

Phoenix Ground Attack Crushes Vale In A-2 Semi-Final

Consbruck Scores Three Touchdowns In 26-0 Victory

VALE — Powerful Phoenix, Oregon's number one Class A-2 football team in the polls, won the right to carry its bid for the official championship of its class into the finals here Saturday afternoon.

The Buccaneers from the distant Rogue Valley crushed the Vale Vikings 26-0 here in a state semi-final playoff game.

Phoenix combined the running talents of Jim Consbruck, Ron Williams, Jon Granby and Dennis Grennan with terrific blocking and stalwart defensive play.

Consbruck touchdown three times for the Buccaneers, once on a 62-yard burst. Ron Williams scored the other TD on a 53-yard roll-out run.

Vale's passing was a big threat to the Pirates, but never put the Southwestern Oregon team in serious danger. Against North Catholic of Portland defeated Siuslaw at Florence Saturday in the other A-2 semi-final football game. The score was 7-6. North Catholic thereby won the right to face Phoenix for the state A-2 crown. The title game will be played in Southern Oregon next week end at a time and place to be announced.

The Viking ground attack, Phoenix was tremendous. The Pirates held Vale to 4 yards rushing.

The victory will send Phoenix into the championship final next week end against North Catholic on a Southern Oregon field yet to be announced. Arrangements for the titular game should be completed early this week.

The Pirates bombarded their first touchdown on their second series with the ball. They went 90 yards in 11 plays after a punt by Vale's Mel Hyland had put them on their 10-yard line. Williams rolled out around left end on the long-gaining payoff play. Grennan ran the extra point.

Grennan, Granby, Consbruck and Williams all took turns with the ball on the march.

A pass interception and run-back by Ron Williams at the start of the second quarter set up the Pirates' second touchdown drive.

Williams snared the throw by Bill Ingram on about the Phoenix 25 and ran the ball back to the Vale 34, a 41-yard return.

Phoenix moved to the goal in eight plays. A key play on the drive was a Williams to Consbruck pass for 18 yards, putting the ball on the 12.

Granby, on three successive crunches moved the ball to the 2-yard line for a first down. On the next play Phoenix was penalized for illegal procedure, and when the infraction was paced off the ball rested on the 8.

All The Way

Williams made no gain. Then with Williams and Granby opening the way Consbruck went over the left side of his line all the way to the goal.

On the point after touchdown try, Granby barged into the end zone but Phoenix was called off-side. On the second try, a Williams to Dale Sauer pass was broken by Vale.

Phoenix also scored on its second chance with the ball in the second half. The Bucs took possession on their own 42, after a Hyland punt.

One running play with Consbruck carrying lost four yards to the 38, but on the next play, Consbruck exploded over the left side of the line and raced to the goal 62 yards away.

On the conversion try, a run by Ken Hawkins failed.

The last touch down came when in the early fourth quarter Dale Vale was held back on its 5-yard line and Hyland punted out to the Vale 39, with Consbruck running the ball back to the 20.

Phoenix then moved in five plays to the goal. A pass was incomplete. Another from Williams to Granby gained three yards. Williams moved to the 11 on a keeper. And Grennan cracked to the 9. Then on a play similar to Consbruck's second touchdown rush, he blasted over for the final score.

Granby added the conversion on a run.

Nearest Was 25

The nearest Vale got to the Phoenix goal was to the 25 in the fourth quarter. They got there with the help of two successive passing plays of 22 and 15 yards. On the next two plays, however, Ingram was thrown for successive losses of eight and six yards by Ron Patterson and Ken Tycksen.

Another pass clicked for six yards, but Vale was forced to give up possession on Phoenix's 33.

Phoenix netted six yards on its next series, then gave up the ball with Williams punting to the Vale 39. Ingram was trapped for a three-yard loss trying to pass. He next completed one for 12 yards to Rod Chester and a first down. But on the following play an Ingram pass was intercepted by Consbruck. Only seconds were left to play and Phoenix let the clock run out.

Phoenix's defense was called upon for a stern test in the opening minutes of the game. Consbruck fumbled and Vale's Rick Fulleton recovered on the Phoenix 39. A pass from Ingram to Chester gained to the 30-yard line, but on a bad center snap, Vale lost back to Phoenix's 38, and Hyland punted to the 10. It was from that point that Phoenix got on the road to its first touchdown.

Fumble Lost

Phoenix in the late second quarter got to the Vale 22, but a pass lateral play lost four yards, with Vale recovering a Consbruck fumble.

