Women of Unity Hear Talk on United Nations

"United Nations or Nationalism" was the subject Mrs. Harlan P. Bosworth Jr. spoke on to the Women of Unity last Friday noon at the Unity church. Mrs. Bosworth and her husband have devoted much time to the cause of the United Nations since its organization and she is a past president of the Jackson County Chapter, Oregon United Nations association. Recently she attended the opening sessions at UN headquarters in New York City.

She opened her talk by paying tribute to Dag Hammarskjold and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, and quoted a statement made by Mrs. Roosevelt in Portland just six months before her death. "We have a great responsibility because we lead the non-communist world, and what we are is tremendously important in the world today," Mrs. Bosworth added that "what we do throughout our country, comes from what we are as individuals, and what we think. The important thing is that we have the obligation to lead."

Extend Freedom
Mrs. Bosworth said the United Nation's appealing to women as a united family of nations, and that the political freedom we have in America, we should want to extend to other nations. She emphasized "extending" it but not "imposing" it, and suggested it be extended in a democratic way.

In speaking of economic and cultural freedom, Mrs. Bosworth suggested that more languages be taught and said, "the more we trade with these countries, the more we further freedom. We must develop the best in ourselves, so that we can achieve the best and meet the challenge in the world. Our world has shrunk to such a small size that what one country does greatly affects the other countries."

She closed her talk with a statement made by President Eisenhower in his second inaugural address: "We are accordingly pledged to honor, and to strive to fortify the authority of the United Nations, for in that body rests the best hope of our age for the assertion of that law, by which all nations may live in dignity."

Mrs. Bosworth was presented a gift from the Women of Unity. Mrs. Robert Mackay, accompanied by Miss Edna Dougherty, Ashland, sang two numbers.

Important Days
Mrs. Clay M. Lee, program chairman, spoke on the important days in October, placing emphasis on October 23, which has been observed as United States Day. Mrs. Edgar N. Terrill, Talent, president of the group, conducted a business session. Mrs. Terrill reminded the members of the Unity Harvest Festival to be held Saturday, November 2, in the Phythian hall, Fifth and Grape streets.

The Rev. Katharine Bosworth gave the devotionals. She announced that Ernest Wilson, Los Angeles, well known Unity minister and lecturer, will speak in the Unity church, November 1, at 8 p.m.

The luncheon honored the two past presidents of the group, Mrs. John Baldigan, Seattle, and Mrs. Wilbur E. Howell, Medford. Mrs. Baldigan was unable to attend. Mrs. Howell was presented a corsage and a Unity pin, by the Rev. Katharine Bosworth, from the Women of Unity. Mrs. Mackay sang "A Pretty Girl Is Like a Melody" in honor of Mrs. Howell.

Mayor Speaks
Mrs. Terrill introduced Mayor James J. Dunlevy, who spoke briefly on United Nations and the proposed civic center for Medford. He said that in these times it is imperative to develop a collective group of nations, namely, United Nations, to secure and keep the peace.

The centerpiece on the guest table was made up of all the flags of the United Nations. Mrs. Bosworth brought the flags back from the United Nations. Chrysanthemums and autumn leaves decorated the room.

Guests were Mrs. Arthur A. Ahrendt, Mrs. Ralph Foster, Mrs. Edith M. Cast, Mrs. Carl W. Peterson, Mrs. Roy Nye, Ashland; Mrs. Katherine Hibbard, and Mrs. Mamie Bloomfield, Medford. Mrs. Henry Keplinger, Medford, became a new member.

Mrs. Lee Cormany, Ashland, attended the guest book. Hostesses were Mrs. R. Frank Lamb, Mrs. Alta Bance, Mrs. Ethel Lilli, Medford; and Mrs. Herman Linville, Talent.

Women Prefer To Buy Meats From Butcher

CHICAGO (UPI)—Despite the convenience of pre-packaged meat products, women want the personal attention of a butcher when buying meat.

So says the director of the Good Housekeeping Institute.

"American industry, in spite of the wonderful job it has done in giving us good quality products, has gotten so mechanized it has lost the personal touch," said Willie Mae Rogers.

Miss Rogers told delegates to the American Meat Institute convention that a survey of readers of her publication showed that they "voted overwhelmingly for someone at the meat counter to wait on them."

She appealed for a uniform method of identifying meat cuts to simplify recipes. Terms such as "California roast," mush steak, silver tip round, veal tenders, shoulder pernil and Boston cut roast" are unknown to many butchers and to most homemakers, she said.

Miss Rogers suggested that large stores employ a home economist to help women select meat and suggest ways of preparing it.

"About half the women interviewed had trouble identifying cuts of meat and how to cook them," she said.

Constitution Topic For DAR Here

John R. Dellenback, representative to the Oregon legislature from Jackson County, was guest speaker for the October meeting of Crater Lake Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, at Girls Community Club.

He said that the proposed new constitution passed the House but did not receive the necessary two thirds vote in the Senate and therefore could not be submitted to the people.

With the question "Where are we now?" he said that the present Oregon Constitution is 104 years old and has been amended 111 times. The methods for any changes in the Constitution, which are slow and difficult, were explained. Mr. Dellenback said that the question now is "What is best for Oregon?"

The careful and detailed work of the committee was described and some of the changes which were proposed explained. The speaker said that there would no doubt be other revisions in the future. Several questions concerning the constitution were asked at the conclusion of Mr. Dellenback's talk.
