Girl Friend Revealed at Minneapolis Murder Trial

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI)—The prosecution told the jury in the trial of accused wife killer T. Eugene Thompson today that it would show Thompson told his girl friend early in 1962, "just give me 11 months" and he would be free to marry her.

The little, crewcut low-head, who is accused of masterminding a plot to do away with his church-worker wife, Carol, 34, flushed scarlet many times about the face and neck during the one-hour opening statement by prosecutor William B. Randall in Hennepin County Court. Thompson, 35, was a rising St. Paul criminal attorney until the savage bludgeon-stab murder of Carol Thompson, mother of four, in their Highland Park home in St. Paul last March 6.

Reveals Girl Friend
Randall, his six-three frame hunched over a little blue lectern sitting on the counsel table, jabbing two skinny fingers constantly toward the jury box, stood only 10 feet from the sitting defendant when he brought out the existence of a girl friend.

He said the state would show Thompson had financed her training in a secretarial school before she got a job in his office, had taken her dining and dancing in the Twin City area.

"The state will show that on several occasions he rented hotel or motel rooms where they spent the night—not with Carol," Randall said.

His voice rising in a measured cadence, Randall said the state would show that Thompson in 13 months before Carol's murder had accumulated $1,055,000 in accidental death insurance on her, of which he was the beneficiary.

Charges Original Planning
Randall disclosed the state expects to prove that the murder was planned originally for March 5, but that something went wrong with the plan. He indicated the killer lurked in the basement and was to be cued by the ringing of a tele-

Negro Demands, White Reaction Of Major Concern

By RAYMOND LAHR
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Voters elect governors in Mississippi and Kentucky and a mayor in Philadelphia Tuesday in off-year balloting that may reflect the political impact of the civil rights issue.

Political strategists were watching these contests with particular interest because Negro demands and white reaction to them have been of major concern in all three races.

Hundreds of other elections for state, county and city offices will be held across the nation, but state and local issues appeared predominant in most of them.

Wallace appeared Sunday on a television program with Vermont Gov. Philip H. Hoff and vowed to continue his battle against integration "within the law and within the courts."

The Connecticut demonstration erupted in a fist fight when about 30 picketing members of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) refused police orders to quit blocking traffic leaving the Yale-Dartmouth football game at New Haven.

One policeman was knocked to the pavement, another was punched in the face, and one of the pickets was hit on the head. The Negroes were protesting bad housing conditions in a predominantly Negro neighborhood.

Other racial developments:
Lexington, N.C.: About 50 Negroes marched from a church to a white-only theater Sunday night and held a prayer service. They then repeated the service at a segregated restaurant and quietly dispersed. There were no arrests.

Negro Demonstrators in Connecticut Engage in Fisticuffs With Policemen

Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace continued his campaign to win northern support for his segregationist views with appearances scheduled today at Harvard University.

The governor, who twice forced the use of federal troops to carry out court-ordered integration in his home state, currently is on a five-day tour of the North.

Grain Elevator Damaged by Flames

TEKOA, Wash. (UPI)—Damage to a grain elevator hit by fire here Saturday was estimated at $100,000 by manager Gordon Kauffman.

The cause of the fire was not immediately determined.

Firemen battled the blaze seven hours before controlling it.

Congressional Election

One congressional seat also is at stake Tuesday, Pennsylvania's 23rd District is holding a special election to fill the term of the late Rep. Leon M. Gavin, a Republican. Albert W. Johnson, the GOP candidate, is heavily favored over Democrat William T. Hagerty.

The Philadelphia mayoralty race took on special significance because President Kennedy visited the city last week and closely aligned himself with the Democratic battle to retain control of the city hall.

Democratic Mayor James H. J. Tate is running for his first term against Republican James J. McDermott. Tate has accused McDermott of making a "play" for the white vote. McDermott has accused Tate of faltering action that prompted racial unrest.
