

Grant, North Salem Clash Tonight in A-1 Grid Final

By United Press International
Four Oregon prep football champions will be decided this weekend as the A-1, A-2, B-1 and B-2 finals are played around the state.

In tonight's night opener at Multnomah Stadium in Portland, an unbeaten Grant of Portland powerhouses meets North Salem's Vikings at 8 p.m.

A crowd of 15,000 is expected to be on hand for this A-1 showdown which pits two teams which are notoriously stingy in giving up the ball.

Coches Frank Buckiewicz of Grant and Bob Bickel of North Salem are expected to be in the thick of the action.

In Class A-2 action North Catholic of Portland meets Phoenix in a Saturday afternoon contest at the Southern Oregon College field in Ashland. Game time is 1:30.

Phoenix comes into the showdown contest with lopsided wins over Douglas and Vale. The Royals earned their berth with victories over Willamina and Stiusaf of Florence.

Both clubs have an explosive offensive potential. The Southern Oregon entry, appearing for the fifth straight time in the playoffs, has also allowed only six points in an 11-game schedule this season.

The Royals are appearing for the first time in these playoffs in Class B, Jefferson and Wasco County meet in Maupin Saturday for the 11-man crown. Game time is 1:30.

Unbeaten Camas Valley squares off against a tough Eagle Valley team to settle the championship in the eight-man bracket of the Class B finals. Kick-off is 1:30 Saturday at Myrtle Creek.

Detroit, Green Bay Knot 13-13

By United Press International
The Green Bay Packers suffered another shattering loss in their traditional Thanksgiving Day game with the Detroit Lions Thursday, but this time it wasn't the game.

The favored Packers, who were blitzed a year ago in the holiday game, were tied by the fired-up Lions, 13-13, in the final 16 seconds.

But in the process, the Packers lost their standout middle linebacker, Ray Nitschke, who broke a bone in his right forearm in the fourth period.

Nitschke's injury wasn't believed serious after the game but x-rays taken when the team returned to Green Bay revealed the fracture that sidelined him for the season.

Packer Coach Vince Lombardi is still convinced the Packers have a chance to make the National Football League title game for the fourth straight season.

But the deadlock with Detroit didn't help the Packers' chances of overruling Chicago, especially since the club has now lost Nitschke.

The Chicago Bears, who play Minnesota Sunday, are 9-1 in the Western Division while the Packers are second with a 9-2-1 record.

If the Bears lose one of their final three games and the Packers win their final two, the clubs will meet in Green Bay in a playoff for the Western Division title. The Bears have already beaten the Packers twice this season.

It may be the year for playoffs in the NFL: In the Eastern Division three clubs — Cleveland, St. Louis and New York — are tied for first place. Two of them, Cleveland and St. Louis, play in the feature game Sunday in St. Louis.

Besides the Chicago-Minnesota game, the other four games Sunday will feature New York at Dallas, Philadelphia at Pittsburgh, Baltimore at Washington and Los Angeles at San Francisco.

The ailing Lion defense, which gave up 28 points to Los Angeles and 34 to Minnesota in its last two games, was keyed up for the Packer game and bolstered by the return of Dick Lane and Yale Lary to the defensive backfield even though they were still slightly hampered by injuries.

The defense predominated throughout as the clubs played to a 6-6 halftime tie and then traded touchdowns in the final period. Bart Starr tossed a seven-yard pass to Ron Kramer for the TD to put the Packers ahead, 13-6, with 9:07 remaining in the game.

Lion quarterback Earl Morrall then directed a slow but steady 78-yard drive that was climaxed with Nick Pietrosante leap over from the one-foot line on fourth down with 16 seconds left. The Lions' ability to move on key third down plays and a pass interference call on Jesse Whitton on the goal line were the key factors in the drive.

Texas Nips A-M 15-13 In Thriller

By JOHN GRIFFIN
UPI Sports Writer
Usually the aftermath of Thanksgiving day is turkey hash, but — for Texas, 15-13 victor over Texas A&M in one of the most dramatic games of any season, that left Texas Coach Darrell Royal admitting he was "shaker." It's a possible national championship.

For Illinois, playing a "pursuit" game to the hilt in a 13-0 conquest of Michigan State, it's the school's first undisputed Big Ten championship in 10 years and a berth in the Rose Bowl on Jan. 1.

The outlawing of the use of treble hooks for salmon fishing in the upper river has been a constant theme of this column and of many of those who love to fish for the Rogue chinook. We all are pleased to see the game commission willing to try this as a means of controlling the snagging problem. According to its news release, the commission has instituted the single hook regulation from Pierce for North Carolina, a 16-14 field goal by Max Chapman with 33 seconds to play, its share of the Atlantic Coast Conference championship and a spot in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 28.

Win SC Crown
For Virginia Tech, 35-20 winner over VMI, it's the Southern Conference title.

