Annual Tea on Tuesday To Be CARE Benefit

The annual CARE benefit tea will be held Tuesday, November 26, from 2 to 4 o'clock in the fireplace room at the Girls' Community Club. It is sponsored by Travel Study Club of the Oregon Federation of Women's Clubs. Both men and women are invited, and music and speakers are planned during the afternoon.

CARE tag days are set for November 21 and 22. Members of Travel Study Club will be stationed at First National Bank and United States National Bank with CARE collection boxes. All contributions will go for the Federation Literacy program, in underdeveloped countries to supply kits containing pencils, note books, crayons, pencil sharpeners, erasers, rulers and school bags.

Adults as well as children use these kits to learn to read and write. Illiteracy rates are high, and the task of developing programs to ensure that each man, woman and child has a basic education is monumental, according to Mrs. Dexter O. Arnold, president of General Federation of Women's Clubs.

The General Federation, with which Travel Study Club is affiliated, adopted the literacy project in order that "members may participate in the dramatic effort to help needy people overseas achieve a free enlightened and democratic way of life," it is explained by Mrs. Beryl Lyon, president of the club.

Mrs. Clay M. Lee, Medford, state project chairman of Oregon Federation of Women's Clubs, has chosen the week of November 17 as CARE week for the Oregon Federation.

"November is the month that Americans give thanks for the many privileges and generous bounty we enjoy in this great country of ours," she stated.

"During the Thanksgiving season, when Oregonians are taking stock of their blessings, the Oregon Federation of Women's Clubs is appealing to everyone to share in helping needy neighbors south of the border. Sending literacy kits and school supplies to needy people in eight countries overseas, is the Federation's way of 'Strengthening the Arm of Liberty,' to help eliminate illiteracy from the face of the earth.

"The Universal Declaration of Human Rights states that everyone has the right to an education, and it shall be directed to the full development of the human personality and to the strengthening of respect for human rights and fundamental freedoms. This is the pledge of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, to the millions of people who cannot overcome a serious handicap of illiteracy without help," Mrs. Lee concluded.

Match Flowers-Hair
The Society of American Florists suggests the following flower colors for ladies selecting their own corsages and wishing to accent their hair: White and vivid colors for brunettes; yellow, blue and pastels for blonds; blue, bronze (bronzes chrysanthemum and cymbidium orchids) and chartreuse (cypripedium orchids or fuji mums) for redhair; and pink, blue and purple for gray hair.

Reames Social Club Show Has Parisian Background

"A Touch of Paris," was the theme for the Reames Social Club fashion show and luncheon November 16 in the Medford Masonic Temple, attended by some 120 women. Decorations, dessert and music were in the French theme.

Members of Bethel 14, International Order of Job's Daughters, who served the luncheon, wore black skirts, white blouses and white "French" aprons and caps.

Line drawings of well-known Parisian scenes and buildings decorated the walls and the backdrop of the stage was black with a pink net fan secured with silver leaves. Bouquets of manzanita decorated with pink and silver completed the stage setting under an arched lettered sign in the French language indicating the show theme.

The luncheon tables were decorated in pink, white and silver.

Mrs. Roy Nordwick was in charge of the decorations assisted by Mrs. William Hatzl, general chairman; Mrs. Gene Dyke, Mr. Hatzl, Mr. Nordwick, Rodney Witham and Mrs. Fred Miller.

Mrs. John (Kathleen) Esp was the fashion consultant from Mann's Department store which furnished the styles. She also was commentator.

Harris, Mrs. Donald Ashpole.

Models were Mrs. E. G. Randolph, Mrs. R. S. Mayfield, Miss Marsha Mayfield, Miss Adah Harris, Mrs. Donald Ashpole, Mrs. Glenn Jerden, Mrs. George Burrell, Mrs. Delbert Harvey and Mrs. John Smith.

Clothing Pool Items Needed For Club Work

Mrs. F. D. Nelson was appointed clothing pool chairman for the Medford Junior Women's Club when they met recently in the home of Mrs. Neil Schreeder. Mrs. Jack Holmes, president, made the appointment and announced that boys' trousers, sizes 6 to 8, are needed for the pool. Anyone who has trousers suitable for school wear, to donate, is asked to call Mrs. Nelson, 773-3577 or Mrs. Robert Fry, 773-6146. Clothes also may be left at Lincoln school, the officer stated.

Mrs. Fry and Mrs. Wayne Frostad assisted Mrs. Nelson at the meeting. Mrs. Jack Lust, calendar chairman, announced that the club calendars have been sold.

The next meeting will be held December 11 in the home of Mrs. Lust, 309 Havana Street. Members are to take "white elephant" items for a gift exchange, and wrapped Christmas gifts for the Chemawa Indian school.

An auction of handmade novelties and baked foods was held at the recent meeting, with Mrs. James Wells, auctioneer.

Wilson Park Unit To Donate Canned Foods

Wilson Park Home Extension Unit members will donate canned food to be given by the Jackson County Chapter of the American Red Cross in Christmas baskets, unit officers announced at the group's recent meeting in the home of Mrs. Robert A. Cabler.

A potluck dinner is planned for the unit's annual Christmas party. As an extra project members have started a knitting class and several of the members have completed slipper socks and sweaters.

Guests at the recent meeting were Mrs. Robert Gemachlich, Mrs. Richard E. Hart and Mrs. Alfred Fosal, county committee member. Material for the project lesson on family communication had been prepared by Roberta C. Frasier, family life specialist at Oregon State University. Leader was Mrs. Oliver H. Smeltz.

