Ducks Prepare For Mix With Huskies; OSU to Head East

CORVALLIS, Ore. (UPI)—Oregon State, fresh from a smashing win over Washington State, heads east for a game against tough Syracuse Saturday.

Coach Tommy Prothro said that the team would concentrate on defending against a rushing attack in drills this week. Prothro said that Syracuse is "big, strong and comes right at you."

Prothro said defensive halfback Jim Sinyard and sophomore guard Craig Cording were hurt against Washington State and were "doubtful" for the Syracuse game.

EUGENE, Ore. (UPI)—Oregon coach Len Casanova today praised sophomore center Dave Tobey for his play against Arizona last Saturday.

The Ducks coasted in 28-12 and Casanova said that "as far as I can tell, Tobey played a perfect game. He didn't miss one assignment."

Casanova said guard Ancer Haggerty and center Don Causy, both sophomores, are injured and may miss the Washington contest Saturday.

big fullback will have to carry the load if the Huskies are to upset the Ducks. Coffey was out the first four games with a broken foot and saw limited action against the Cards.

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—Coach Marv Levy said that he would start the same lineup Saturday against Southern California that played against San Jose State with the exception of the left tackle spot.

Sophomore Roger Foster was hurt against San Jose and will miss the Trojan battle because of a leg injury.

Levy Monday sent his charges through a two-hour non-contact scrimmage.

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The UCLA Bruins continued working on their running attack today.

Coach Bill Barnes spent most of Monday's practice session on backfield blocking as the Bruins prepared for Friday's game against undefeated, top-ranked Illinois.

Barnes said he was particularly pleased with halfback Carl Jones in Monday's blocking drill.

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The Trojans of Southern California donned full equipment today to begin working on pass defense for their game against California Saturday at Berkeley.

Coach John McKay said Monday's team hasn't faced a good passer all season, and said he was worried about the passing game of the Cal team.

Packers Lose Bart Starr For Indefinite Period

By GENE W. HINTZ

United Press International GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI)—The injury jinx, which has played havoc with other top contenders in earlier weeks, has finally struck the Green Bay Packers, robbing them of the man that makes the offense go, Bart Starr.

The Chicago Bears, Detroit Lions and Baltimore Colts have all lost front line players to injury in their effort to stop the Packers from grabbing a third successive National Football League crown.

Now Starr, who guided Green Bay to NFL titles in 1957 and 1958 and who led the league in passing last year, is lost for an indefinite period with a hairline fracture to a bone in his throwing hand.

An unconfirmed report said he could miss as much as six weeks.

The injury came just as the Packers made it into first place in the Western Division for the first time this season and just as they were heading into what is probably the roughest part of their 1963 schedule.

Green Bay meets the Colts, Lions and Bears away from home in three of their next six games. Only the Minnesota Vikings are scheduled for Green Bay, with Pittsburgh and San Francisco slated for Milwaukee appearances.

Starr was hurt in the third period of Sunday's 30-7 victory at St. Louis. The win was Green Bay's fifth in a row and tied the defending champs for the top spot with the Bears, upset leaders at San Francisco Sunday.

Starr was tackled by Cardinals cornerback Jimmy Hill on a running play and Hill was ejected for the game for slugging the Packers star in the face.

"I don't know what happened on the play when I hurt it," Starr said. "But it was the back of my hand and it was sore." Starr said there was little pain Monday.

Starr was the NFL passing leader last year with a percentage of 62.5 on 178 completions in 285 throws for 2,438 yards and 12 touchdowns.

Olson Still Sharp, Gets Decision Over Menno

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Maybe he's a little balder and a little slower than when king of the middleweights 10 years ago, but Carl (Bobo) Olson still can wreck you with those body punches.

Young Jose Menno of Argentina got the message right in the mid-section Monday night as Olson worked him over for a unanimous 10-round decision.

Olson, who shot today that he had earned a nod at Willie Pastrano's world light-heavyweight title, weighed 176 pounds.

"I'm ready to fight Pastrano in this city now for the light-heavyweight championship," Olson said afterwards in the dressing room. "The fight should bring in a gate of $100,000."

Olson had Menno's nose bleeding from the second round on and constantly distressed him with left hooks to the body.

In the eighth right-left-right combination to the head and the left combination to the middle strand of the ropes. But he struggled back and kept on trying to get in a good punch.

It was a landslide for Olson, who was fighting his 100th professional bout. Referee Frankie Carter scored the fight 7-2 in Bobo's favor, while judge Tony Bossich saw it 6-1 and judge Bob Mitchell 7-0.

Olson went to work on Menno's body in the second round, scoring with busy shots while using his elbows to block the Argentine's counter punches.

Menno, who had sought to box from long range, was a picture of bewilderment in the fifth round when Olson worked him over inside, then jarred

NEWS FOR OLDER-TRUCK OWNERS WHO NEED A NEW ONE NOW

These are things Chevrolet has developed since the last time you bought to give you more for your money again.

Double-wall construction. This feature of Chevrolet cabs and the Fleetside pickup truck has two advantages. Insulation and sound-deadening material is sandwiched between the two layers of steel in the cab to give you more comfort; in the body, the lower inner wall acts as a buffer against load damage, preserving the outer appearance of the truck.

The right engine. Chevrolet has been building truck engines since 1918 but never had it been in better position to give you the type and size you need for maximum efficiency. Today there are many different capacities of gasoline and diesel Chevrolet truck engines—four, six, V8's.

Stronger frames. Every conventional 1964 Chevrolet truck has a ladder-type frame. Formerly used on heavier trucks only, this type is more resilient, better able to give with the load and terrain, to stand up under stress. Its simple design also makes it easier to mount special bodies on the truck. Its riveted steel rails are stronger.

Much better ride in every size Chevrolet truck today than you used to. Instead of making one type of suspension system do for the whole truck line, we now have different types and combinations of springing designed for your particular needs.

Conventional half- and three-quarter-ton models have independent front suspension with variable rate coils in the rear. Variable rate coils do not "bottom out" as readily.

Medium and variable-rate leaf springs. This variable-rate leaf-type suspension automatically stiffens as the load increases—and vice versa. It loads a smoother, flatter ride regardless of load, a better handling truck.

Have you seen the new '64 El Camino pickup yet? We think it's the best looking commercial vehicle ever built.

In the medium- and heavy-duty area there are stakes, tilt cabs, low-cab-forward models and cab-and-chassis units including school bus bodies of up to 66-passenger capacity.

Dump truck operators now can order a Chevrolet tandem with either gasoline or diesel power.

Quality and value. Chevrolets today are a lot more truck than your money bought the last time, and yet the price tag is just about the same as 5 or 6 years ago. Call your Chevrolet dealer for information or for a demonstration.
