NEW YORK (UPI)—Fraley's follies and the weekend football "sinners"—along with some other memorable observations.

Game of the Week
Vanderbilt over Tulane — Tulane is a 1½ points favorite in an epic pitting two clubs which have lost 13 games against one win and one tie, and have been shut out a total of eight times. Vanderbilt gets the edge on defense, having yielded only 123 points against 161 given up by Tulane. One for Granny Rice, men.

The East
Army over Pitt — Put the blame on Mary, men.
Princeton over Yale — Mary Queen of Scots, that is.
Harvard over Brown—She was the first woman golfer.

Columbia over Penn.—Leading to all your cold suppers.
Also: Dartmouth over Cornell, Penn State over Holy Cross, Delaware over Rutgers, Syracuse over Richmond, Buffalo over Colgate.

The Midwest
Wisconsin over Illinois — Shakespeare faked like a good quarterback.
Michigan State over Notre Dame—As in "Anthony & Cleopatra."

Ohio State over Northwestern—He quoted Cleo "let us to billiards."
Oklahoma over Missouri — A couple thousand years early.

Also: Michigan over Iowa, Purdue over Minnesota, Nebraska over Oklahoma State, Kansas over Colorado, Iowa State over Kansas State, Xavier over Detroit, Ohio U. over Bowling Green, Miami over Dayton and Cincinnati over Wichita.

The West
USC over Oregon State — Father Time's a big favorite.
Washington over UCLA — If you remember the dance marathon.

Oregon over Indiana — Or rather watch than play, like I do.

Utah over California—Except for rigorous sunbathing.
Also: Stanford over Washington State, Brigham Young over Pacific, Idaho over Idaho State and Colorado State over Montana.

The South
Navy over Duke — Lady weight lifters make me nervous.

Alabama over Georgia Tech — Endurance swimming is a yawn.

Georgia over Auburn — Not much new on touch football lately.

Florida State over North Carolina State—Or roller hockey, either.

Also: Mississippi over Tennessee, Mississippi State over LSU, Clemson over Maryland, Miami over North Carolina, West Virginia over VPI, South Carolina over Wake Forest, Memphis State over Chattanooga.

The Southwest
Texas over TCU—There's little horseshoe pitching in Manhattan.
SMU over Arkansas — A scarcity of fencing clubs in Davenport, Iowa.

Baylor over Kentucky—Hardly any water polo in Moosejaw, Alaska.

Rice over Texas Aggies—And no jai alai at all in Big Cabin, Okla.

Also: Texas Tech over Texas Western, Air Force over New Mexico, Arizona State over Wyoming, Houston over Tulsa, North Texas State over Hardin Simmons and Utah State over New Mexico State.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Western pigskin picks: California over Utah—Even if it snows, The Golden Bears look more like a football team every week. Utes may have letdown after their great stand against Army, By 4.

Southern California over Oregon State—Trojans sputter a lot this year, but they should have enough to turn back the Beavers, By 3.

Stanford over Washington State—Cougars have had disappointing season and Indians finally have that John Ralston system working—at least part time, By 8.

Washington over UCLA—Bruins don't have anything to stop the likes of Junior Coffey, Bill Douglas, Charlie Browning and the rest of the Huskies, By 15.

Oregon Choice
Oregon over Indiana—The Webfoots get help in the form of healthy quarterback Bob Berry and halfback Mel Renfro. They are playing on the home grounds in Portland, By 6.

San Jose State over Fresno State—Spartans should romp in this one, By 19.

Brigham Young over University of Pacific — Two of the West's weaker teams in action, By 2.

Idaho over Idaho State—Vandals with one of better teams, By 9.

Selected small schools — San Francisco State over Nevada, Humboldt State over Chico State, Sacramento State over Cal Aggies, Occidental over Cal Tech, Puget Sound over Eastern Washington, San Diego State over San Fernando, Santa Barbara over Cal Poly, Whittier over Western.

Western Pros — San Diego Chargers over Buffalo Bills, New York Giants over San Francisco Forty Niners, and Detroit Lions over Los Angeles Rams.

PORTLAND (UPI) — County Commissioners were told Tuesday that soil conditions at the proposed Delta Park site here are good for construction and immediately authorized further studies to find out what it will cost to build a stadium.

The North Portland project, once completed, would figure heavily in Portland's bidding for the 1972 Olympics.

Last week we indicated the Medford-Grants Pass High football game as Medford's last in 1963 on its home field. Well, the Black Tornado has an opportunity to prove us wrong. We hope it does.

A good hard look at the state A-1 playoff plan of the Oregon School Activities Association shows a little "x" which means that, if Medford defeats Roseburg this Friday, it will be home team for state semi-final action against the winner of Grant-West Linn contest.

Actually, this is a little surprising. For Medford (and Roseburg would have been had it beaten the Tornado) was semi-final host last year while Districts 1 and 4, which Grant and West Linn represent this fall, were in visitor brackets for semifinal play a year ago.

But, really, who are we to complain?

WOODBURN OR VALE
If Phoenix downs Douglas this Friday in its A-2 quarterfinal at Phoenix, it will go against Woodburn or Vale the following week end in state semi-finals on the field of the Woodburn-Vale winner's choice — indicated another little x. Still another x shows that, if Phoenix reaches the A-2 finals, it will have home field choice.

