

Rules on Allotment Of School Support Funds Postponed

SALEM (UPI) — The Board of Education Tuesday postponed adoption of rules governing allotment of basic school funds to public schools providing part-time training for parochial and private school students.

But the board made it clear the regulations would be adopted, because there was no other choice.

The attorney general ruled recently that public schools should be reimbursed for parochial students enrolled on a part time basis, and that the public schools were required by law to accept such part-time students.

Issue at Cottage Grove
The issue was brought to life after a parochial school at Cottage Grove enrolled its seventh and eighth graders in the public school for half a day.

The Cottage Grove school asked the attorney general to rule on whether it had to accept the students, and if so, if it could get basic school funds for the parochial students' attendance.

Education Board Chairman Eugene Fisher of Elkton commented "this is an extremely sensitive subject throughout the United States today."

Board member Ronald Jones, Brooks, said "the situation is developing when private schools will start looking for state aid in this fashion, especially as a education costs increase."

Sees No Option
Public instruction Supt. Leon P. Minear pointed out "we have to accept the students. Its the law. We have no option."

James L. Turnbull, deputy superintendent, said as a matter of practice parochial students have been attending public schools on a part time basis for some time, but he added "I don't think the schools have been reimbursed for this in the past."

The formal adoption of regulations was postponed at the request of Tom Woods, Beaverton superintendent, and Russell Esvelt, Lake Oswego superintendent, who suggested the state's public school superintendents should discuss the issue before the state board took any action.

Enrollment at SOC Reaches 2,100 for New Term Record

ASHLAND — Fall term enrollment at Southern Oregon college has soared to a total in excess of 2,100 students, Mrs. Mabel W. Winston, registrar has announced.

"This is an all-time record for any term, topping last year's high of 1,856 by nearly 250 students."

New students, with an increase of 18.6 per cent, accounted for the largest gains, but the most encouraging aspect of the enrollment to college officials was the upswing in the number of old students returning to the campus.

"For the past five years our staff has been working on the problem of combatting the dropout rate which has been afflicting our American colleges and universities," President E. I. M. N. Stevenson said. "Indications are," he continued, "that we are beginning to succeed in the retention of such potential dropouts at SOC as our registrar has recorded an increase of 10.1 per cent in the number of returnees this fall."

Allowed to Remain
"On an experimental basis, we have allowed freshmen to remain on probation through their first year," he explained, "though we formerly dropped those in scholastic difficulties after the second term. Our research on the dropout problem disclosed that much of it was the result of trying to make the difficult adjustment from the high school to the college environment the first year. So far our success ratio tends to confirm this finding."

"Our counseling program has been geared to handle this problem through the institution of developmental reading, speech, and study clinics as well as by the utilization of sound individual counseling techniques," he added.

Academic Offerings
President Stevenson also pointed out that academic offerings at the college had contributed to the increase in student body members, citing the new four-year business degree, the degree program in general studies, and the continuing emphasis on the junior college function which SOC has long filled for the area.

"I cannot overlook, nor fail to give recognition to the high scholastic standards in force at SOC," Dr. Stevenson said. "Our faculty's excellent reputation has been a strong, determinant factor in our continuous growth."

Conference Seen On Military Bill
WASHINGTON (UPI)—A Senate-House conference loomed today to resolve the differences between the two versions of a $1.7 billion bill to authorize military construction projects inside and outside the United States.

The measure, which includes for the first time the cost of family housing for servicemen, was approved by the Senate Tuesday on voice vote. It totaled about $125 million less than the Pentagon had asked, but was $52 million more than the House approved.

The House, however, did not consider some $21 million worth of requests which were later sent to the Senate.

One of the differences in the two bills centered on the House's refusal to vote $22 million for a "Pulse" nuclear reactor at the Army's Aberdeen, Md., proving ground. The Senate approved the funds on the recommendation of its armed services committee.

The big bill authorized a wide variety of construction for operational and training bases and support facilities. The Army would get authorizations totaling about $200 million, the Navy $211 million and the Air Force $468 million.

VARIOUS WATER SAMPLES
OMAHA, Neb. (UPI) — The Naval Reserve Training Command has asked for a sampling of water from the Atlantic, Pacific, Great Lakes, Gulf and the Missouri River.

The Navy said the water would be used in mortar to seal the cornerstone of a new $800,000 training center.

How To Get Rid Of Husband

In his delightful book, I learned about Women from Them. (Pyramid Books) Dr. Virgil Ramon, writing with Isabella Taves, has a chapter on the miserable things that many a woman does to her husband. The doctor says that when someone asks him for a list of hints to wives on how to get rid of their husbands, he says: (1) humiliate him in front of other people, especially business associates, and strangers; (2) whenever he is polite and friendly with a woman, accuse him of having an affair with her; (3) keep checking up on him—phoning to see if he is where he said he would be; (4) punish him by refusing him sexual intercourse; (5) keep the home expenses so high he can't afford to play around outside; (6) don't make up quickly after a quarrel; sulk for days and make him suffer; (7) never be ready on time; always be late and make him fume and wait; (8) keep the children from showing much affection for him; keep warning them that they mustn't bother Daddy, because he is tried and cross; (9) downgrade him to friends; (10) and if you see indications he "wants out," trap him by becoming pregnant.

Dr. Damon says he could go on with many other helpful suggestions for women, but these are enough. As he says, after a life-time of listening to the troubles of women, he is still bewildered often by the way in which they act. Even when, as often happens, they really seem to want very much to keep their husband, they go about doing everything they can to make him miserable.

Depends on Wife

As Dr. Damon says, "Whether a marriage succeeds or fails depends on the wife in 99 per cent of cases. She can keep a house-

Ruptures in Woman

Women write to ask why, when I talk about ruptures I always talk about men. Don't women sometimes have ruptures? Yes, they do; but they cannot have the big type a man can get in his groin. Why? Because they have no spermatic cord, and it is the passage of the spermatic cord from the testicle up into the abdomen which makes a channel through the abdominal wall—a channel which, when dilated, permits one or more loops of bowel to come down to make a rupture.
