WORK SMARTER — NOT HARDER

By BERNICE STRAWN
Oregon State University

Do you think a time plan is impossible because you have too many emergencies every day? You're assuming that it must be rigid, unbending, and requires strict adherence to be any good.

A workable plan is adjustable to suit circumstances. It should allow time for unplanned activities.

A good plan cuts time loss due to procrastination, and procrastination saps emotional energy by adding dread and dislike to many jobs that might otherwise be whisked by.

Money saver! You can trim at least 10 per cent, maybe more, off your grocery bill by taking advantage of specials at the supermarket. Mrs. Velma Seat, OSU extension food marketing specialist, cites research to back up this claim. But to make a savings, these items on special must account for a fourth of your purchases, so it takes a bit of planning.

Mrs. Seat emphasizes that you have to be able to use these items once you buy them, or they're no bargain.

Watch out for walnut stains. Nuts and leaves are falling and it's easy to track wet leaves onto your carpet. If this happens, get a professional rug cleaner; you'll not be able to remove the stain yourself.

For stains on washable fabrics which can stand high heat, boil in sudsy water. If stain remains, soak about 5 minutes in diluted chlorine bleach. Wash and rinse all chlorine from the fabric.

Frozen freshly baked rolls lose only half as much freshness as rolls stored in a bread box for 24 hours, says Virginia Weiser, OSU nutritionist.

U. S. Department of Agriculture research to help commercial bakers can also be applied at home. Freshly baked rolls were wrapped in freezer paper soon after baking. Researchers found that defrosting without unwrapping in a warm place also helps maintain freshness.

Flea Market Readied; Decorations Are Stolen

The Army is echoing the sounds of hummers and saws this week, as Junior Service League members and their husbands construct booths and backgrounds for the International Flea Market, which opens Friday noon.

The calamities that accompany every enterprise of this magnitude are causing moans of anguish among league members. A shortage of the proper materials for booth construction, stolen decorations, and rummage that is not rummage, are recent problems.

Sunday evening a dismayed daughter searched through countless racks and boxes of rummage for her mother's summer clothing, which had been mistakenly collected by a league pick-up crew. The woman was one of many generous local donors who offered rummage for the sale. She had left the carton of out-of-season clothing near her donation of discarded articles, both had been eagerly carted off for marking. League members report, happily, that she retrieved the missing clothing, with the aid of a flashlight and perseverance.

Decorations Stolen
A worse plight is that of Mrs. Geogry Hornecker, chairman of the Christmas booth, who is reprasing a familiar plea. She has changed the usual "Keep the money and the wallet, but please return my papers" to "Keep the groceries, but please return my Christmas decorations." Mrs. Hornecker left her parked car unlocked last week while she shopped, and her hand-made Christmas bells were stolen with her groceries. The hours she labored to make the decorative bells mean more to her than the groceries, which were easily replaced.

The flea market will open on schedule, in spite of minor mishaps, with a taped "kick-off" message from Representative Robert Duncan.

The entertainment committee promises a varied show. Local entertainers are donating their talents, and will perform frequently during the three day benefit.

John Lusk will play the organ, as a soloist, and as accompanist for Mrs. Ervin B. Hogan, who will sing French songs in the Paris sidewalk cafe. Cesar Muzzioli will play his accordion, and a pair of high school boys, The Kinsmen, will sing folk songs to a banjo accompaniment. The two boys, John Eads and Bob Haworth, are members of Madrigal, the select singing group at Medford High School, and have adapted their vocal skills to the ~~stage~~ stage for folk-singing.

The members of a trio, Pat Selby, Chris Helman and Jacques Long, are also from Medford High School. They have appeared at local functions as The Checkmates.

Three Bands
Three bands will perform. The Chancellors, a group of Medford High school instrumentalists, will play dance music. The Ashland Elks Kiltie band, well known in this area, will play bagpipe music. The Firehouse Five, a quintet of Ashland men who drive an old fire-engine as a trademark, specialize in dixie-land jazz.

Colleen Hope will bring some of her students to perform international dances. The Hawaiian hula, the French can-can, and a Swedish dance are planned for different hours.

A student from Japan, Toshiko Funabashi, will wear her native costume as an international note. Toshiko is living with the Doyle Stockton family this year.

The best sources of entertainment for children will be the carnival, the burro ride, the puppet show, and the games and rides in Kiddieland. League members urge parents to bring their children.

Hours for the International Flea Market will be 12 noon to 9 p.m. Friday, 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Saturday, and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Encampment, Auxiliary To Meet on Thursday

Table Rock encampment and the Matriarchal auxiliary of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows will meet Thursday, October 24, at 8 p.m. in the lodge hall. During the business session the second nomination of officers will take place, and a social hour will follow.