And for Syracuse, 14-7 winner over Notre Dame, it's just plain old sweet revenge.

Texas, now assured of being the host in the Cotton Bowl game on Jan. 1, can look forward hopefully to next week when the final football ratings of the 1963 season are made by the UPI board of coaches. The Longhorns went into Thursday's game with the No. 1 national ranking and came out of it with a 10-0 season record, the only perfect mark among major colleges.

But for a long time as the shutouts began to fall at College Station, Tex., Thursday, it looked like Texas' goose — rather than turkey — was cooked. Jim Keller of the Aggies had flipped two touchdowns passes of 54 and 29 yards and in return Texas had only a 27-yard field goal by barefoot Tony Crosby.

Trailing, 13-3, going into the fourth period Texas rallied for two touchdowns — the first after three minutes of play when Tommy Ford crashed over from the one and the second several minutes later, set up by Tommy Wade's passes and scored by Duke Carlisle on a one-yard plunge.

The Big Ten announced selection of Illinois for the Rose Bowl just as soon as the Illini had beaten Michigan State, thanks to a brilliant defense plus a touchdown by Joe Grabowski on a 14-yard run and two field goals by Jim Plankenhorn.

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The International Professional Ski Racers Association championships, including many former Olympic stars, will be held at the Brandywine Ski Center at Sagamore Hills, Ohio, Feb. 8.

WITTENBERG (UPI) — Wittenberg wound up on top last year and that's exactly where it's picked to finish again this year by the coaches who make up the United Press International small college basketball rating board.

The Tigers from Springfield, Ohio, who compiled a 28-2 record last season and have lost only one starter by graduation, received 10 first place votes and polled a total of 232 points in the pre-season balloting by the 35 coaches.

Evansville was second with 203 points and Grambling third with 190.

WITTENBERG, which turned in the best defensive record in the country last season by holding its opponents to an average of 45.9 points a game, seeks its 67th straight victory at home Saturday when it opens the season against Otterbein.

South Dakota State, which beat Wittenberg for the NCAA college division title last season by two points, was ranked fourth in the coaches' pre-season size-up with 180 points.

One of the major surprises was the fifth place rating for Pan American, the NAIA champion last season. Pan American drew 10 first place votes, the same as Wittenberg, but was named on fewer ballots than the Tigers and collected 168 points.

Woods, Water, Wildlife

By Hank DeVoss
There are more than a few fishermen around here who feel the game commission wasn't justified in proposing to close the Rogue to salmon fishing above the mouth of Elk creek. However, they did feel that something must be done to stop the snagging activities that were becoming more and more of a problem, and would have accepted any move short of a closure. The fact that the commission did reverse itself and finally decided against the closure is an indication it is open to reasonable arguments.

Webfoots Slight Favorites Over OSU Beavers Saturday

EUGENE (UPI) — Oregon remained a slight favorite over Oregon State today despite the loss of Mel Renfro, its great halfback.

Renfro was declared out of the game after accidentally slashing his right wrist at his home last Friday night. The mishap severed a nerve.

Special thanks from all concerned should go to those few who willingly took the time to go to Portland last Friday and represent the rest of us in asking for a single hook regulation in place of the closure. It is fairly certain that the change wouldn't have been accomplished without attendance and the insistence that the fishermen of Southern Oregon wanted the single hook regulations and would be willing to help make it work.

MAKE IT WORK
No law or regulation is going to solve the problem of snagging on the Rogue until fishermen are willing to consider the snagger as a thief and will do more than just watch him at his thievery. Direct action in the form of telling the snagger he is illegal and immediately calling the state police with such information as license numbers, names and description is the kind of problem solving activity needed. Unless this kind of help is a part of the new regulation we are going to find the commission closing the upper river as the only workable solution.

MORE TROUBLE
The Rogue river isn't going to have a quiet life at any time; it seems that when one problem gets fairly well worked out there is another one brewing. According to a report from the Game Commission, the Grants Pass Irrigation District has prevented fish passage at Savage Rapids dam for the past four weeks. The district claims that work is needed on the pumps and turbines, and has diverted the water so that migrating salmon and steelhead cannot pass the dam. After four weeks no repair work has been started and no fish have passed.

HELPING HAND
The Game Commission has made four attempts at salvaging those fish stranded at the dam and has accomplished the following: A total of 573 salmon and steelhead have been taken out of the ladders and put over the dam; a total of 2,000 juvenile salmon and steelhead have been trapped and taken below the dam to continue their journey to the ocean. A total of 429 adult and juvenile salmon and steelhead have been killed as a result of this problem.