Leading the Phoenix rushing was Consbruck with 118 yards on 16 carries. Granby had 53 yards also on 16 carries. Williams packed four times for 68 yards. And Grennan ran 11 times for 28 yards.

Bill Ingram for Vale completed 10 of 22 passes for 130 yards.

Phoenix used the late minutes of the game to give reserves experience and to practice on its passing game.

Coach Jack Woodward of Phoenix after the contest gave a huge amount of credit to the defense of his team.

In defeating Vale, Phoenix eliminated from the running the number two rated team in the state A-2 polls.

Gain Retribution

The victory Saturday was retribution for the only other team time the schools have met in football. Vale in 1959 defeated Phoenix 41-14 in a state semi-final game also played on the Viking field.

Snow fell on the ground at Vale Friday, but the turf was bare of snow and in excellent shape for the game. Partly sunny weather greeted the opening moments of the contest, but the weather turned chilly and overcast as the game progressed, although no rain fell.

Nick Kozak To Return Thursday

Nick Kozak, an enthusiastic and expert horseman when he is not on the wrestling circuit, has been signed to face newcomer Irish Paddy Barrett in the opening match of the big wrestling card at Medford on Thanksgiving night, Nov. 28.

Kozak was to have wrestled here Nov. 14 but was called to Texas to testify in a lawsuit and therefore had to bow out at the last minute. Knowing he has a large following among the local mat faithful, Kozak regretted having to cancel the appearance and asked Matchmaker Elton Owen to sign him for the Thanksgiving card.

Barrett, who recently came to the northwest from Oklahoma, is a fast, clean but rough performer. His style and crowd appeal has earned him the tag of "sleeper" among northwest heavyweights.

Barrett was sent to the Northwest on the recommendation of Billy Whitelaw, another local favorite who is now wrestling in Oklahoma, where he saw Barrett in action and suggested that he campaign in Oregon and Washington.

Haystack is Back

The main event will see Haystack Calhoun and Abe Jacobs go against Soldat Gorky and Dirty Don Duffy in a tag team match.

Another tag team scrap, slated as the feature bout, marks the return of midget wrestlers to Medford. It pairs Sky Low Low and Irish Jackie against Tiny Tim and Billy the Kid.

Ringside reserved seat tickets are on sale at Barker's, Main Street and Central Avenue.

JIM CONSBRUCK Phoenix Halfback

PORTLAND (UPI) — Roseburg, Pendleton and Cottage Grove each collected two berths on the Oregon Journal Class A-1 high school all-state football team announced Saturday.

Halfback Bob Burgess and guard Mike Leep were named from Roseburg, quarterback Dick Jones and end Jim Rackley were chosen from Pendleton and fullback Alan Richards and end Charles Olds were picked from Cottage Grove.

Also selected were tackle Jeff Hardrath of Medford and Gene Davis of West Linn, guard Larry Wright of North Salem, center Dennis Hass from Marshall and halfback Gary Van Koten of Grants Pass.

Phoenix put three men on the Class A-2 all-state squad. They are halfback Jim Consbruck, end Jon Granby and guard Ron Patterson.

Fullback Dave Moores and tackle Len Buchholz, both of Elmira, and center Pat Shunn and tackle Larry Allen, both of Vale, also were named.

Others are quarterback Ed Gorman of North Catholic, halfback Charlie Hanscom of Brookings, guard George Crawford of Yamhill-Carlton and end Roy Sigurdson of Seaside.

No one from the Rogue Valley made the second A-2 team, but Terry Isabell of Grants Pass was selected as fullback on the third squad. Grants Pass placed one man on the fifth team, Bob Lindeman at one of the tackle positions.

Ray White, Crater guard, won honorable mention, as did quarterback Mike Barnes of Medford and Tom Sparlin of Grants Pass, fullback Bill Enyard of Medford and end Marty Bauer of Grants Pass.

In the A-2 runner-up honors, fullback Ron Thornhill of Illinois Valley made the second team, and guard John Lucas of St. Mary's and quarterback Ron Williams of Phoenix made the third squad.

On the fourth team are John Riggs of Henley at tackle and Darryl Gellert of Illinois Valley at quarterback. Phoenix tackle Gary McGarity and guard Dave Westfall made the fifth team,

Basketball Games Put Off

EUGENE (UPI) — The University of Oregon's opening basketball series, scheduled next weekend against Stanford at Palo Alto, Calif., will be played instead Dec. 2 and 3.

