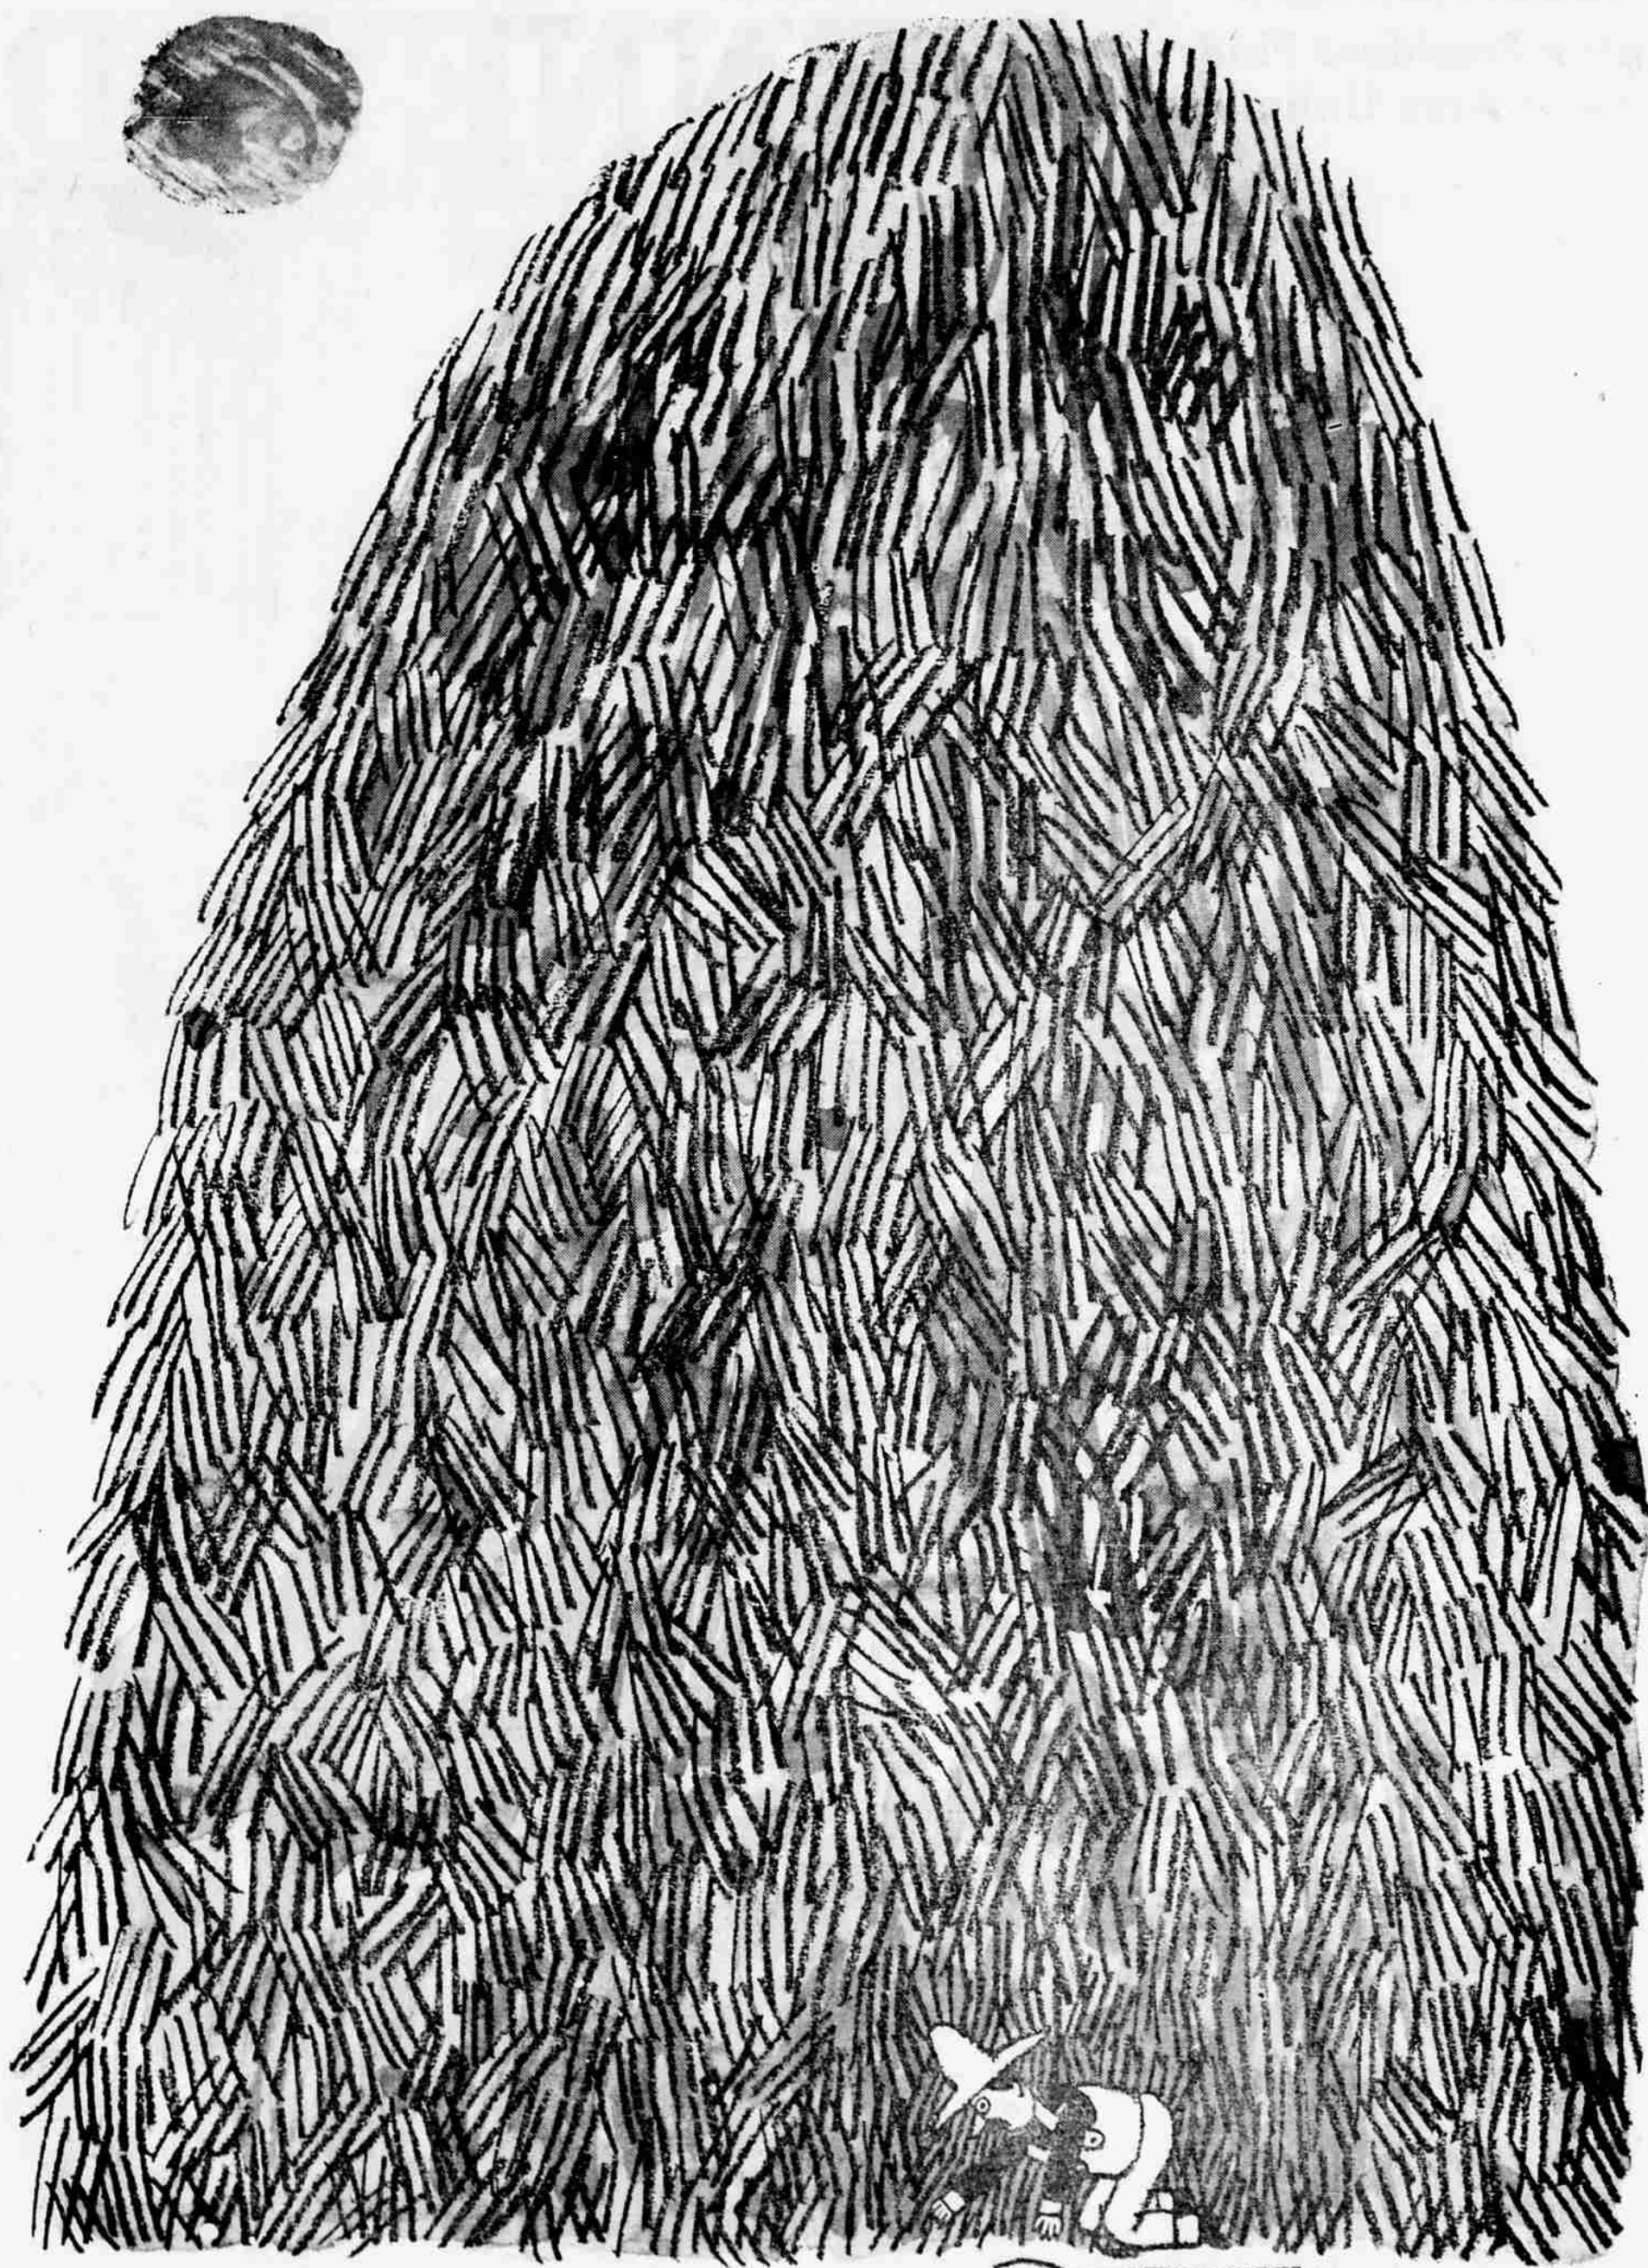

February 13-15 are dates of the conference, which each year draws a thousand or more loggers and associates from California and southern Oregon.

Kline's subject will be "High Lead Logging Operations."

George Flanagan of Elk Lumber company is a director of the logging conference. A. A. Lausmann's Kogap Lumber company orchestra, "Lausmann's Lousy Loggers," will play. This ensemble, composed of loggers of Oregon and California, has participated in many west coast logging conclaves.

like looking for someone who doesn't read newspapers

Very hard to find. 99 million people in almost 9 out of every 10 homes read newspapers. It's the most sought after, often bought, eagerly consumed, intensely depended upon product in the world. The reason is obvious. We can't do without it. The need to know about the news and events that touch and shape our lives is deep, intense, unending. And the need to know is now. Today. So it's not very hard to figure out why more advertising dollars are spent in daily newspapers than in TV, magazines, radio, and outdoor combined.
