Ambassador To U.N. Struck by Woman's Placard

Police Handcuff Aroused Student

DALLAS (UPI) — Adlai Stevenson said today he regretted the "violent behavior" of a militant mob that booed, beat and spat upon him Thursday night. The U. S. ambassador to the United Nations had just made a speech on world peace.

Stevenson said the standing ovation he received for his United Nations Day celebration speech was "one of the most enthusiastic I have received anywhere in the world."

"I regret the violent behavior of a few and I realize it was only a few," he said. "Such behavior after a speech on peace gives the Soviets and the rest of the world an unfortunate impression."

Stevenson was struck by a placard that stated: "Get the U. N. out of the U. S." Mrs. Cora Fredrickson was removed from the crowd, but not arrested. Mrs. Fredrickson, 47, said she did not deliberately strike Stevenson, but was pushed in by the crowd.

Robert Edward Hatfield, 22, rushed out of the jeering crowd outside Dallas Memorial Auditorium and spat on Stevenson. He also spat on a police officer who attempted to arrest him.

Hatfield, a student at North Texas State University at Denton, Tex., had to be wrestled to the ground and handcuffed by officers. He was charged today with aggravated assault on a police officer.

Outnumbered police had to force their way through a crowd of 70 demonstrators to lead Stevenson to a limousine.

Police posted a guard at his hotel suite and escorted him to his plane today. Stevenson left Dallas for Los Angeles and another speech.

Stevenson said the demonstrators Thursday night were "people who are guided by fear." Pickap 5th pgh: "It was

Small Power Draft Stalled by Soviets

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI) — A new small-power draft resolution to ban all nuclear tests was stalled today by Soviet foot dragging.

Informed sources said the eight non-aligned countries sponsoring the resolution were withholding submission of the measure in hopes of achieving an advance consensus of the nuclear powers.

These sources said the Soviet Union had not yet agreed to accept the resolution as prepared. The United States, they said, agreed to the measure in principle but was holding off a definite commitment until the Soviet position is declared.

Action in the General Assembly today was confined to an afternoon speech by Bolivia's President Victor Paz Estenssoro.

Rusk Arrives for West German Talks

BONN, Germany (UPI) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk arrived today for a series of talks with West German officials expected to center on their concern that U. S. troop strength here will be cut because of the success of a division-size airlift.

Rusk appeared exasperated when asked about the possibility that troop withdrawals would follow Operation Big Lift, which Thursday completed the movement of more than 15,000 troops from Texas to bases in Germany.

"With Big Lift, there is more military power in Germany today than Germany has ever had in history," he said. "Let it go at that until Sunday."

Aides said Rusk would devote about a third of a speech in Frankfurt Sunday to the question of the U. S. troop commitment in Europe and the matching defense commitment by other members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO).

Khrushchev Condemns Cuba Economic Blockade

MOSCOW (UPI) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev tonight condemned the U. S. economic blockade of Cuba as an attempt to take away the "fruits of newly acquired independence."

The Soviet leader, speaking at a Kremlin reception in honor of visiting Nepalese Premier Dr. Tulsī Giri, did not mention Cuba or America by name. But there was little doubt among Western diplomats present as to what Khrushchev had in mind.

He made the remark in the context of an attack on Western "imperialism" and "neocolonialism" and praise for Nepal's policy of nonalignment.

$1.8 Million Cut Ordered In Public Welfare Budget

SERIOUS TROUBLE Seen Ahead if Costs Continue

Payment for Drugs On Pro-Rata Basis

SALEM (UPI) — The Public Welfare Commission today slashed the general assistance program which has zoomed $243,071 over budget in the past three months, and ordered a $1.8 million cutback in the two-year budget because of last week's tax election defeat.

The general assistance program, over budget $49,164 for September alone, and spiraling medical costs forced commissioners to admit there may be serious budget problems ahead—in addition to those resulting from the defeat of the tax measure.

Payments for drugs for welfare recipients were ordered placed on a pro-rata basis because this item was $41,847 over budget for the first three months of the biennium.