School Play Opening Set Tonight

"Inherit the Wind", three-act drama by Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee, opens tonight at Medford High School auditorium. Produced by the high school's Thespian Troupe 355, the play recreates a famous legal conflict of 1925 in which William Jennings Bryan and Clarence Darrow opposed each other.

Within the past few weeks members of the high school producing group have secured some unusual properties. Verl Walker loaned an old-fashioned microphone which was discarded by radio station KMED before 1930. A small monkey is being provided by a Medford family. Vern Voss, school wood shop instructor, has provided a hurdy-gurdy for the organ grinder and a gavel for the Judge.

With John Eads and Bruce Guenther in the roles of the famed attorneys, the play will be repeated on Friday and Saturday nights, November 22 and 23. Reserve seat, general admission, and student tickets will be sold at the box office all three nights. Season tickets for all Thespian productions of the season will also be available through Saturday. Curtain time is 8 p.m.

Lincoln PTA Open House Conducted

Lincoln Parent Teacher Association members conducted open house November 14 in observance of American Education Week. Room representatives served as hostesses, assisting teachers during visitations made by parents.

Mrs. Virgil Stickley, president, presided for the meeting. The Rev. Fred Sapp gave the invocation. Mrs. Richard Smith, membership chairman gave a report and a rummage sale was announced for December 3.

Mrs. Ralph Moore and Mrs. Gilbert McNeil poured and refreshments prepared by the school's cooks were served.

Room count was won by a special education room taught by William Young. The Checkmates, girls' trio from Medford High School, furnished entertainment. A baked foods sale was held during the evening.

Representatives Attend Triennial CFG Conference

Rogue Council, Camp Fire Girls of Jackson County, was represented at the triennial national conference of Camp Fire Girls, Inc., held recently in San Francisco by two Ashland women, Mrs. Richard Westerville, council president and Mrs. Pierre Roberts, regional representative.

Over 1700 registered for the conference including volunteers, staff and high school Horizon Club girls from the ten regions in the United States. While the adult meetings were conducted, a simultaneous program of workshops and general sessions was conducted by the Horizon Club girls under the guidance of volunteers. At the banquet for Region VI comprising Oregon, Washington, Alaska, Montana and Idaho, Horizon girls from the five states presented musical numbers and commentary for the program.

Mrs. A. W. Koester, national council president, gave the keynote address on the conference theme, "Making Real Our Ideals".

According to Martha Allen, national director, the main significance of the Camp Fire program is the sharing of activities in groups and helping each girl to find herself and her own individuality while relating to others. She urged council members to find leaders who could help solve community problems with wisdom and courage.

Dr. John Gibson of San Francisco State Teachers College stated that the first job of Camp Fire is to make a character building program for girls. Secondly it must educate adults to do this job and thirdly must use resources of the community while making contributions to the community in return.

Dr. Evelyn Goodenough Pletcher of Tufts University, Boston pointed out that Camp Fire in educating girls to religion and ethics has also to reach the mother since the mother is the model for the girl.

Much time was devoted to exploring the philosophical attitude of Camp Fire Girls about the role of women and how girls should be helped in preparing for a adulthood homemaking and child rearing as well as being encouraged to pursue worthwhile careers in other fields.

It was also pointed out that the organization has a responsibility in making young people aware of what the world is like beyond their doorstep since a high number of teen-agers and college students have little interest in community, national or international affairs.

Encourage Girls
Another Camp Fire objective discussed was that of encouraging in girls a love of the outdoors and skill in outdoor living.

At the final business meeting national officers were elected and installed with Mrs. Warren Grafton taking the office as president. The conference concluded with an over all summary of what had been accomplished in the sessions during the week.

State Bethel Officer Guest In Ashland

ASHLAND—Bethel 22, International Order of Job's Daughters, entertained the grand guardian, Mrs. Harold McIsaac, for dinner followed by official inspection and initiation of three members, Nov. 12. The state officer was accompanied by her husband, Harold McIsaac, who is grand senior guardian.

The dinner preceding the bethel session was served in the lodge dining room by Mrs. M. E. Barron and the guardian council members. Each table was decorated with tiny Job's Daughter dolls that had been made by Mrs. Pierre Roberts and her daughter, Kathy.

The honored queen, Miss Helen Colwell, presided and during an addendum when officers presented Mrs. McIsaac with carnations she read a poem appropriate to the occasion. David Deller, soloist, was accompanied by Mrs. Leroy Hester.

The grand guardian gave a short talk on the work of the order and congratulated bethel members upon their initiation ceremony.

New members of Bethel 22 were introduced by their parents. They are Cynthia Lytle, Kerry Roberts and Susan Jones. Mrs. W. R. Brown and William Weber, guardian and associate guardian, closed the session.

Many visiting officers from bethels in Grants Pass, Myrtle Creek, Eugene and Medford were accorded honors.

Credit Group Hears Speaker

Credit Education in High School was the subject for a speech given for Jackson County Retail Credit Association members at their quarterly banquet meeting November 16 in the Brave Bull Restaurant. The guest speaker was Dr. Loy E. Prickett of Southern Oregon College.

Over 50 persons attended, among them the association's guests, Dr. Leonard Mayfield, Superintendent of Medford Schools and Gaylord Smith, principal of Ashland High School. Mrs. Mayfield and Mrs. Smith also were guests.

Entertainment was furnished by Crater High School majorities directed by Mrs. Don Miller. A baton specialty number was given by Miss Marcel Miller, daughter of the director.

Prospect Woman Returns Home
Mrs. Alice Conger has returned from Roseville, Calif., where she visited relatives for about three weeks.
