

Parents, Students Should Work Closely With Guidance Counselor

By DAVID NYDICK
UPI Education Specialist
Parents and students should work closely with the high school guidance counselor.

The counselor uses many tools in his work. The most important is his knowledge of the individual. He has the student's school records at his disposal, talks with teachers and interviews parents. He works closely with the psychologist, health department, teachers, and administration. He uses tests which give clues to the student's intelligence, achievement, personality and interests.

Lutheran Theological Students Found to Have Average Grades

By ROBERT M. ANDREWS
United Press International
Lutherans have been given some discouraging news about the academic level of the theological students who will some day fill the pulpits of their church.

Dr. Conrad Bergendoff said 60 per cent of all students enrolled had only C averages in college. Dr. Bergendoff, executive secretary of the denomination's Board of Theological Education said this discovery came as a shock and was a disturbing commentary on the role of the church today.

Inquest Jury Held Regarding Traffic Death

A Jackson county inquest jury Friday cleared a St. Mary's School student of any possible negligent homicide charge resulting from the traffic death of a fellow student and passenger in his car.

"It may well be that science and engineering are capturing the best minds of our generation because of the prestige and emoluments of these professions," he said. "But in the same degree the church has lost its leadership in current thinking."

Higher Standards
The results of Dr. Bergendoff's year-long survey were mailed to the denomination's 6,913 pastors with a plea for higher academic standards in the seminaries.

Statement Asked On Snake River

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Interior Department has been asked to make a "definitive statement" on its position on a California proposal to tap Snake River water, the office of Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said Saturday.

Church's office staff said the senator had sent a letter to Interior Secretary Stewart Udall warning he would use his position on the Senate Interior Committee to block a plan for transfer of Idaho water.

Concerts Planned By Pacific College

The Pacific Lutheran University Concert Band will give a concert in Medford Tuesday, Nov. 26 and in Grants Pass Wednesday, Nov. 27.

The letter from Church said he would "never countenance any move to divert Idaho water to another state."

Presbyterian institutions have been asked to use their building and investment funds as a tool to help wipe out racial discrimination.

The United Presbyterian Church's Commission on Religion and Race suggests for example, that the denomination make deposits only in banks and savings and loan associations that encourage Negro clients.

Methodist educators have proposed a churchwide convocation of teachers, to be held no later than 1967, to plan a new attack on adult education problems in the denomination.

Theological Reinhold Niebuhr's biweekly journal, Christianity and Crisis, has got into the act with what it calls "theological Tom Swifities," samples:

"I have sinned," said Adam originally.
"Nonsense! I'll look behind me all I please," responded Lot's wife sally.
"I'll sit in the rear of the boat if I wish," said Peter sternly.
"I see through a glass," said Paul darkly.
