Tito Claims Change In Outlook Needed

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI) — Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito said today the world stands at an atomic age crossroad which demands "a radical change in our outlook on international relations."

The Yugoslav president called upon the United Nations to "further elaborate and to codify the principles of coexistence."

"The Moscow agreement (on a partial nuclear test ban) and the other steps that have recently been taken are vivid evidence of the existing trends towards the overcoming of the division which has hitherto split the world into military and political groupings," Tito said in a state speech to the General Assembly.

Strong security measures were enforced to safeguard Tito whose entourage was plagued Monday night by incidents that stemmed from an anti-Tito demonstration outside the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel where the

The house was nearly half burned by the time the truck arrived about 11:30 o'clock this morning, it was reported. The state truck was standing by this afternoon to protect nearby buildings.

High Winds Lash Washington; Fire Threatens Town

Northern Oregon Receives Oaking

By United Press International
High winds with gusts up to 73 miles per hour smashed into the State of Washington Monday bringing damage on both sides of the Cascades including a range fire that for a time threatened the town of Chelan.

A power line felled by high winds in the Okanogan Valley started the range fire which burned over about 3,000 acres before it was brought under control early this morning. On the other side of the Cascades, the Coast Guard said it had its hands full as gale-force winds hit Puget Sound.

Teen-Agers Rescued
Two teenagers were rescued when the 18-foot sailboat they were trying to move to quieter waters capsized. Numerous other small craft were reported drifting loose and several log rafts were reported broken up near Seattle.

Power lines were down in the entire Puget Sound area. The winds blew out window panes in downtown Seattle and telephone service was interrupted in many communities. Several scattered power outages were reported but no major damage resulted from the storm.

Decreasing winds were forecast for today along with scattered showers in the Puget Sound area and in Eastern Washington.

Oregon also had blustery winds and rain Monday. Astoria, on the coast, had 1.7 inches while Portland and Salem had about half an inch.

The Weather Bureau said rains should decrease over northwest Oregon with only a few showers west of the Cascades on Wednesday.

Winds will be less than on Monday with gusts mostly 20 to 30 miles per hour in shower areas.

Several power outages were reported in northwest Oregon. A falling tree snapped a limb and resulted in about 1,400 customers of Portland General Electric Co. in the Molalla area being without power for about an hour Monday night.

Other outages were reported in the Woodburn, Dayton and West Salem areas. Falling tree limbs resulted in some individual service failures in Portland.

County Employees Object to Meters

The Jackson County Employees' association has gone on record opposing the extension this week of the one-hour parking zone around the courthouse.

The resolution to be submitted to the county court states that the association considers the extension of the one-hour parking unnecessary. Only part of the existing one-hour parking was being used prior to the extension, the letter stated. Immediate relief in the form of off-street parking was requested.

A spokesman for the association said the zone extension causes employees to park two or three blocks away from their offices and works a hardship particularly during stormy weather and at the noon hour.

Halfield's Plan Finds Agreement

SALEM (UPI) — Twenty-one of the 29 Republican House members have voiced agreement with Gov. Mark Hatfield's plan to cut basic school support, and re-pass the $12 million one-shot speedup of withholding tax collections.

House Minority Leader F. F. Montgomery, Eugene, said the GOP caucus Sunday did not decide whether the legislature or the governor should make the cuts in basic school aid.

Montgomery, who has been calling for a sales tax to be referred to the people, said the Republicans agreed with the Democrats that there should be no bills to increase taxes now, but that does not preclude consideration of a sales tax.

Mrs. Paul Selby To Head Auxiliaries

PORTLAND (UPI) — Mrs. Paul Selby of Medford Monday was elected president of the Oregon Association of Hospital Auxiliaries, meeting here.

The president-elect is Mrs. Morris Crothers, Salem. Other officers include Mrs. William A. Fisher, Portland, vice president, and Mrs. L. A. Klees, Grants Pass, secretary-treasurer.

