

Senator Urges Cuts In Foreign Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., said today the Senate should cut its $4.2 billion foreign aid bill by at least $460 million and tighten it up in other ways.

The long-delayed bill to authorize another year of economic and military aid would fall $300 million short of the $4.5 billion asked by President Kennedy, even if it survives Senate efforts to inflict further cuts. But the $4.2 billion total approved by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee was $700 million more than the House voted.

Ellender, a longtime critic of the aid program, urged a $300 million cut in military aid and a $160 million slash in the committee-approved figure for the development loan fund.

His attack was the latest in a determined slowdown by opponents of the bill, although the opposition effort was far short of the usual Senate filibuster. Although the Senate began debating the aid bill Monday, no voting on amendments was expected before Thursday. Senate leaders virtually abandoned hope of finishing the bill before early next week.

Not Needed
Sen. Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, proposed Tuesday a $1.8 billion cut in the bill to eliminate countries where aid money "either is not needed or is being wasted."

Using aid figures for the past year, Gruening proposed that $890 million for Europe be canceled, plus a like total that went in varying amounts to Brazil, Libya, Dominican Republic,

Benefit Dance Set By DAV Tonight

A benefit Halloween dance, proceeds from which will be added to the rehabilitation fund, has been announced for tonight by Jackson County Chapter, No. 8, Disabled American Veterans.

The dance will be held in the Knights of Pythias hall at the corner of Fifth and Grape Sts., Medford. Music will be played by the Melodious Foursome and dancing time will be 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Prizes will be awarded to dancers wearing the "most grotesque" and the "most beautiful" Halloween costumes.

The DAV also will be selling Forget-Me-Nots on the streets of Medford and Ashland Friday and Saturday, Nov. 8 and 9.

Proceeds from both of these projects are for the rehabilitation fund.

The DAV Amateur Talent Show which has been an annual event with the local chapter, will not be held until after the first of the year. The date has been postponed because of the foggy weather which generally occurs in this valley during the late autumn, members explained.

Rogue Flying Will Observe National Week at Open House

The Rogue Flying Service, the only flying school in this area with Federal Aviation Agency approval, is joining agencies throughout the nation and the Medford Station and Tower in celebration of FAA's fifth anniversary this week.

Open house will be held all day Saturday, Nov. 2, at the Rogue Flying Service at the Medford Airport as part of this observance, J. C. Hamaker, general manager, announced today.

Two new Cessna planes, the 1964 model 150, and the 172 Sky Hop, will be on display throughout the day, Hamaker said.

The prime purpose of the open house is to impress the public with the possibility of learning to fly and to acquaint people with the ease with which it can be done and the reasonableness of the whole program, Hamaker explained.

Theater To Be Operated
A little theater will be operated in the Flying Service building for the presentation of two movies, "The Fourth Dimension" and "The Time Machine." These two films will be shown several times during the day.

Five hostesses will be on duty in the theater, in the flight training booth and in the finance booth, Hamaker announced. They will be Leanne

Chamberlain, Chris Chamberlain, Mrs. W. B. Walker, Jean Fleishman and Barbara Schate.

The Rogue Flying Service has 30 active trainees at this time. In addition to flight training the service charters planes, delivers parts, conducts an air ambulance service, operates a maintenance shop, maintains an aircraft rental service and refueling facilities at the Medford airport.

Operates Ground School
Tying in with the flight training course, the service operates a ground school. Hamaker has been with the service for four years and with flight training since 1946. Prior to that time he was in the maintenance field, starting in airplane work in 1941.

The FFA, the government agency responsible for air safety in the Jet Age, was established on No. 1, 1958, when Elwood R. (Pete) Quesada, a retired Air Force general with a distinguished record in aviation, was sworn in as its first administrator. The agency became fully operational on the final day of 1958.

One of the Agency's first jobs was establishment of a coordinated air traffic system for civil and military aircraft. The need for such a "common" system had been dramatized irregularly early in 1958 when 61 lives were lost in mid-air collisions involving military and commercial aircraft.

Large Federal Agency
FAA now employs about 45,000 people, making it the seventh largest Federal agency. By the end of this year, according to the Washington, D.C., office, the FAA will have all aircraft operating above 24,000 feet within the continental United States under positive radar control. This will greatly reduce the chances of mid-air collisions along the jet routes.

The Agency also maintains a corps of about 1,000 operations and maintenance inspectors to keep a continuing check on pilot proficiency and aircraft airworthiness.