The postponement was caused by delay in both teams' football schedules, officials said Saturday. Oregon's game with Oregon state and the Stanford-California games were postponed one week because of the assassination of President Kennedy.

Oregon State's series with Washington State, scheduled Nov. 30 and Dec. 2 was rescheduled to Dec. 2 and 3.

NORTH NAMES COACH

MIAMI, Fla. (UPI) — Chalmers (Bump) Elliott, head football coach at the University of Michigan, was named Saturday one of the North coaches in the annual North-South All-Star game in the Orange Bowl, Dec. 21. Tom Nugent of Maryland already had been named a South coach.

Crater Has Experience Problem With Only One Basketball Letterman

CENTRAL POINT — "Our biggest problem is going to be experience."

So declared Head Coach Lloyd Hoffine concerning the outlook for his 1963-1964 Crater High School basketball squad.

There is only one letterman on hand from last year's colorful, strong contending varsity squad. He is senior Darryl Summerfield.

Bob Stroh and Bob Turner, seniors, and Mike Turner, junior, saw some varsity action and played junior varsity ball. Mainly, it's last season's jayvees who have moved up to the top squad.

Season tickets for Crater High basketball games will go on sale on Monday morning, Nov. 25, at the school activity office.

Athletic Director Don Miller reported that the price is $12.50 for 11 games. The cost would be $16.50 if tickets were bought on an individual game basis.

Tickets will be sold on a first come, first served plan. None will be saved for fans. Telephone orders will not be accepted.

Crater opens its season at Home on Dec. 6 against Eagle Point.

"I hope they learn a lot in pre-season," said Hoffine of his charges. Objective of the pre-season competition will be to prime and build for the strenuous 16-game Southern Oregon Conference slate. The Comets will strive, naturally, for pre-loop victories but preparation for games which really count is the No. 1 aim.

Hoffine said he thinks his squad of 12 is physically stronger than last year's aggregation but it does not have the quickness of the 1962-1963 crew.

All About Even

The mentor said that the 12 players are all about even and that all are expected to play. Crater has not had so even a squad in some four or five years.

Cajun Classic Golf Off Until Sunday

LAFAYETTE, La. (UPI) — The final two rounds of the annual Cajun Classic golf tourney will not be played until Sunday because of the assassination of President Kennedy.

Saturday's third-round of the competition was postponed after word of Kennedy's death.

Heavy winds, pouring rain and the news of the assassination sent scores skyrocketing Friday.

Goose Tatum & Son Coming To Crater Wednesday Night

CENTRAL POINT — Professional basketball's only father-son team will be seen playing together here Wednesday night, Nov. 25.

That's when Reece (Goose) Tatum, the Clown Prince of Basketball, sends his Harlem Roadkings against the New York Renaissance (Ren) at the Crater High gym.

Game time is 8 p.m.

Playing by his side when the Golden Goose goes onto the court to cut his capers will be his 21-year-old son, Reece Tatum Jr., better known as Goose Jr.

This is the second season the two have played together. Young Tatum joined the Roadkings two years ago after completing a hitch in the Navy. Although he was competing against his own father for his job, he made the team, and now he is a full-fledged member of the great barnstorming pro team.

The two Tatums, senior and junior, alternated playing last year. Although he had great confidence in his offspring, Papa Goose hesitated to take out a more experienced player to make room for his son.

But before the season was over, Goose, Jr. had won a regular job for himself and this season is listed as a starter, right along with his famous father. He has learned to handle a ball like his dad, and time has shown that he inherited many of his famous father's talents.

So when the Harlem Roadkings come to town this time to play the New York Rens, fans will be seeing not one Goose Tatum, but two.

Goose Tatum, Jr., is five feet, eleven inches tall and weighs one-hundred-eighty pounds. He is not as tall as his father, but tall enough to play in big-time basketball. He now is regarded as the greatest dribbler in the business.

Also along with the Roadkings will be 7 foot, 1 inch Reggie Harding. He is a former star of the Detroit Pistons of the National Basketball Assoc.

There'll be half-time entertainment—a 30 minute concert by the Ink Spots.

Rogue River Roxy Victor

ROGUE RIVER—Rogue River Elementary School took the Roxy Ann League football championship this fall with a record of four victories, no losses and one tie.

The team defeated Eagle Point 13-7 and 19-7, St. Mary's 31-6 and Gold Hill 31-0. Gold Hill was tied 13-13.

The club was coached by William MacDonald and Donni Dimick was team captain.
