Negro Leaders Extend Deadline on Birmingham Ultimatum

King Gives No Date for Hiring Colored Police

BIRMINGMAM, Ala. (UPI) —Negro leaders, denying they had backed down from an ultimatum, settled back today and waited for Birmingham to integrate its police force within "a reasonable length of time."

If Negro policemen are not hired within this period, "we will have to demonstrate," integration leader Martin Luther King Jr., said Tuesday. But he did not set a deadline.

Two weeks ago, King gave the city until Tuesday to hire 25 Negro policemen or face a renewal of racial demonstrations that brought mass arrests last spring. The city council Tuesday rejected the demand, stating such employment is governed by civil service regulations which have no racial restrictions.

"I have no intention of trying to circumvent (civil service) laws for any reason or under any pressure," said Mayor Albert Boutwell.

The city council adopted a report by its Public Safety Committee calling King's demand "arrogant and unrealistic." The council flatly refused to hire Negro policemen "as a matter of special privilege."

King, after meeting more than five hours with other Negro leaders here, withdrew the demand.

"There is a strong indication (city officials) are going to hire Negro policemen soon," he said. "If they need a little face-saving way out, we will give them the opportunity by withdrawing our deadline."

Other racial developments:

CHICAGO—Almost a quarter-million Negro children boycotted schools Tuesday in a massive show of opposition to school segregation. Some of the demonstrators were nursery school toddlers ranging in age from two to five.

ATLANTA—The U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals Tuesday ordered an indefinite stay of Louisiana state court proceedings against the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) which is conducting a desegregation campaign in Clintoln, La. The order also stayed contempt proceedings against 26 CORE members charged with illegal picketing there.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — Student leaders at predominantly Negro Florida A&M College threatened mass protests unless the school reinstates two students it expelled for participating in boisterous racial demonstrations.

Senator Goldwater Favored To Win New Hampshire, California Primaries

Highly Placed Republicans See Crucial Victories

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Highly placed Republicans now class Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona as the favorite to win crucial presidential primary contests in New Hampshire and California.

In both states, Goldwater is expected to collide with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York. The New Hampshire primary March 10 is the nation's first. California will close out the presidential primary season June 2, six weeks before the GOP National Convention.

New Hampshire is regarded as a critical test for Rockefeller, who needs to make a good showing there to stay alive as a candidate for the presidential nomination.

Adapted To New Yorker

But while Goldwater is rated the favorite, uncommitted Republicans believe that the small state is territory well adapted to the intensive campaign the New Yorker is expected to conduct.

Although neither Goldwater nor Rockefeller is an announced candidate, both are viewed as active contenders for the nomination. An early announcement is expected from Rockefeller. Goldwater presumably passed the point of no return when he set up a committee headed by former Sen. William F. Knowland to advise him whether to enter the California primary. An adverse recommendation is deemed inconceivable.

Other Republican wheels have enlisted in the Rockefeller campaign, but none has the stature of Knowland, former Republican leader of the U.S. Senate.

GOP analysts now visualize a convention needing more than two ballots to nominate a presidential candidate. But they also concede that Goldwater could win on the first ballot after a string of primary victories comparable to those won by President Kennedy in 1960.

Favorite Sons Developing

Favorite son movements are developing for such Republican leaders as Govs. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, George Romney of Michigan and James A. Rhodes of Ohio, and Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin.

If no active candidate has a commanding lead by convention time, these favorite son delegations could deadlock the convention and create a demand for a compromise candidate.

Richard M. Nixon, the 1960 nominee, is regarded as an available but inactive possibility in case of a stalemate. He could be thrust into the Oregon primary May 18 against his will if the Oregon secretary of state feels Nixon is "recognized in national news media" as a candidate for the nomination.

Game Commission To Dispose of Land

PORTLAND (UPI) — The Oregon Game Commission Tuesday approved plans to dispose of 1,618 acres of surplus land.

Public agencies will be given the first chance to acquire the land, which is valued at $310,000. The land is located in various areas of the state with sizes ranging from five acres to 1,540 acres.

The commission will either exchange the land for other property or sell it.

Rockefeller in California on Political Jaunt

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller faced a busy round of conferences and public appearances today in his two-day political excursion in California.

Rockefeller is in San Francisco, site of the 1964 Republican National Convention, to address the League of California Cities. But he also has scheduled a formal news conference, meeting with area Republican leaders and a public reception.

Greeted by Supporters

The New York governor, considered a likely candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, was greeted by state GOP leaders and a small but partisan band of supporters Tuesday night when he arrived from Salt Lake City where he spoke at the University of Utah.

At Salt Lake City, Rockefeller attacked both President Kennedy and Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., another likely candidate for the GOP presidential nomination. Rockefeller said the President and Goldwater were committed to divergent "political extremes" which the nation "should not have to accept."

The governor said Goldwater would "commit the nation to withdrawal from Free World leadership" and would "roll back the clock on social gains and human progress."

All-Powerful Government

On the other hand, Rockefeller said, the Kennedy administration was moving in the "direction of an all-powerful federal government."

"We should not have to choose between those who would continue massive increases in federal deficit spending and those who would cut back federal expenditures by sacrificing programs essential to the economic and social well-being of the people," Rockefeller declared.

In an earlier press conference at Salt Lake City, the governor accused Kennedy of "fiscal irresponsibility" and said the present administration had led the nation on a "giant $22 billion deficit spending splurge."