READY FOR 'BIG LIFT' — Soldiers from the 2nd Armored Division at Fort Hood, Texas, line up at dawn at Bergstrom Air Force Base to board a C-130 as Operation Big Lift moves troops to Europe. (UPI)

16,000 Soldiers Launched On 'Big Lift' To Germany

Entire Armored Division Moving Across Atlantic

FT. HOOD, Tex. (UPI) — Sleek military jetliners and barrel-bellied transports streaked across the turbulent Atlantic from Texas to West Germany today in an aerial ferry for 16,000 G.I.s, including an entire armored division, that was working "like clockwork."

Eight hours after the first jet thundered off a runway at Bergstrom Air Force Base at Austin, Tex., there were 71 planes aloft moving the vanguard of troops from the 2nd Armored (Hell on Wheels) Division on their way to Frankfurt in "Operation Big Lift." It was the biggest transatlantic aerial armada of troops ever attempted.

Six C135 jet transports, four C130 prop-driven transports and 18 C124 Globemasters were in the vanguard. Platoons of planes were leaving every hour from four bases in Texas.

Each plane carried an average of 84 persons including 72 soldiers, 9 crewmembers and 3 newsmen.

"Very Well Pleased"
The start of the 72-hour operation "went like clockwork," a spokesman at Ft. Hood command headquarters said. "We are very well pleased with the way things are going right now, everything is on schedule," he said.

Jack Eaton Resigns Technician's Job

Jackson County Planning Technician Jack Eaton, Ashland, has resigned from his job, according to a letter received yesterday afternoon by the planning commission.

In his letter addressed to Planning Commission President C. O. Lovejoy, Eaton wrote: "Please accept my resignation as planning technician effective Nov. 1. My decision is determined by other interests."

Cabinet Approves Home's Decision

LONDON (UPI) — The new British cabinet today approved a decision by Prime Minister Lord Home to ask for a delay in the re-opening of Parliament until after he wages a Scottish by-election fight to win a House of Commons seat.

Lord Home met with his cabinet for the first time today after telling the nation in his first major statement as prime minister that he looked forward to Soviet Union in negotiating settlements of cold war issues.

The new prime minister, who has announced he will resign his earldom and run for a Commons seat in a Nov. 7 Scottish by-election, plans to ask Queen Elizabeth II to postpone the opening of Parliament scheduled for this month until after the vote. As a peer, he is now barred from conducting government business or defending government policies in the House of Commons.

Agent Clark will discuss the different types of sex crimes and criminals as well as the state laws governing sex crimes.

Pilot Program for Advisory Jury of Youth Set to Start

ASHLAND — An experimental program, in which a "jury" of high school and college students will advise Judge Richard C. Cottle of Ashland Municipal court on cases involving persons under 21, will get under way here in about two weeks.

Plans for the juvenile advisory jury were outlined by Judge Cottle at a dinner meeting last night at the Oak Knoll Country club. Ten of the 12 Ashland high school and Southern Oregon college students who will serve on the jury were introduced. Also present were faculty leaders from both institutions.

Padgham Studies Amendment Idea

Medford Businessman Henry F. Padgham Jr. is investigating procedures for initiating a Constitutional amendment measure, which he would hope to have appear on the November 1964 ballot.

Padgham has written to Howell Appling Jr., Oregon's secretary of state, for information about the steps necessary to have his amendment placed on the ballot.

The Padgham amendment would provide for a unicameral legislature (one house instead of the present two body, house and senate system), composed of 60 members who would be elected for two-year terms.

He proposed that seats be apportioned under the system currently in use.

The amendment also provides for an annual session of the legislature, for establishing the state's fiscal program on an annual basis (instead of the biennium) and for representatives to be elected on a non-partisan basis at each general election.

Three Killed in Oregon Accidents

By United Press International
Three persons lost their lives in traffic accidents in Oregon Monday.

Richard Peel, 39, Durango, Colo., was killed when his fully loaded logging truck crashed on a logging road about 30 miles west of Lakeview.

State police said Peel's truck went down a grade too fast, struck a bridge abutment and rolled over. He was working on a logging job in Southern Oregon and was living at Beatty.

Kenneth Beasley, 26, Florence, died when his car ploughed off a road and over a 40-foot embankment into the North Fork of the Siuslaw River near Florence.

Beasley's 22-year-old wife, Adrella, and small son, Kenneth, escaped. They were hospitalized for treatment of shock.