THE ANGLER'S LOG
All anglers are reminded that tomorrow is the last day that fishing will be permitted from Gold Ray Dam downstream in the Rogue. On Sunday, Dec. 1, the deadline will move down to Hellegate canyon, and fishing for steelhead will be permitted from that point downstream to the mouth of the Rogue until Feb. 28. November 30 also marks the end of the salmon season in the lower Rogue below Mule creek and in the Illinois river.

Chetco River — Is clearing and fast. There is a report that a steelhead has been taken and the first stragglers of the main winter run are in. Some salmon are being taken below Tulebrook.

Illinois River — There are a few steelhead being taken by a few early fishermen. As a matter of fact, anyone who has tried it in the past few days has had a fish or two on. Anyone for luck? Klamath River — Fishing for steelhead has been slow despite the large number of fish known to be in the river. Maybe it's the moon or maybe it's California, or maybe it's something we'll never know.

Rogue River — There are fish scattered the length of the river from Savage Rapids dam downstream. Reports from the lower river indicate that the big winter fish are starting up and making themselves available up to Agness.

Winchuck River — This little river has been putting out some good salmon and a few steelhead the last few days. Water conditions are just right.

THE OPTIMIST'S CORNER
Now is the time to give thanks that this time of the year has finally come around again and serious fishing can begin. Trout fishing can be interesting, but it takes a big steelhead to give a fisherman the pleasure shakes.

GOOD LUCK!
The big man for UCLA in its battle to knock over Southern California is end Mel Profit, who may be the greatest all-around wingman in the nation. He is a fine blocker, great on defense — and an excellent passer.

Against him the Trojans put up one of the country's outstanding linebackers in guard Damon Bame; two of the finest running backs in the West in Willie Brown and Mike Garrett; and quarterback Pete Bearhead, who has returned from the injured ranks.

Stanford and California, tangling for the 66th time in a series that dates back to 1892, have nothing at stake except their own prestige.

The Indians, with a 2-7 record, are a two-point favorite to whip the Golden Bears (4-4-1).

SETS NEW RECORD
EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI) — Michigan State football games were watched by a record 385,369 fans this year. Attendance of 74,342 at Thursday's finale against Illinois pushed Michigan State's total attendance at all games for the 1963 season over the old school record of 575,396 in 1953.

The two teams collide at 1:30 p.m. Saturday for the 67th time on the football field. The game was postponed from last Saturday.

Sophomore Dennis Keller, who has seen considerable duty at the left halfback slot this season, will fill in for Renfro.

"We'll miss Renfro," said Coach Len Casanova, in probably the understatement of the season.

The senior halfback, who was an all-American as a junior closed his college career with 1,540 rushing yards, or a 57 average, completed 14 of 31 passes for 267 yards and 4 touchdowns, caught 41 passes for 644 yards and 5 touchdowns, scored 23 touchdowns and had 1,807 yards total offense. He did this despite missing four games as a junior and two as a senior.

Both Clubs Helped
However, the week's delay helped both clubs injuriously. Tackle Roy Johnson, and sophomore guards Mark Richards and Ancer Haggerty of Oregon have been improving.

Coches Tommy Prothro of Oregon State who was bedridden himself much of last week with a bad back, has been reluctant to talk about his injury list. But speedy halfback Leroy Whittle is reported ready to go.

The game is expected to produce plenty of aerial fireworks, with Oregon's Bob Berry throwing to a flock of receivers and Oregon State's Gordon Queen zeroing in on the great Beaver end, Vern Burke. Berry has 14 touchdown passes and Queen 16 this season.

Oregon State has won three of the last four games with Oregon and the other ended in a tie. But Oregon has 30 wins to 27 for Oregon State over the years — with nine ties.

Nowadays, all major sports teams travel by air, but do you know which was the very first in history ever to fly to a game? ... The University of New Mexico claims it was first, and there's a humorous twist to the story ... Back in 1929, New Mexico had a football game against Occidental College in Los Angeles, and New Mexico officials decided to make history by flying their team there ... But Coach Roy Johnson cautiously sent only the second team and the student manager by air ... He and the first team went by train!

Edgie LeBaron, who stands 5-7, has been the smallest player in pro football the last few years, but do you know who holds the record for being the smallest of all time in big league pro football? ... That honor goes to Buddy Young who was a star runner in the 1940s and 1950s ... Buddy was only 5-4.

Did you know that one of today's pro football quarterbacks is literally a genius? ... He is Frank Ryan of the Cleveland Browns ... In IQ tests in college, Ryan has scored in the genius class ... He went to Rice and now in the off-season is working on his doctor's degree in mathematics.

Right now we find ourselves in plenty of live football yet to be played in the colleges and professional ranks. The Army Navy battle should be a dandy! At Thanksgiving time, we would like to add our word of appreciation to all our fine friends who have supported our business during the past years. We appreciate your interest and look forward to continuing to do our best to serve you in the best possible fashion. We're proud of our record and proud of the Rambler car.
