

Supreme Court Orders Rehearing on Genovese Conviction

Negro Leaders Ready for Showdown With City Officials in Birmingham

By United Press International
Negro leaders prepared today for a showdown with Birmingham, Ala., officials over demands that Negro police officers be hired and Louisiana authorities investigated the alleged beating of a Negro man who attempted to register as a voter.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., was scheduled to return to Birmingham today or Tuesday and confer with leaders in the Negro community there about leading more huge racial demonstrations.

He has vowed to lead the demonstrations if 25 Negro policemen are not hired by Tuesday. Mayor Albert Boutwell and the Birmingham city council have refused to meet the demands.

James A. Payne told authorities in Louisiana this weekend that three white men beat him and threatened to kill him last week shortly after he returned from an unsuccessful attempt to register as a voter at the St. Francisville, La., registrar's office.

"He said he had not reported the incident sooner because he was afraid."

Payne said he was hit in the face with a shotgun and the three whites fired two shots "betwixt my feet" and another toward his house.

In other weekend racial developments, twelve Negroes and whites who tried to enter "white-only" churches in Jackson, Miss., were arrested Sunday and charged with disrupting services. Four of those arrested were young white ministers from Illinois.

Negro civil rights organizations also held a "summit" conference in Atlanta this weekend in which they agreed on a broad program to make the Southern capital an "open city" by Nov. 5.

The conference agreed to a slate of goals which call for desegregation of all hotels, restaurants and other public accommodations.

Other developments:
Selma, Ala.: Negro leaders renewed their sagging drive to register Negro voters. Integration leader Fred L. Shuttlesworth is to arrive here Tuesday to bolster the drive.

Hartford, Conn.: Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said in a speech here Sunday that a Senate filibuster on civil rights would not have popular support.

Convictions of Co-Defendants Also Vacated

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court today ordered an appeals court rehearing of the narcotics conviction of Vito Genovese, recently identified as "boss of all bosses" of the Cosa Nostra crime cartel.

In a brief order vacating the 1959 convictions of Genovese and nine co-defendants, the high court directed the 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals to take another look at the case in light of a Supreme Court decision last term.

Today's action does not mean an automatic retrial for Genovese. Nor does it mean that he can now leave prison where he is serving a 15-year sentence.

Justice Department sources said that inasmuch as Genovese still is considered under indictment, he can be held by federal authorities. His attorneys could make application for bail but this would be subject to court consideration.

Scranton Tells Willingness To Accept 'Sincere' Draft for GOP Nomination

Debates Between Contenders Has Endorsement

By ROBERT M. ANDREWS
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania is willing to accept an "honest and sincere" draft for the 1964 Republican presidential or vice presidential nomination.

That was the position Scranton took Sunday in a television interview in which he said he was not interested in running for President or vice president.

But he said in reply to a question that he would accept either nomination if he was "honestly and sincerely drafted." He added that he believed such a draft was a thing of the past, however.

Scranton also endorsed the idea of debates between GOP presidential contenders and spoke out strongly in favor of a public accommodations provision in any new civil rights law.

Pope Paul Calls on Chinese To Restore Religious Freedom

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Paul VI, in a dramatic plea for co-existence between Catholicism and communism, Sunday called on Communist China to restore religious freedom to its people.

Addressing himself directly to government leaders in China, where the church has been totally suppressed, the Pope said that being a Catholic does not compromise a citizen's loyalty to his country.

"Belonging to the Church, rather than weakening it, strengthens and increases the value of the relationship of citizens with their country," he said, "and makes of them the guarantors and participants in her security . . . and her true progress."

The Pope spoke after he had consecrated 14 missionary bishops from around the world in St. Peter's Basilica. It was World Mission Day in the church, and the Pope said it grieved him there were no Chinese among the bishops he consecrated and no Chinese students attending the missionary college where he spoke.

The empty seats at the Ecumenical Council that should be filled by bishops from China, he added, are "like thorns of pain" to him.

The Pope's appeal, apparently aimed at extending the thaw in Vatican-Communist relations that has developed in the past year, was directed to a country where persecution of Catholics has been particularly severe since the Communist takeover in 1949.

Fourteen of the 23 Chinese bishops, including American missionary Bishop James E. Walsh, are reported to be in prison in