Lawrence Evans, 34, The Dalles, lost his life when his truck and trailer loaded with bakery goods went off Interstate 5 and plunged into Courtney Creek 17 miles south of Albany.

Tentative Welfare Budget Cuts Topic Of Local Meeting

The Jackson county public welfare commission this morning discussed possible tentative welfare budget cuts due to the defeat of the state tax measure, but took no action.

County Judge Earl M. Miller read a mimeographed letter from state Public Welfare Administrator Andrew Juras which was issued before the special election. A restudy of the budget situation since the election has resulted in tentative budget cuts not nearly as severe, according to word from the state public welfare commission yesterday.

County Judge Miller particularly objected to the proposed 10 per cent reduction of the allocation to nursing home patients as mentioned in the Oct. 8 letter. This will mean the county will have to make up the difference, he said.

Colorado Man Dies In County Jail

Warren Butler, 32, Fort Collins, Colo., died in the Jackson county jail early this morning, apparently from natural causes, the sheriff's department reported.

Dr. A. Erin Merkel, Jackson county public health officer, said this morning an autopsy would be performed by a local pathologist certified by the state's chief medical examiner.

Butler was returned here recently from the Washington state reformatory, Monroe, Wash., on a district court warrant charging him with uttering and publishing a forged check.

Butler was reported as ill yesterday morning. Dr. Merkel examined him and prescribed application of heat on his chest. Butler was given some medicine by another physician, when he continued to be ill later in the day.

Fellow prisoners summoned deputies shortly after midnight last night. An examining physician pronounced him dead.

Puppy Credited With Saving Mistress' Life

"BoBo," a puppy of mixed ancestry, less than five months old, purchased two weeks ago for $5 from the Humane Society, was credited with saving the life of his new mistress Monday.

Mrs. Helen Jo Theiss of Antelope rd. gives the small dog, part Chihuahua, full credit for her existence today.

Monday, Mrs. Theiss got her husband, Carl C. Theiss, off to work at 5:30 a.m., then went back to bed. She was awakened several times by the whining of the pup, but went back to sleep. Finally, the insistent animal came to her bed and whined more urgently, but Mrs. Theiss said she was sleepy and refused to get up. Then the pup began barking and howling. She listened and could hear something crackling above his voice. Perhaps just the wind, she thought, but almost simultaneously she smelled smoke. She rushed from her bed to find the living room wall on fire from an overheated stove pipe.

She grabbed the pup, called the fire department, and ran out of the house to move the car from the garage. The White City station of the Central Point Rural Fire department responded. The state forestry department also arrived at the scene, and the house was saved with minor damage from the flames. Mrs. Theiss said, "all because of BoBo."

Pricing Policies Believed Reason For Jury Action

Industry Officials Decline Comment

NEW YORK (UPI) — Steel prices and pricing policy were tossed back into the national spotlight by the barrage of subpoenas filed at most major steel companies by a federal grand jury here.

Industry observers indicated the grand jury action was taken in connection with the spate of price increases on a broad line of steel products this year, but suggested that the inquiry might broaden itself into an investigation of so-called "administered prices."

Companies Named
Prominent among the companies which reported Monday and today that they were subpoenaed were U.S. Steel Corp., Bethlehem Steel Corp., Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., Republic Steel Corp., Wheeling Steel Corp., Pittsburgh Steel Co., Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., National Steel Corp., Kaiser Steel Corp., and Arco Steel Corp.

Industry officials generally declined to discuss the situation, other than to confirm receipt of the subpoenas.

Approximately 75 per cent of all steel products have been affected by these piecemeal price increases and only a few weeks ago President Kennedy told a news conference he was watching "with concern" the recent round of increases put into effect by major producers.

The action apparently caught the steel makers by surprise and comment was withheld by all the companies except Republic where a spokesman said his company had been asked to present some records to the federal panel.

This latest legal move by the government came at a time when it appeared relations between the steel industry and the Kennedy administration had almost if not completely recovered from their clash in April, 1962.

At that time U.S. Steel ordered an across-the-board increase of $6 a ton in a market where the demand for steel had been on the decline.

Within two days the bulk of the nation's other major steel producers fell into line and raised their tonnage price a similar amount.

In a spectacular confrontation between the Kennedy administration and "big steel" the steel industry rescinded the price increase.
