Father and Son Talk

You ask me, Sonny,
If germs have wives?
Why bees eat honey
If it gives them hives?
Is mongoose the name
Of a Scottish goose?
And how do you tame
A hypotenuse?

I'm glad, my lad,
That your confidence
In your dear old dad
Is so immense.
For Papa is wise
As a holy lama.
So what he'd advise
Is—go ask Mama!

—Georgie Starbuck Galbraith

Every time a middle-aged neighbor lady walked her new puppy past the house, the boy would rush outside, stoop over the puppy, and receive something from the lady. Finally, the mother asked what it was all about, and the boy proudly displayed a shiny dime.

"I got a job," he said. "Mrs. Canfield's dog wants to bite little boys, so she hired me to pet him every day till he gets used to them."

"Either do something about that water," said the committee chairman, "or we will sue."

The next morning the contractor's truck pulled up to the water, and the driver explained to onlookers: "The boss decided to do something about that water—I'm going to unload a bunch of ducks right now!"

The little boy had attended Sunday school for the first time, and he returned home close to tears. "I'm never going again," he sobbed. "The first thing they did was march us into a dark basement and take our money away!"
