

Tranquility Topic For Knife-Fork

ASHLAND — Gordon Owen, radio and television commentator of Salt Lake City, appeared before the Siskiyou Knife and Fork club Tuesday evening in the Mark Antony hotel, to propound the problem of using one's dynamic power to achieve tranquility.

In a serio-comic vein the speaker analyzed public addresses and orators from the day in Gettysburg a century ago when Edward Everett, statesman, orator and writer, spoke eloquently for more than an hour, only to go down in history as the "Other Man."

Before launching into his subject, Mr. Owen laid down some of the rudimentary requirements for a speech — banalities, startling attack, appropriateness, brevity and a generous sprinkling of anecdotes. All of which he used during his hour-long address.

Not Contradictory

Although dynamic power and tranquility are seemingly contradictory the speaker developed his theory that the two are inseparable. He enumerated four means by which a tranquil mind may be achieved: through peace or calmness; through poise, wherein peace and power are in perfect balance; through harmony that means mental equilibrium, and finally by maintaining a sense of humor.

Factors deterring such balance and attainment of tranquility are complaint and criticism, worry, anxiety and fear, said Mr. Owen, "but most of all over-reaching our abilities. Knowing one's own aptitudes and being willing to fit an individual niche are essential."

Wallace Brill, vice president of the club, presided and introduced the speaker. Dr. Irwin Hollenbeck welcomed a number of new members and several guests and announced that Mrs. J. R. Tobin will speak on her recent tour of Soviet Russia at the dinner meeting January 29.

Date For Marriage Is Family Tradition

PROSPECT — When Miss Renelda Charlene Griffith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. W. Griffith, Prospect, became the bride of Brian Houston Boothby, the bridegroom represented the third generation in the Boothby family to be married on November 17.

The bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Boothby, Prospect, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Houston, were also married on that date.

The Rev. Gerald Gardner, former pastor of the Prospect Church of the Nazarene, officiated at the three o'clock afternoon rites held at the First Church of the Nazarene in Medford.

Miss Jill Hedgpeth played the organ wedding music and Miss Jean Cunningham was soloist. Baskets of orchid and white chrysanthemums decorated the church. White bows marked the pew ends. Some 150 friends and relatives attended the rites.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of white silk over taffeta styled on princess lines. It was fashioned with scalloped Sabrina neckline outlined with lace, lace sleeves and panels of Alencon lace on the skirt. The full skirt formed a chapel train and her fingertip length veil of imported silk net was held by a seed pearl crown. Her jewelry was a single strand of pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and stephanotis encircling a white orchid.

Maid of honor was Miss Laura Bean, cousin of the bride. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Steven Garrett and Mrs. Clarence Huntley, Shady Cove. They wore dresses of orchid colored velveteen in afternoon length fashioned with fitted bodices and bell skirts. Their hats with veils matched their dresses and their accessories were also orchid. Miss Bean carried white chrysanthemums and the other attendants white and orchid chrysanthemums.

Temple Jean Minger, Talent, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She wore an orchid colored frock of brocaded taffeta and her flowers were a wristlet of white chrysanthemums.

Clifton Chapman served as best man. Seating the guests were Richard Bean, cousin of the bride, and Michal Ring.

Reception at Church

For her daughter's wedding and reception which followed in the church annex, Mrs. Griffith wore a sheath dress of cranberry red wool with matching accessories. Mrs. Boothby chose a sheath dress of light beige wool with dark brown accessories. Their corsages were white orchids.

Mrs. Gerald Griffith, Central Point, sister-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. Ronald Couser, White City, cut and served the wedding cake. Pouring coffee and punch were Mrs. Robert Kolkin, Mrs. Rodney Hanley, Medford, and Miss Janet Bean, Talent. In charge of the guest book were Miss Frances Artmire and Miss Lynn Stuart. Others assisting at the reception were Mrs. Robert Padgett, Central Point; Mrs. Lela Bean and Mrs. Glee Bean, all aunts of the bride; Mrs. Leon Bean, Medford; Mrs. Robert Broomfield, Medford, and Mrs. Jack DeRosier.

Assisting with the gifts were Miss Beth Biden, Miss Barbara Beck, Miss LaQuita Barns, David Lilly and Larry Bean, cousin of the bride.

The newlywedded couple traveled to eastern Oregon on their wedding trip and are making their home in Prospect where Mr. Boothby is a partner in the Richfield Service Station. Both the bride and bridegroom are graduates of Prospect High

Berean Baptist Church Scene of Marriage Rites

Miss Louella M. Rone became the bride of Bernard C. Riessland November 15 in a double ring ceremony read in Berean Baptist Church, White City. The Rev. Richard A. Hadeen performed 8 o'clock evening rites.

A prayer of dedication was offered during the ceremony. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse J. Rone, 6115 Crater Lake Highway, Medford. The bridegroom is a son of Mrs. Harry Riessland, 516 Liberty Street, Medford, and the late Mr. Riessland.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of bombazine with Chantilly lace. Scallops of the lace trimmed the neckline and formed the long sleeves. Tiers of lace also trimmed the full length skirt. A small lace crown with sequins held her elbow length tulle veil and her bouquet was of yellow spider chrysanthemums.

Attends Bride

Mrs. Raymond Marsh, Eagle Point, was the bride's only attendant and Lorna Halstead was flower girl. The attendant's gown was an emerald green floor length sheath with pleated overskirt. A pillbox hat of matching green held her float veil. She carried white spider chrysanthemums.

The flower girl's dress was of pink and white dotted Swiss and her hat was lace.

Marla Halstead and Gail Vincent lighted the candles. They wore frocks of beige organza with matching hats.

Mr. Marsh, was best man and seating the guests were Clyde Riessland and Ken Riessland, brothers of the bride, and Cecil Halstead.

Bronze and yellow chrysanthemums and candelabra decorated the altar.

Mrs. Hadeen played the wedding music and Maynard Hadley was soloist.

About 100 guests attended the ceremony and reception given by the bride's parents in the church rooms. Pink and white decorations were used.

The couple made their wedding trip to Brookings. The bride wore a blue wool suit with black accessories and her corsage was from her wedding bouquet.

Make Home Here

The couple has returned and now live in Wayside Apartments, 525 North Riverside Avenue, Apartment 7, Medford.

The bride attended Crater High School, Southern Oregon College and Robertson's School of Business. She is employed as a bookkeeper in the North Medford Branch of the U. S. National Bank. She has lived in this area about 11 years.

The bridegroom attended Amherst High School in Nebraska and now is a student at Robertson's School of Business. He is employed at Bard's Inn, Ashland, and moved here with his family about a year ago from Kearney, Neb.

Clinics on Guam Program Topic

The College Women's Club of Rogue River Valley heard a talk on Guam by Dr. Leon Mulling, of the Southern Oregon College speech department when they met recently.

The speaker also showed slides and told of his work on the island during the past summer. He was there to set up clinics for the correction of speech problems connected with cleft palates. The clinics are operated by islanders especially trained in the work.

School. For traveling the bride chose a turquoise suit with fur trimmed matching coat, black patent accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Among the out of town guests were Mrs. Charles Axel, aunt of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Boothby and son, Ronnie, uncle, aunt and cousin of the bridegroom, Julian Abbott, all Klamath Falls; Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Hollenbeck, Grants Pass; and Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Clarke, Independence, Ore.

The evening prior to the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Boothby were hosts for a rehearsal dinner at North's Chuck Wagon in Medford. Twenty-one guests attended.
