

Barghoorn Tells Details Of 16-Day Prison Ordeal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A "youngish looking" stranger outside the Moscow hotel thrust a roll of newspapers into the hands of the startled American. "Unwittingly, foolishly," said Yale Prof. Frederick C. Barghoorn, "I took it and put it in my coat pocket. . . almost simultaneously a couple of men grabbed me and took me to an auto."

Thus, with the oldest and crudest form of espionage

"frameup," began Barghoorn's 16-day ordeal in a Russian prison. He told the story to newsmen Tuesday after reporting in detail to the State Department.

In view of the incident, U.S. officials said they were still undecided when cultural exchange talks could be resumed with Russia in the absence of a Soviet agreement on treatment of arrested persons.

But Barghoorn told newsmen,

"I hope that this experience that I have had will not destroy the possibilities of continuing these exchanges."

Recollection Is Fuzzy

The 52-year-old head of Soviet studies at Yale told newsmen he remembered little about the young man who stopped him in front of Moscow's Metropol Hotel about 7:25 p.m. Oct. 31 and asked, "are you an American citizen?"

He half remembered that the man spoke in English, but he wasn't sure. He recalled that as he accepted the papers he thought they must be some kind of propaganda material.

Barghoorn said he was handcuffed and taken first to a police station and then to prison. Soviet officials confronted him with the papers and said they contained "military secrets."

Some of the contents "looked like photographs," Barghoorn said, but he didn't understand what they were about because "I've never had any military service."

He was told that the "young stranger" had also been arrested, but he never confirmed this and never saw the young man again.

Why had it happened? "It is true," the professor said, "that I go about talking to people and taking notes. In fact I have some of the notebooks in my pocket right now."

"The definition of intelligence in the Soviet Union," he said, "differs widely from the definition of intelligence in the United States."

He explained that he had been interviewing Russians on such subjects as political indoctrination, which the Russians might consider "sensitive."

Also, he said, there had been a period between 1949 and 1951 before the death of Stalin when he had done "intelligence" work for the State Department, interviewing Russian refugees in Germany.

Barghoorn made trips to Russia in 1956, 1958, 1959, 1961 and twice in 1963. He said the Russians wanted to discuss all of this past travel so "there was quite a lot to talk about."

Police Check City Streets, Campus For Sneak Bomber

By United Press International

Police in Tuscaloosa, patrolled city streets and the integrated University of Alabama campus today in hopes of preventing a sneak bomber from striking again.

Three after-dark blasts within the past four days were touched off by the bomber. Two were in a Negro residential community and one was a short distance from the university dormitory where Vivian Malone, the school's only Negro student, resides.

The bombs, so far, have caused no injuries and done very little property damage, but residents of the community are jittery.

"These blasts have gotten people's nerves on edge," Miss Malone said Tuesday.

After questioning

Police arrested a 40-year-old white man Tuesday in connection with the bombings, but released him after a few hours of questioning.

Nineteen "peace marchers" face trial at Macon, Ga., today on charges of illegally distributing literature.

The biracial group, hiking from Canada to Cuba to demonstrate for peace, was arrested Tuesday after passing out pamphlets to the pastor of a Negro church in violation of a no-pamphlet ordinance. Some of the group were charged with resisting arrest when they lay down in the street.

Led by Bradford Lyttle of Volunturn, Conn., the hikers carried signs reading "Demand freedom to visit Cuba," "End racial discrimination" and "Resist evil but not with violence."

About 100 biracial demonstrators picketed police headquarters at New York City Tuesday in protest against alleged police brutality. The group accused police of using horses and nightsticks to break up recent civil rights demonstrations.

Elsewhere in the nation:

Philadelphia: The U.S. District Court was asked by the Philadelphia Teachers Association Tuesday for permission to intervene in a segregation suit filed against the board of education. The suit charged the board with violating an agreement to end de facto segregation and the teachers with attempting to sabotage the agreement.

Chicago: Prof. Russell H. Barrett of the University of Mississippi says his school followed a "policy of weakness" regarding the rights of harassed white students who befriended former Negro student James Meredith.

Raleigh, N.C.: Attorney C.C. Malone Jr. told the state Supreme Court Tuesday that five Negro demonstrators were within their rights when they lay down in a Greensboro street.

Anderson, S.C.: The Greater Anderson Ministerial Association has voted to drop sponsorship of annual Thanksgiving Day services in the city recreation center following rejection by city council of a request that the services be integrated.

Birmingham, Ala.: Edward Fields, information director of the National States Rights party, Tuesday filed a $1 million libel suit against the Birmingham News and columnist David Lawrence, charging they contrived in an article to "bring him into disrepute among his neighbors."

