

Views Cross Party Lines Over Allotment Control

SALEM (UPI) — Views on granting Gov. Mark Hatfield allotment control over the state's general fund budget crossed party lines in debate Wednesday in the House and Senate.

These were among the comments:

Rep. Beulah Hand, D-Milwaukie: "I can't approve these cuts because they are not flexible. We have a rudderless ship at the executive level, the leadership level, and no alternative program has been offered."

Rep. Joe Rogers, R-Independence, a sales tax advocate: "I oppose this bill because alternative programs were rejected and I feel no obligation to support this measure."

Rep. Grace Peck, D-Portland: "With sadness in my heart because of the severe cuts being made in welfare, I will support this bill."

Rep. Stafford Hansell, R-Hermiston: "I'm going to vote against this because we are giving the legislature's job to the governor. The legislature should make the cuts."

Rep. John Mosser, R-Beaverton: "We know this is inadequate for programs we feel important, but this is what the voters have decreed. This is an emergency budget for an emergency situation."

Rep. Ross Morgan, D-Gresham: "We're handcuffing ourselves and we're handcuffing the governor, but the attorney general says we must do this."

Sen. Alfred Corbett, D-Portland: "This solution has been adapted to meet constitutional questions and provide a balanced budget for the rest of the biennium."

Sen. Vernon Cook, D-Portland: "I will vote against this bill because the people elected us to do the job of making budget cuts."

Sen. Eddie Ahrens, R-Salem: "I oppose this bill as the cuts in basic school will increase local property taxes."

Sen. Arthur Ireland, R-Forest Grove: "I oppose this bill because adoption of a cigarette tax would have eased the cuts."

Sen. Thomas Mahoney, D-Portland: "I'm for this bill because we've got to get out of here; but why didn't the committee eliminate civil defense?"

Outstanding Seniors Named at University
EUGENE — The outstanding scholars in the senior class at the University of Oregon were named Tuesday as the "Senior Six" of Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic honor.

Election to "Senior Six" is the highest scholastic honor which can be achieved by an undergraduate at the University. Cumulative grade point averages for this year's group, all liberal arts majors, range from 3.98 to 3.75, out of a possible perfect 4.00.

The students are Charlene Sue Bear, Salem, history; Kathleen Marie Donaldson, Coos Bay, mathematics; Robert Charles Ghent, Eugene, mathematics; Roger Dudley Petersen, Beaverton, psychology; Janice Cooper Scott, Seattle, Wash., foreign languages; and Robert V. Youdi, Leopoldville, Congo, mathematics.

One of the new "Senior Six," Robert Ghent, is the son of a University faculty member, Dr. Kenneth S. Ghent, professor of mathematics and foreign student advisor.

Young Ghent was the first student to enter the University directly from high school with sophomore standing. He earned 45 credits, the equivalent of the freshman year's work, under the Advanced Placement program while still a student at South Eugene High School.

Three of the new members, Miss Bear, Miss Donaldson, and Ghent, are enrolled in the Honors College, the University's program of enriched liberal arts education for exceptional students.

Prison Escapee Is Found in Houston
SALEM (UPI) — George Frederick Siefer, 20-year-old Oregon State penitentiary escapee who led police on a chase through the rugged mountain area near Scotts Mills two months ago, was captured at Houston, Tex., today, police reported.

State police said Siefer had been living there under an assumed name.

Resolution Advises Against Cigarettes
PORTLAND (UPI) — The Oregon Society of Internal Medicine came out against cigarette smoking and cigarette advertising in a hard-hitting resolution Wednesday.

The society recommended that its members "not only counsel their own patients on the dangers of cigarette smoking as regards heart and lung disease, but speak out in their communities to clear away the smoke screen of confusion and rationalization."

Persons who stop smoking now cut their chance of getting lung cancer in half, the society said, and added that cigar and pipe smokers who do not inhale have much less chance of getting the disease.

The society resolved to "recognize publicly the alarming rise . . . of lung cancer and emphysema due to cigarette smoking, and deplore the methods of cigarette advertising now used, directed primarily at convincing young people the pleasures and fulfillments of life can be so easily acquired."

The society is composed of about 170 specialists in internal medicine, including lung ailments.

Senator Scott Criticizes Proposed Red Wheat Sale

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., sharply criticized the proposed wheat deal with the Russians today. He described it as the latest "in the current trend of one-way concessions" to the Soviet Union.

Scott joined with more conservative Senate Republicans in support of a measure, by Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., to prevent the Export-Import Bank or any government agency from underwriting or guaranteeing the credit of the Communist countries in the purchase of wheat or other U.S. commodities.

Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., Undersecretary of State George W. Ball and Harold F. Linder, president of the Export-Import Bank, were scheduled to testify before the Senate Banking Committee today on the Mundt bill.

May Ruin Chance
 Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon told the committee Wednesday that such a prohibition would virtually ruin any chance of a wheat sale to the Soviet bloc.

The Mundt bill was not the only foreseeable snag to the wheat deal. It was learned Wednesday that Soviet negotiators told U.S. officials that the prices proposed by private commercial firms for the purchase of the grain and its shipment to Russia are too high.

The Russians told the State Department they felt the reason for the high prices was U.S. government insistence that 50 per cent of the wheat be shipped in American vessels, which charge higher rates than foreign shippers. They asked if this ratio could be changed.

Not Entering Talks
 The State Department replied it did not want to re-enter government - to - government negotiations over wheat sales, and would leave it between the Soviets and private American businessmen.

Scott's position, outlined in a speech prepared for delivery before the Senate, was certain to increase the concern among administration leaders that President Kennedy might be headed for a setback at the hands of the banking committee.

It was learned that Senate Democratic leaders were concerned about the issue and were in the process of taking a head-count to determine their chances of defeating the Mundt bill.
