

Mrs. A. K. Morse (at left) and Mrs. Frank Lambrecht, (center) were co-chairmen in charge of the annual fall tea of the Woman's Society of Christian Service, First Methodist Church. Mrs. Everett Faber (right) is president of the society. The tea was held at the home of the church pastor, the Rev. George G. Roseberry, and Mrs. Roseberry, 3310 Hollywood Avenue.

Evergreen Shop Has New Crafts

The Evergreen Crafts selection of handcrafted articles made by seniors living in Southern Oregon was enlarged on Wednesday, November 6, by the acceptance of the work of six new craftsmen who presented their work to the receiving committee and design jury.

Mrs. E. H. Loveness, chairman of the committee in charge of this project of the Rogue Valley Council on Aging, reminded residents that the craftsmen's work is on sale at the Evergreen Crafts shop in the Colorama Paint Center, 315 East Main Street. New craftsmen are Mrs. Edith Bornemann, Gold Hill, handwoven gifts; Mrs. L. F. Bittle, Medford, crocheted wool afghan; Melvin Northey, Medford, mosaic tile trays and bowls; Mrs. Mildred Pease, Medford, handmade doll dresses; Mrs. J. D. Klassen, Phoenix, driftwood craft novelties; Clifford Wilder, Grants Pass, woodcraft.

Other craftsmen were counseled and a special market obtained for one. Several craftsmen brought in replacements for their craft already sold in the shop.

The next receiving day for new craft will be held at the Senior Activity Center on Wednesday, December 4.

Any person who may be interested in helping gifted seniors obtain a market for their skills, is asked by the committee to inform any senior they know who makes gifts by hand, which are original and salable, about this opportunity now available to them. For further information, call Mrs. Loveness, 772-5090, or the Colorama Shop, 772-4564.

Longtime Residents Leave Here

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Wallin, Southern Oregon residents for 42 years, left Wednesday to live in Southern California. The couple lived in Medford at 2109 East Main Street for the past 22 years and previous to that were Ashland residents for 20 years.

They will live at "Leisure World," at Seal Beach near Long Beach. The Wallins recently arranged for an apartment in the new senior citizen center.

Mr. Wallin was employed by Swift and Company throughout their residency in Southern Oregon.

Mrs. Wallin was active in Trinity Episcopal Church work during the time they lived in Ashland. In Medford she was a member of St. Mark's Episcopal Church, and was active in the Medford Garden Club and the Weavers Guild.

Before their departure several events were given in their honor.

Mrs. Wallin was entertained at a kaffeeklatsch given by Mrs. Charles C. Stearns, in her home at 522 West Fourth Street.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Woodcock were hosts at dinner for the couple and Mrs. Neal W. McGrady also entertained them at dinner. Both events were held at the Rogue Valley Manor where the hosts are residents.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Holmes entertained for the Wallins at the Rogue Valley Country Club and Mrs. Everett Lasher, 2517 Sandy Terrace, was dinner hostess in her home.

An afternoon party was given for them by the Weavers Guild. The event attended by husbands and wives of the members was held in the home of Mrs. Lasher.

Dirty and worn suede shoes can be brushed with a metal brush and steamed with a steam iron to raise the nap.

MANOR-ISMS

By ETHELYN EVANS

Among the greatly diversified professions represented in the Manor membership is the medical profession. I shall mention two in that category this week, by way of a change of pace from writing about our many educators, clergymen and missionaries—although those three fields are by no means exhausted. And the first who comes to mind, naturally, is Dr. W. W. P. Holt from Medford. This column is written more, perhaps, for the information of his fellow members, as Dr. Holt is well and widely known and belongs to the State of Oregon and this valley, as well as to the Manor.

Son of a Presbyterian missionary (he was born in China), Dr. Holt was graduated from the University of Oregon Medical School in 1905 and practiced medicine in the Rogue River valley for more than 50 years. He was a general practitioner in the early days of the horse and saddle era of transportation over practically non-existent roads. Many long-time valley residents will recall his wry sense of humor in telling of one trip of more than 20 hours that completely wore out four horses and one doctor—just about. We have no follow-up on the recovery of the horses, but we do know that the Doctor bounced back and for many, many years thereafter answered every call for help from anyone, at any time and in any place he could possibly reach. With no direct means of communication, such ingenious methods of signaling for his help as bedsheet hanging from porches and tin cans tied across the trails he traveled were devised. At times he performed operations on kitchen tables, with husband or wife giving the anaesthetic and other people holding up lamps for light.