House Committee Hears Senator on Soviet Wheat Sale

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Banking Committee today kept its pledge to Sen. Karl Mundt, R-S.D., to consider his proposal to bar use of government credit to underwrite wheat sales to Communist nations.

Mundt was called as the lead-off witness at a hearing this morning.

Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon was to follow him at an afternoon session to give the administration's views.

Mundt offered the proposal as an amendment to the foreign aid bill last week, but withdrew it after being assured that the Banking Committee would act on the measure by Nov. 25. His decision removed the last obstacle to Senate passage of the foreign aid bill.

The Mundt measure would prohibit the export-import bank from underwriting or guaranteeing short-term loans to the Communists to finance proposed sales of surplus U.S. grain.

At one point during his fight for the controversial amendment last week, Mundt modified his proposal to include all manufactured products and all farm products, as well as wheat.

Mundt told the Senate that the proposal to have the export-import bank guarantee 75 per cent of the cost of the sales made through commercial U.S. banks was ridiculous.

AT&T Stock Split Triggers Sharp Market Advance

NEW YORK (UPI) — News of a planned 2-for-1 stock split and dividend boost for American Telephone & Telegraph today triggered a sharp stock market advance on heavy trading.

The 2-for-1 split will give AT&T 600 million authorized shares, the largest for any company in history, and would mean a payout of $1.2 billion in dividends next year — one of the largest disbursements ever made.

Scranton, Goldwater Set Meet

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gov. William W. Scranton had an appointment today with Sen. Barry Goldwater to talk about politics in Pennsylvania where Goldwater backers have surfaced to challenge Scranton's favorite son candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination.

Goldwater's position, announced at a Pittsburgh news conference last week, is that he is not a candidate now and has no responsibility for discouraging political activity by his friends.

Scranton was expected to call on the Arizona senator late today after a flight by private plane from Harrisburg. He requested the meeting.

His request came after Goldwater supporters in western Pennsylvania began making noises about running pro-Goldwater candidates for the GOP National Convention delegation in the Republican primary next April 28.

According to reports here, similar activity may develop soon in eastern Pennsylvania.

Scranton is regarded by Republicans as a possible presidential nominee in case of a national convention deadlock. He repeatedly has denied that he would be a candidate but he agreed to go to the convention as a favorite son candidate of the Pennsylvania delegation.

He reiterated this week that he was not a candidate for national office in a message declining an invitation to enter the Maryland presidential primary next May.

In Pennsylvania presidential primaries, candidates may be entered directly in popularity contest voting which is not binding on national convention delegates. However, delegates elected in the same primaries may run as uncommitted or pledged to a candidate for the presidential nomination.

Pennsylvania GOP Chairman Crai Truax, a Scranton backer, issued a statement last week urging Pennsylvania Republicans to send an unpledged delegation to the convention.

The recent Goldwater activity is attributed to the national draft-Goldwater organization.

Pennsylvania GOP leaders had asked partisans of both Goldwater and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to stay out of the state before the off-year elections held Nov. 5.

When this request was first directed to Goldwater, he asked that it be sent to the draft-Goldwater organization. The draft committee agreed but refused to remain inactive after the elections.

Maryland GOP Chairman David Scull made public Scranton's message declining to enter the Maryland primary. Scull said that Gov. Mark Hatfield of Oregon also had declined to enter the Maryland contest.

Sens. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky and Gordon Allott of Colorado previously turned down invitations. Scull said he had received no reply to invitations to Goldwater, Rockefeller and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

KURD TRIBESMEN BATTLE REGULARS

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI) — Newspapers here reported today that Kurd tribesmen in Iraq are battling regular troops and have killed "large numbers."

Iranian correspondents said the Kurds are fighting on the side of the National Guard, which supports the deposed Baathist government, against the regular Army, which supports the new regime.

LEG-CROSSING CHARACTERISTICS DESCRIBED

PARIS (UPI) — President Kennedy is "ambitious, authoritarian and exerts self-control," the newspaper Paris Jour said today after seeing a picture of the President seated.

Kennedy crosses his right leg over his left, said the newspaper, a common habit among people with those characteristics.

Brigitte Bardot, on the other leg, continued the newspaper, is left-over-righter—jealous and prone to be melancholy. Non-leg crossers, concluded the newspaper, are delicate and optimistic.

ANTI-COMMUNIST INCIDENTS IN CANTON

TAIPEH (UPI) — Nationalist Chinese guerrillas created several anti-Communist incidents in Canton during National Day celebrations in the South China city last October 1, an official report said today.

The government-operated Central News Agency (CNA) reported that shouts of "down with Mao Tse-tung" and "we ask for improvements in living standards" were heard during a mass rally.
