

Communist Nations Increasing Trade With South Africa Despite Troubles

By NEIL J. SMITH
 JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — Despite the widely proclaimed boycott against South Africa, the Afro-Asian and Communist nations are doing more trade with this country than ever before.
 South Africa is building up profitable two-way trade with countries — including Red China — which are among its greatest international enemies.
 Nations of the Afro-Asian and Communist blocs bought more than $19.6 million worth of South African goods in the first four months of 1963, according to figures released here. In return South Africa bought from them more than $35 million worth of goods, ranging from heavy machinery to glassware and from tea and coffee to lace.
 The hostile nations all subscribe publicly to the international movement to boycott South Africa economically, expel it from world bodies and close their skies to South African planes because of the government's apartheid policy of racial separation.
Imports Increase
 Yet their imports from South Africa increased by $4.48 million or 16 per cent, in the first third of 1963. Their export to South Africa dropped slightly, but only because Pakistani-business. Peking bought nothing from South Africa during 1962, but in the first four months of 1963 purchased $5.88 million worth of South African foodstuffs, and the tempo of trade is increasing.

 Hong Kong, where South Africa will shortly establish a trade commissioner's office, bought another $3.25 million worth of goods, much undoubtedly destined for the Chinese mainland.
China Imports Up
 At the same time South African imports from Communist China increased from $268,000 in 1962 to $1.48 million in the first third of this year.
 Red China evidently does not believe in mixing politics and General speaking South Africa's exports to other African states have dropped and today only two black-ruled territories — The Congo and Kenya — buy significant quantities of South African products. But South Africa, at least for the present, is still increasing its purchases from various black states.

Significant Increases
 In the first four months of 1963 imports from The Congo ($9.45 million), Tanganyika ($2.24 million) and Kenya ($1.4 million) all registered significant increases.
 The major reason for this is simply that it pays South Africa to buy badly-needed raw materials in nearby African states rather than in distant untapped markets. The government's policy has always been to encourage merchants to buy in the best available markets, and to maintain a scrupulously correct attitude toward its trading partners, regardless of their political attitudes toward South Africa.

 If the "hostile" bloc were to cut all trade ties with the republic, it would cost the country more to buy these imports elsewhere. But the net result likely would stimulate South African production.

Teller Tripped By Own Mistake

DETROIT (UPI) — John G. Adams, a bank teller, made one mistake in his switching scheme which netted him more than $2,000 in the last 15 months.

Adams, 29, switched pennies for dimes and nickels for quarters in a money bag kept in the vault of a branch of the National Bank of Detroit.

He told Federal Bureau of Investigation agents that he had been pulling his switching act since August, 1962 and his mistake was made when he forgot which bags he was switching.

His mistake was compounded when he handed another teller a bag which was supposed to contain $500 in pennies, but which had only $45 in pennies.

Adams said he kept the weights of the bags within four pounds of their true weights in case bank examiners became suspicious.

Adams pleaded guilty Wednesday to the charge of embezzlement before federal Judge Wade H. McCree, Jr. He was released on $1,000 personal bond for a report from the probation department. It found guilty. Adams could receive five years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

Cooks, Stewards To Get Penalty Pay

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Cooks and stewards on West Coast ships will get $1.05 a year penalty pay in addition to their regular wages for all work at sea on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, according to an agreement reached here by the Marine Cooks & Stewards Union and Pacific Maritime Association.

The agreement makes the extra pay retroactive to Oct. 1, 1962, and is an application of a 7.5 per cent increase for each of the maritime unions.