MUCH ROSEBURG HEFT
Roseburg can mass a lot of heft in its backfield and may do just that if the Indian field is muddy for the Medford game this Friday, as it promised to be. The Indians have Jim Beamer (190) at quarterback, Ron Leep (192) at right halfback and his brother, Mike Leep (210) at fullback, although Craig Engle (175) could be the starter at full.

BEAMER BETTER PASSER
How does Jim Beamer, the Roseburg quarterback compare to last year's Indian quarterback, Paul Brothers, who received All-American honors. Niel Cellers, Roseburg News-Review sports editor, says Beamer is the better passer but not the runner. Brothers is. Beamer has a .577 pass completion average this fall with most of them. Ron Leep and End Don Mattson are other main receivers.

BURGESS SPEEDSTER
Speed merchant of the Indian backfield is Smokey Burgess who is also the leading ground gainer with 829 yards on 78 carries and top scorer with eight touchdowns. The other main packers have been power running Mike Leep and Beamer. Ron Leep has done little ball carrying but the Indians have exploited his abilities as a blocker and pass catcher. Cellers has described the Indian T attack as high-powered.

NO COMMON FOE
There's no way to compare Medford and Roseburg this fall since the two clubs have met no common adversaries. Roseburg's play has been entirely within the Midwestern League since the circuit has a full complement of 16 teams and only nine games can be played during the regular season.

Roseburg compiled an 8-1 record, losing only to Marshfield. The Indians are league co-champs with Cottage Grove and got the District 5 playoff spot for handing the Lions their only loss. Roseburg has scored 212 points while allowing rivals 76. Medford has totaled 167 while its opponents have run up 59.

BEEFY DEFENSE
A particularly beefy unit (one of the biggest in the state) works for Roseburg on defense. There's Jess Hart (220), Dennis Frank (210) and Terry Rudolph (215) in the forward wall and Mike Leep (210) at linebacker. Leep leads the team in tackles. Doug Du Fresno (205), offensive starter, is available for reserve defensive work.

BOTH MET COQUILLE
Phoenix and Douglas have met one common rival. The Trojans of Winston nosed Coquille in their season starter 14-12. Phoenix on the following week end whipped the Red Devils 28-0. It's hard to compare the relative improvement of the two clubs since then. Phoenix, with the best Pirate squad Coach Jack Woodward has had, probably is blessed with more depth. Douglas has one huge lineman in Warren Hill. He weighs 270 pounds and his teammates call him "Tanker." Other Trojan hefties include Tackles Larry Rust (205) and Jerry Langdon (200).

Cellers reported that Douglas has worked the quarterback option and fullback draw play well. The record would indicate the success. Fullback Jim Henry (190) and Quarterback Danny Withers headed the Umpqua Valley League with 65 and 59 points. Heard has gained more than 1,000 yards this season. Withers headed the Umpqua in total offense.

LOST TO MYRTLE POINT
Douglas sports an 8-1 season mark, losing only to Myrtle Point in non-league by a close 20-18. The Trojans have scored 211 points and allowed 91. Phoenix is 9-0 for the fall and has rolled up 320 markers while permitting just one touchdown this fall.

NAME LEFT OUT
In listing last week, the names of ex-Medford high graders, we inadvertently left out Steve Dippel, whose son is a fullback and linebacker for the Tornado. It also has been pointed out to us since that Tackle Don Todd is the son of Angus Todd, an ex-Medford footballer.

JAMES ON TRAVEL SQUAD
There was question this fall as to whether John James, ex-Medford high, now a guard on the Stanford University squad, who was kept out of early games by injury, would be "red shirted" (held out of competition) this fall. His mother, Mrs. Sam Jones, reported that John has said in a letter that he is on the traveling squad. He missed the trip to Corvallis because of flu.

John, who is manager of his fraternity house, Zeta Psi, has switched his major for civil engineering to economics. Dick Ragsdale, another ex-Medfordite on the Stanford club, is a member of the same fraternity. But, the two, reportedly, live diverse lives and don't see much of each other around the house.

SPIEGELBERG PROPHECY
Medford Football Coach Fred Spiegelberg proved a prophet when he spoke to the Medford Linebackers and Caveman Bench members last Friday noon. Discussing contention that a wet field would tend to favor Medford in play against Grants Pass, he discounted this idea somewhat and said, "We can fumble that ball, too."

Fumbles opened the door for the Grants Pass touchdown that night.

FIELD COVERED
There was much discussion last week on whether Medford High would cover its football field with plastic or tarps or the like to shield it from the rain. Such was not done. But, as Spiegelberg pointed out to the Linebackers, the field was covered. He said, "The field is completely covered by grass."

Of course, after Medford and GP and also St. Mary's and Eagle Point were done with their week end games, some of the cover was missing.

The Eagles' Dale Chamberlain, in particular, got a face full of slimy mud when he skidded in front of the St. Mary's bench after catching a pass.

COLLEGE FROSH SLATED
Medford High has filled two dates on its basketball schedule with college freshmen teams. Coach Frank Roelandt has reported. The Black Tornado will play Willamette University frosh on Friday, Dec. 6, in its season opener and will meet Linfield College frosh on the following evening. Both games will be at Medford. Grants Pass will host the two freshmen clubs on the opposite evenings.

Two tussles each with South Eugene and with Willamette High School round out the pre-league slate for Medford.

Roelandt held a meeting for basketball candidates yesterday and was to open drills today with no varsity football players on hand, of course. Fifty to 60 boys attended the meeting.

WRONG IDENTIFICATION
A picture caption in yesterday's sport section should have identified ball carrier Pat Howe as a member of the Grants Pass junior varsity.