Under the pro-rata system, the commission will pay the full drug billings if they do not exceed the budget allotment, but pro-rated reductions will be made arbitrarily in the future when drug billings exceed the amount budgeted.

Also over budget by $74,359 for the past three months are old age assistance medical payments.

"We may be headed for trouble. Frankly we are going to have to watch this," Welfare Administrator Andrew Juras said.

In addition, Juras noted nursing home costs were "steadily increasing," and were $71,681 over budget for the past three months.

Juras warned serious budget problems could result in the nursing home budgets if state hospitals, as a result of cutbacks, began transferring inmates to nursing homes.

Juras said increased migration of people from California were increasing the general assistance costs.

The commission voted to put austerity program cuts totaling $4.5 million into effect Nov. 1. Of this amount, $1.8 million is from the state's general fund, and the rest matching funds—about $2 million from the federal government, and $612,000 from counties.

Cuts outlined under the austerity program eliminate 54 now vacant positions, and force a delay in filling nine others.

Other Cuts Listed
Other major cutbacks:
—Five per cent reduction in services and supplies.
—Eliminate $5 increase in nursing home rates.
—Eliminate 10 per cent increase in physicians allotment, and four per cent increase in hospital allotment.

—Reduce personal incidental and clothing allowances to persons in nursing homes and homes for the aged by about 25 per cent.
—Reduce funeral and burial allowances by 10 per cent.
—Restrict medical aid to the aged enrollments to 7,500.

There are now 6,169 persons enrolled in MAA, and commissioners said the 7,500 figure was for budget purposes alone. If more people enroll, it will mean that benefits will be reduced.

Physicians services and hospital allowances have been on a pro-rata payment basis for years. A delegation representing hospitals appeared at today's meeting to object to this pro-rata payment method.

Hurricane Ginny Aims Winds at Carolina Coast

Thousands Flee To Higher Ground

CHARLESTON, S. C. (UPI) — Hurricane Ginny aimed its 100 mile an hour winds at the Carolinas coastline today, forcing thousands to flee to higher grounds.

A noon EDT advisory located Ginny 65 miles southeast of Charleston and the weather bureau said the center of the storm likely would move inland tonight between Myrtle Beach, S. C. and Wilmington, N. C.

Warning Heeded
Police with loudspeakers toured the low-lying ocean areas around Charleston, urging residents to get out and by noon. Thousands heeded the warning, packed a few belongings, and headed for inland shelters.

A siren screamed steadily at Folly Beach, jutting out into the Atlantic just south of Charleston.

"This means get the hell out," a Civil Defense spokesman said.

Tides Above Normal
Gale force winds and pounding surf hit all along the coastline.

Extensive flooding with tides up 8 feet above normal was forecast for portions of the South Carolina coast.

Ginny, the season's seventh hurricane, sprang up off the North Carolina coast Sunday night, backtracked slowly to the south and menaced the Florida mainland before turning again to threaten the Carolinas.

Bank Plans New Branch in Medford

U. S. National Bank has received approval from federal authorities in Washington, D.C., for the establishment of a new branch in the south Medford area, President E. J. Kolar, Portland, reported Thursday.

The bank is acquiring property located in the 900 block of South Central Ave., according to Kolar.

The proposed site is a 140 by 200-foot area between South Central Ave. and South Riverside Ave. This brings to three the total number of U. S. banking offices in the Medford area with branches presently serving downtown and north Medford.

Kolar said the bank was establishing the new office in south Medford to provide the rapidly growing area with more conveniently located banking services. Construction of the new branch will begin as soon as final plans are drawn.

U. S. National Bank operates 92 banking offices throughout Oregon with three additional offices either in the planning or construction stage.

Debate Slated at Ecumenical Council

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — A strong plea for all Christians to lead holy lives was scheduled for debate today at the Ecumenical Council.

The council fathers took up the fourth — and possibly final — chapter of a long theological document about the nature of the church, which has been under consideration since this session opened Sept. 29.

The chapter deals with the "Vocation to Sanctity" — the call to holiness — which is addressed to everyone who professes to be a follower of Jesus Christ.

It says that priests, bishops and members of religious orders are under an especially heavy obligation to lead saintly lives which will inspire others.

