In the Day's News
By FRANK JENKINS

The aftermath of four grim and hectic days? Let's let Kipling describe it: "The tumult and the shouting dies; The Captains and the Kings depart; Still stands Thine ancient sacrifice, "An humble and a contrite heart."

THE humble and contrite heart? I think we can all agree that it is Jacqueline Kennedy's. The pictures of her, holding her children by their hands and facing courageously a future totally different from the future she had come to expect, will live long in American minds.

WHAT of the future? Well, there is an ancient cry of the people that has rung out down through the ages in situations such as that we now face. It goes like this: "The King is dead! Long live the king!"

WHAT it means is that the government the people have become accustomed to is ended. So... the people must adapt themselves to the NEW government.

That is where we all stand. We are all wondering what the NEW government will be like. Will it command our confidence? By way of answer, here is a straw in the wind:

THE stock market SOARED Tuesday morning. The Dow Jones industrial average, which was down 21.16 at the market's premature close on Friday, was UP 10.47 at the end of the first hour. Trading during the first 60 minutes amounted to 2,040,000 shares - the heaviest since the 2,102,000 shares traded on June 3, 1933. It was the fifth heaviest first-hour trading in history.

Trading can be a PANIC, or it can be a sign of confidence. Heavy selling usually reflects lack of confidence in the future. Heavy buying usually reflects confidence. Prices ROSE this morning.

Draw your own conclusions. But the heavy buying this morning doesn't seem to reflect any LACK of confidence. As this is written, people are BUYING, indicating that they have confidence in the new administration.

IN CONCLUSION: As a lifelong newspaper person, this writer would like at this hour to welcome television into the Fourth Estate. Chiefly, in the past, TV has been an entertainment medium. In those hectic four days, it has won its right to sit in the place referred to by Edmund Burke when two centuries ago he looked up to the reporters' gallery in the British House of Commons and said: "Yonder sits the Fourth Estate, more important than ALL the others."
