Slides To Be Shown at Center

The first of two programs of pictures taken in Africa will be shown Monday, November 18, to the Arm Chair Travelers at 1:30 p.m. at the Senior Activity Center.

Mrs. Eugene Thorndike, 500 Berkeley Way, will show the slides. They were taken during a 5 1/2 months trip by Mr. and Mrs. Thorndike, which included the Canary Islands, west coast of Africa, around the Cape of Good Hope to Durban, Union of South Africa and in the interior.

The second showing will be in early December.

Jesse Anderson, Ashland, who showed pictures of Norway last Monday, will return for the program November 25 which will include Finland and Iceland.

Programs Scheduled

Dr. Frank Roberts and his committee, Mrs. Judd Greenman and Mrs. K. J. Knutson, are in charge of scheduling the programs.

The knitting class meets after the Arm Chair Travelers from 3 to 5 p.m. Mrs. Edward Barnett is the teacher.

Also Monday the Senior Center orchestra will play for CARE tea of the Talent Federated Women's Club at the Talent City Hall. The event will start at 1:30 p.m.

Today from 3 to 5 o'clock the Singing Seniors meet at the center, 601 East Jackson Street. The group sings old, popular, or classical songs. At last Sunday's meeting the group voted to continue meeting Sunday afternoons. Mrs. Nellie Poling, hostess, served refreshments during the social hour.

Painting Class

The oil painting class meets Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Nettie Williams, instructor, said that Hal Bishop will give demonstrations and lessons in animal drawing and portrait painting later this month.

L. C. Davis is the director of the shuffleboard group. This event will meet Thursday mornings, but the starting date has not been announced. Persons interested in the class may telephone him.

Wednesdays from 10 a.m. to noon is the Spanish class and Thursday afternoon the orchestra rehearses. Saturday afternoon bridge is played at the center.

Luncheon Slated By Social Club

Reames Social Club will hold a luncheon at the Masonic Temple Wednesday, November 20, at 12 noon.

Chairman for the luncheon, Mrs. O. D. Martin, will be assisted by Mrs. Keith Bates, Mrs. Bruce Blew and Mrs. Frances Dean.

A short business meeting will follow the luncheon. Mrs. William Hatzi will preside.

There will be cards for those who wish to stay following the meeting. All members of Eastern Star are invited to attend.

White Cross Work Sessions Set by Circles

Mission Circles of Eastwood Baptist Church will meet Tuesday, November 19, for work on a White Cross quota which will be sent to Virginia Nickerson, American Baptist missionary in the Congo. The quota includes surgical dressings, baby clothes and linens.

Marietta Circle meets at 9:30 a.m. with Mrs. William L. White, 1109 Queen Anne Avenue. Mrs. Joseph Rehmer will lead devotions. Mrs. John Yungen, 503 Hanley Road, is hostess for the Joyce Smith Circle at 8 p.m. and devotions will be led by Miss Florence McKenna.

Miss Esther Jones spoke about her experiences at the American Baptist Assembly at Green Lake, Wis. at the Woman's Mission Society meeting earlier this week. She attended a conference on Christian social concerns, a Bible conference, and a conference on church and the arts. Her topic was that of racial tension in the United States. Miss Jones recommended a book by Ann Braden, "The Wall Between," for study on this question and read the American Baptist Convention resolution on race relations. She also read portions of "Letter from Birmingham Jail" by Martin Luther King and "A Call to Action" written by Harold Stassen, convention president, and other officers.

The business meeting was presided over by President Mrs. Dean Anderson and refreshments were served by Mrs. Lucille Fields and Mrs. Jack Meves.

MANOR-ISMS

By ETHELYN EVANS

This week our column continues in the medical profession category — but exclusively on the distaff side.

Mrs. Margaret M. Casterline is the mother of Dr. Ray L. Casterline, a Medford physician. She came into the Manor from Washington State and is happy to be so near her son and his family, which includes several adored grandchildren.

Mrs. Mamie Sleetor, one of the first to join the Manor family, is the widow of Dr. R. W. Sleetor, who was a well known and beloved physician in Medford for many years. She is also the mother of the late Dr. R. W. Sleetor, Jr., and Dr. Richard R. L. Sleetor who is now director of the Crippled Children's Division of the Portland Medical school. He also teaches pediatrics in the school. Both these sons practiced medicine in Medford at one time.

Mrs. Sadie Howard is the widow of Dr. W. W. Howard of Medford. He was a most enthusiastic photographer and took many beautiful pictures of recreational areas in the valley, including pictures of the famous boat trip down the Rogue River. Mrs. Howard has been most generous in loaning the pictures for Manor programs.

Mrs. Essie E. Dunham is the widow of George C. Dunham, surgeon general in the United States Army Medical Corps for many years. He was advisor in public health to the governor of the Philippines and served in several different countries in South America during World War II. Upon retirement, they lived in Grants Pass, but Mrs. Dunham moved to Oakland after the general's death, and then moved into Rogue Valley Manor later.

Shortly after becoming a member here, Mrs. Dunham was called back to Carlisle Barracks, for the dedication of a new hospital named "Dunham Army Hospital" in honor of her late husband. The plaque installed at that time named General Dunham an outstanding "humanitarian, physician, statesman and educator." Their daughter, Dr. Jean L. Dunham, took her medical training at Georgetown University, Washington, D.C.—my old home town.

Mrs. Dunham — in the walking field — could challenge the valley's John Day or any other mountain climber. She sallies forth every day and walks into Medford via Barnett Road and Riverside, or across Ellendale and down East Main or around the Country Club section. She then proceeds to visit markets and stores in the town — and walks briskly back up the hill to the Manor. She always spurs offers of a "lift" from our lazy ones who drive by her both comin' and goin'. Needless to say she does not suffer from obesity or poor circulation.

Writing of women and physicians, it is perhaps logical to include hospitals. We mention the fact that many Manor women have joined the Rogue Valley Memorial Hospital Auxiliary and are faithful workers. Eight Manor women have been presented with pins awarded for long hours of volunteer work in the hospital. Among them are Mrs. Lee Esworth, Mrs. Grace Todd, Mrs. Marjory Olds, Mrs. Eloise Faulkner, Mrs. Grace McGrady, Miss Helen Norris, and Mrs. Shelby Tuttle, who climaxed the Manor list with 2000 hours service. Mrs. Tuttle was the first president of the auxiliary. Mrs. Alma McIntyre, our near neighbor down the hill, also received the reward and pin for 2000 volunteer hours work.

State Officer To Visit Here

Mrs. H. J. Vaandering, Forest Grove, Oregon department president of Blue Star Mothers, will visit the Medford chapter Thursday, November 21 at a meeting in the home of Mrs. Mary Fredericks, 635 Palm Street.

A potluck luncheon at 12 noon will precede the meeting.

Mrs. Vaandering will attend a games party for wheelchair members of the Veterans Domiciliary in White City, Friday, November 22 which the Medford Blue Star Mothers sponsor once a month.

The official will be a houseguest of Mrs. Mary Note for the week end.

Olive Rebekahs Slate Election

Olive Rebekah Lodge officers will be elected at the Monday, November 18 meeting in the IOOF Hall.

A Thanksgiving program, "We Give These Thanks" will be presented. Mrs. LeRoy Cline, noble grand, will preside.

The committee of the evening includes Mrs. W. H. Dyer, chairman; Mr. Dyer, Mrs. Joe Cave, Miss Grace Morrison and Miss Ann McCormick.

For mobile mothers: A lightweight plastic carry-all tray with all the basic products for tots — powder, oil, lotion, and ever a pin cushion. (Johnson and Johnson, Inc.).