Oregon Telephone Projects Approved

SEATTLE (UPI) — Directors of Pacific Northwest Bell Telephone Co. approved Oregon construction projects costing $1,257,700 at a meeting here Thursday.

The largest item was $731,000 for local switching, long distance carrier and PBX equipment additions in Portland.

Also approved was a $219,000 addition to the Oregon portion of the major long distance route between Portland and Sacramento, Calif. About $42,500 was allocated for central office equipment at Roseburg and $22,000 for terminal equipment on the Eugene-Junction City route.

Divided Viet Nam Governments May Hold Truce Talks

One of the immediate effects of any arrangement between the Saigon and Hanoi regimes would be to restore economic links and permit the flow of food from the fertile South to relatively unproductive North Viet Nam.

The reports of truce moves were viewed with caution in Western diplomatic quarters, in the absence of authoritative confirmation.

Communist sources, although not confirming the reports, said such a development would "make sense" in terms of stated Communist policy that settlements should be sought by the regimes of the divided portions of a country. This is also the Communist position in relation to East and West Germany.

Partitioned in 1954
Viet Nam, formerly part of French Indochina, was partitioned at the 1954 Far East conference in Geneva. France, which had suffered military losses capped by the fall of the stronghold of Dien Bien Phu to Ho Chi Minh's forces earlier that year, turned North Viet Nam over to the Communists and South Viet Nam to the regime of which Diem was prime minister.

The United States did not sign the eight-nation Geneva accord, which prohibited the introduction of foreign troops into Viet Nam. An estimated 16,500 Americans are currently aiding the South Vietnamese government in its battle against Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

Need for Parking Zone Is Explained

The Jackson County Court sent a letter to Howard Wood, president of the Jackson County Employees' Association today explaining the need for extending the one-hour parking zone around the courthouse and asking the employees' cooperation.

There is no intent to work a hardship on the employees, but courthouse parking is becoming more acute each month for those using the courthouse, the county court explained.

The County Court plans a parking lot for employees' cars in the near future, and requests that the employees reconsider their petition, the letter stated.

Pilot Error Cause Of Miller Crash

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Civil Aeronautics Board today said the "probable cause" of a light aircraft accident last year that killed a California congressman was pilot error.

Rep. Clem Miller, D-Calif., and two others — including the pilot — died in the crash Oct. 7, 1962 near Eureka, Calif.

The CAB reported that the pilot, George W. Head, 41, made "improper flight preparations." In addition, the CAB said, he "failed to properly determine his position" in bad weather and as a result calculated that the plane was higher than it actually was in the air.

Storm-Tossed Ship Reaches Port With Ten Aboard

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (UPI) — Ten bearded, bleary-eyed sailors, some weak from seasickness and a diet of peanut butter, pulled into port here today after five days of helpless buffeting aboard a disabled ship in the hurricane-whipped Atlantic.

The trip was tiring, they said, but they were not scared.

"After we rode out the first night we got confidence and from then on we weren't worried at all," said Chief Warrant Officer Walter F. Ganey of Norfolk, commander of the decommissioned destroyer USS Fogg which broke away from a tow vessel last Saturday.

He said the ship, which was on its way to a mothball fleet in Orange, Texas, when its tow line parted about 60 miles off the North Carolina coast was a tight one. The only leakage that developed during the battering by 40-foot waves was in a forward compartment. This was promptly sealed off.

Called "Tough Fishing"
"It was choppy out there all right," the 49-year-old veteran sailor told newsmen shortly before sitting down with the nine others to their first warm meal in five days. "You might call it tough fishing."

Except for a brief period when the Coast Guard cutter Chilula was attempting to attach a towline to the drifting ship Tuesday, none of the crew ventured on deck.

"We didn't get any sleep either," said Boatwain's Mate F. G. Renker of Chickamauga, Ga. "How could you when you had to fight all the time just to stay in the bunk?"

The crew spent most of the time in the disabled ship's wardrobe, seated in chairs which slid from one side of the room to the other as the 306-foot ship rolled as much as 50 degrees.
