Debris Spotted In Atlantic Ocean

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (UPI)—A Coast Guard cutter today steamed toward some debris floating in the Atlantic to determine if it held any clues to the fate of the tug Meitowax, missing eight days with a crew of four aboard.

A Coast Guard pilot reported sighting the debris about 100 miles east of Cape Henry, Va., Sunday and the Coast Guard dispatched the Cherokee to investigate.

The Meitowax, a 110-foot vessel, was last heard from Oct. 20 when it was located about 50 miles north of Norfolk in the general area of the storm that grew into Hurricane Ginny. The craft was en route from New York to Charleston, S. C., at the time.

The tug, owned by L. W. Bicaise of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., was due to reach Charleston last Tuesday.

Senator Denies Having Proof Of Profumo-Type Scandal

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., said today he has nothing to "prove or disprove" reports of a Profumo-like story of a German beauty's relations with prominent Washington figures.

Williams said in a statement that the reports about activities of the West German woman, who was returned home after an FBI investigation, were not among the incidents he is to discuss before the Senate Rules Committee in a closed session Tuesday.

The committee is investigating outside activities of Senate employees, primarily the affairs of former Senate Democratic Secretary Robert G. (Bobby) Baker.

Williams referred specifically to a copyrighted story about the German woman in Sunday's

Des Moines (Iowa) Register. Williams said the story "did not originate from my office, and whether it is true or false is something for which I cannot answer and for which the writer will have to assume the full responsibility." He added in his statement:

"There is nothing in my files which will either prove or disprove the story—nor was this one of the subjects on the agenda to be discussed at my meeting with the Senate Rules Committee tomorrow."

The party girl was described as the 27-year-old brunette wife of a West German army sergeant who had been assigned to the German military mission here.

The woman, called a "ravishing beauty" by an embassy spokesman, was whisked back to Germany with her husband on Aug. 21 at the urging of the FBI, which had investigated her behavior.

She attracted the attention of the FBI because of the expensive clothes she wore and the high standard of living she and her husband maintained in the country club section of nearby Arlington, Va.

'A' Burned on Front Lawn at Medford HS

Unknown persons burned an "A" on the front lawn of Medford High School shortly after midnight last night, according to city police.

About three square feet of grass were burned, officers said. Both the police and fire department investigated the incident.

Operation Kept Secret To Quiet European Fears

By CHALES W. CORDDRY
United Press International FRANKFURT, Germany.

(UPI)—The United States shipped home 1,500 combat troops on return flights of Operation Big Lift planes but kept the movement secret to avoid arousing Europeans' concern, it was learned today.

Big Lift, which brought more than 15,000 combat troops from bases in Texas to Germany for maneuvers, caused fears here that the number of U.S. troops permanently stationed in Europe would be cut.

Normal Rotation

The 1,500-man battle group was being returned to the United States in a normal rotation move and its withdrawal had nothing to do with reducing the strength of the six U.S. divisions here.

But Washington officials, currently seeking to counteract suspicion in Europe that U. S. combat power here may be reduced, were reported to have feared the rotation move would be misunderstood.

No Announcement Allowed

Strenuous efforts were made to divert attention from the Kansas outfit's return after six months' temporary duty and no announcement was allowed.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk gave additional reassurances that no cuts were contemplated in U. S. strength in Europe in a speech here Sunday dedicating a memorial to soldier-statesman Gen. George C. Marshall.

"We have six divisions in Germany," he said. "We intend to maintain these divisions here as long as there is need for them—and under present circumstances there is no doubt that they will continue to be needed—and they are backed by nuclear forces of almost unimaginable power."

Integrationists on March In Wichita, Cincinnati

School Board To Hear Grievances In New Orleans

By United Press International
Thousands of persons marched in Wichita, Kan., and Cincinnati Sunday to back desegregation demands and integration leaders in New Orleans hoped for a similar show of force today when they present Negro grievances to the school board.

The Negro Parent-Teacher Association of New Orleans is scheduled to meet tonight with the Orleans Parish school board and present a 17-page petition asking for desegregation of all elementary schools.

The Rev. Avery C. Alexander has issued a call for 10,000 Negroes to show up at the meeting in a show of support for the broadened desegregation.

Assured by Mayor

The Wichita march was to protest alleged housing discrimination. About 3,000 whites and Negroes marched a half-mile to city hall where they got assurances from Mayor Gerald Byrd of "careful consideration to your proposal for a fair housing ordinance."

The march in Cincinnati was larger. Negro leaders estimated about 30,000 persons turned out for the four-hour demonstration, but police officials put the figure at 16,000. The marchers were protesting discrimination against the Negro in housing and employment.

Trenton, N.J., was the site of another massive civil rights march during the weekend. About 5,000 persons converged on the state capitol Saturday to emphasize their demands for stronger action by the state on civil rights matters.

Drill Rig Gnaws Earth To Reach Trapped Miners

PEINE, Germany (UPI)—A giant drill rig gnawed the rocky earth beneath a north German beet field today in an attempt to rescue three men trapped since Thursday 262 feet down in a flooded iron mine.

In the murky underground cavern, the three miners played cards or joked with the rescue crews over a microphone lowered to them Sunday.

"You poor chaps, I guess you've got to work night shifts," one told rescue officials. A rescuer sent word that "we had the season's first frost during the night and it's also pretty foggy."

"We also have some fog down here, but no frost. It's sort of cool, though," came back the reply.

Entombed Since Thursday

The three men, in a pocket of high pressure air that has held back the flood waters, have been entombed since 8 p.m. Thursday.

The Ilesder Huette Mining Co., owners of the Mathilde Mine four miles south of here at Lengede-Broistedt, said 39 or perhaps 40 miners died when a huge sedimentation basin burst and 19 million gallons of sludge and water poured down into the shafts and tunnels.

Seventy-nine of the 129 men below escaped during the first few hours, scrambling up fast-flooding ventilation tunnels and climbing rope ladders to the surface.

Rescue workers Friday night saved another seven men in a cut-off tunnel after waters receded. A rescue team reached the marooned men on a raft.