Dr. Holt is a charter member of both the Southern Oregon and Jackson County Medical Societies; he also served as first Jackson County physician and was active in the organization of county health services. In recognition and gratitude, he was chosen "Doctor of the Year" in 1959.

He is also a long-time member of the Medford Rotary Club. Each Tuesday he is off, jubilantly, with his Manor Rotary friends to attend the luncheon at the Country Club. He never misses a week. Dr. Holt is the personification of friendly, courteous kindness with never a word of complaint; and the Manor is happy to have had both him and the late Mrs. Holt with us for their 60th wedding anniversary. We are glad, indeed, to have him with us now, receiving the best of care and solicitous attention from our staff and his friends and a devoted daughter—Helen Holt Wilson—who spends part of each day here with him.

We think it quite unusual and a source of pride for the Manor to have two retired Oregon physicians, both of whom were early day general practitioners—a wonderful but rapidly disappearing species of the medical profession. This is understandable so, since the phenomenal advances in medical science is forcing specialization and, apparently very soon, will force specialization within a specialty. The second doctor is Dr. Bertha DeVore. And we feel it is another distinction to have one of the comparatively few—percentage wise—woman doctors. Dr. DeVore was really "doing what comes naturally" in choosing medicine as a profession, since her father, other relatives and even a number of ancestors were physicians.

After graduation, she started practice with her father in Drain, Oregon, in 1908, and very soon continued alone because of her father's failing health. She was another horse and saddle doctor contending with the same impassable and impossible road conditions, and it was necessary for her to travel to patients for many miles around, since the nearest hospitals were 40 miles north or south. At times Dr. DeVore used logging engine and hand car rides to reach those needing her—even resorting to "shank's mare" and trudging along on foot. She reports that her one memorable fright was on a very dark, windy and rainy night when a huge, black cow suddenly appeared "spank" in front of her on the trail. Gradually it became possible to use a horse and buggy and, eventually, a car. But still those roads! When accidents occurred, she also performed minor surgery on kitchen tables without electricity, running water or heat, and with jittery relatives as her only assistants.

The most remarkable feature of these two life sketches of two remarkable people is the matter-of-fact, cheerful, uncomplaining manner in which they carried on in their dedicated service to their fellow men and their loyalty to their professional creed. Their treatments, of course, were as much psychological, mental and emotional as physical—a form of healing which is once again coming into prominence.

As in the professional fields mentioned in previous columns, these are but two of the many careers worthy of consideration and admiration.

Society Member To Speak About Baptist Session

Her visit this summer to the American Baptist Assembly at Green Lake, Wis., will be the subject of the program to be given by Miss Esther Jones at a meeting of the Woman's Mission Society of Eastwood Baptist Church Tuesday, November 12, at 8 p.m. Miss Jones is Christian social relations chairman in the society. After the meeting, hostesses serving refreshments will be Mrs. Lucille Fields and Mrs. Jack Meves.

Mrs. Robert Blacketer introduced the October program "Our Changing City Streets" by telling of her recent visit to her childhood home of Columbus, Ohio. Devotions were led by Mrs. Fields and a luncheon was prepared and served by Mrs. John Yungen and Mrs. William L. White.

Women of Eastwood participated in the World Community Day sponsored by the Medford Council of Church Women and in the Baptist Woman's Day of Prayer held at the First Southern Baptist Church. Mrs. L. Paul Walker, Eastwood women's representative on the council, presented friendship packets prepared by Marietta and Joyce Smith Circles.

Others attending from Eastwood were the Rev. and Mrs. C. J. Young and Mrs. White.

Mrs. John Yungen, spiritual life chairman of the WMS, represented Eastwood in planning the Baptist Day of Prayer. Mrs. Robert Blacketer addressed the group, Mrs. Young and Mrs. Yungen took part in directed prayer, and others participating from Eastwood were Mrs. White and Mrs. Harold Hewlett.

One White Cross quota has been filled and sent to the Kodiak Baptist Mission in Alaska, and another quota to be sent to the Congo will be started at the November 19 circle meetings.

Iron silk when it is quite damp—never sprinkled, because it tends to water spot. Instead, wet the entire garment and blot in a dry towel.

School Open House Is Slated

JACKSONVILLE — William Ruck of the Medford School District will speak on "The Elementary Phase of the Oregon School Program" during the open house to be conducted by Jacksonville Parent Teacher Association Tuesday, November 12 at 7:30 p.m. The event will be held in the multi-purpose room of the primary building on Hueners Lane. Parents of students are invited.

A brief business meeting will be held and classrooms will be open from 8:15 to 9:30 p.m., so parents may visit their children's rooms, see their work and speak to the teachers.

Refreshments will be furnished by the mothers of students in the first and sixth grades.

At the last meeting of the unit, Francis Guidry, school principal, introduced the teachers for the year and Mrs. Weston A. Worden, unit president, presented the officers and chairmen. Mrs. Melvin Johnson is vice president; Mrs. Harlan Rolle, secretary; Mrs. Audrey Hardy, treasurer; Mrs. Richard Bottjer, ways and means; Mrs. Ralph Williams, membership; Mrs. Jack Long, parliamentarian; Mrs. Richard Souza, room mother chairman; Mrs. Willard Rollins, publicity and Mrs. Robert Cosler, hospitality.

When making apple or other fruit pies, try a cupful of cornflakes and a half cup full of sugar in the bottom crust before putting in the fruit.

Nancy Douglas, pictured above, will play the part of Sandra Markowitz, a social worker in the Broadway Theater League production of the comedy, "A Thousand Clowns," to be staged Wednesday, November 13 at 8:30 p.m., in the Holly Theater. Season tickets still are available. League directors have announced. Those wanting tickets for the series of plays to be produced here may call Mrs. Arlon Skinner, 772-8913.

At Ballet

ASHLAND—Mrs. Lois Windsor and Mrs. Edla Peterson spent three days in Portland last week. The Ashland music teachers attended the Russian Bolshoi Ballet and musical events during their stay.

Shady Cove HEC To Hold Election

SHADY COVE — The Home Economics Club of Shady Cove Grange will hold the monthly meeting, Tuesday, November 12, at the home of Mrs. Chester Calloway, Arkansas Road. Election of officers will be held.

JUST ARRIVED!

305-964 Table

Our table has a 42" diameter Formica top with weighted cast aluminum pedestal and fused plastic finish. All sizes available to 60" diameter.

115-806 Star side chair

Table $110

Chair $75

CONVENIENT CREDIT TERMS

S&H GREEN STAMPS On All Cash Purchases

HERNDOBLER'S fine furniture 125 EAST MAIN STREET, ASHLAND, OREGON TELEPHONE 482-1491

FABRIC SPECIALS

• JUST ARRIVED •

100% Screened Wool Prints, Very Special! . . . . . 2<sup>98</sup> yard

Screened Printed Arnel Jersey, Very Special! . . . . . 1<sup>29</sup> yard

• JUST ARRIVED •

New Shipment Beautiful Brocades $1<sup>98</sup> to $10<sup>95</sup>

Sewing Machines for Rent $100 Per Week

FUR TRIMS • Rabbit • Mink • Mouton

SCISSORS & PINKING SHEARS SHARPENED

MORSE SEWING CENTER 219 South Central Phone 772-2739

Lone Pine PTA Open House Set

Lone Pine Parent Teacher Association will sponsor an open house at Lone Pine School Tuesday, November 12. Final plans were made at a recent board meeting, Mrs. Floyd Skinner, president, has announced.

Teachers will be in their classrooms from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m., for informal visits with parents. The regular meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m., in the gymnasium and the teaching staff will be introduced by Lee Merriman, principal.

After the meetings teachers again will be in their classrooms to explain, at 15-minute intervals what each class is doing at the present.

Refreshments will be served in the cafeteria.

Buy socks for growing children one-half inch longer than the longest toe.

Rotary Women Plan Luncheon

A luncheon and card party is planned by Women of Rotary for Wednesday, November 13 at 12:30 p. m., in the home of Mrs. R. A. Naumes, 602 Oakdale Drive. Reservations should be made by calling Mrs. Naumes, 772-4273.

A business meeting will precede the afternoon of cards.

WANT IT? "CHARGE IT."

MONTGOMERY WARD

new dazzle for after dark

WARDS ELEGANT FASHIONS
MAKE YOU THE SHINING STAR

For a grand beginning to a gala evening . . . make Wards your first stop. You'll see the silhouettes creating fashion excitement . . . the fabrics that cause heads to turn. No matter how important the festivity, you'll find Wards exclusive Carol Brants make you feel a beauty . . . at prices to make you feel thrifty and wise.

(A) Scene-stealer in sumptuous rayon-cotton brocade. Dramatic floating cape over stunning sheath. Royal, gold. 12-18 . . . 12.98
 (B) Dance-date dress, rayon satin bolero. Acetate georgette top; rayon chiffon skirt. Royal, red, gold. 7-13 . . . 16.98
 (C) The Paris look in 2-piece rayon georgette, with shirt-cuffed sleeves and tie. Black, turquoise, red. 7-15 . . . 12.98

117 S. Central Open 9:30 to 5:30 Fridays 'Til 9