Judge Orders Gun Returned

PORTLAND (UPI) - A judge has ordered a gun used by a Portland man to slay his wife last year returned to the man who carried it in the Doer War.

Multnomah County Circuit Judge Virgil Langtry signed the order shortly after receiving a letter from Harry A. Gunn of Cowley, Alberta, Canada.

Langtry himself started the inquiry while he was presiding at the trial of Ebb Cleveland, who is now serving a 15-year prison term for manslaughter.

He noted that the weapon introduced in evidence bore the markings: H. A. Gunn, C.M.R., Pincher Creek, Alberta.

Recalling that a former neighbor of his in Eugene, Mrs. E. Bailey, had come from Pincher, he wrote her a note, and she wrote her sister, who happened to be a neighbor of Gunn's.

Gunn said he carried the Colt .45 as a member of the Canadian Mounted Rifles from 1899 to 1901, when the British wrested control of South Africa from the Dutch.

"All arms had to be turned back to the government at the beginning of World War I," Gunn said, in explaining his loss of the weapon. Cleveland had told of buying it in Los Angeles.

OLYMPIA (UPI) - Washington Gov. Albert D. Rosellini Friday urged President Johnson to designate Nov. 22 the day of the assassination of President Kennedy as a "day of national unity" each year.

Rosellini, who is president of the Council of State Governments, said he believed the annual observance of the day of Kennedy's death would "perpetuate the spiritual and patriotic unity which the people of the nation experienced during the assassination."

The governor also announced he would urge the Board of Managers of the council to go on record in opposition to three proposed amendments to the federal Constitution which Rosellini said were backed by the "extreme right wing."

Rosellini will preside over the board's annual two-day meeting Monday and Tuesday in Miami Beach. He said he would present the full details of his proposals at that time.

The three proposed amendments which Rosellini wants the council to oppose would: -Give state legislatures the power to amend the federal Constitution without action by Congress.

-Give state courts full and final jurisdiction over the matter of determining state legislative districts.

-Establish a sort of super-supreme court, made up of the chief justices of the supreme courts of the 50 states, with authority to overrule decisions of the U.S. Supreme Court.

Position Of AMA On Medicare Explained In Talk

PORTLAND (UPI) - The assistant executive vice president of the American Medical Association, Dr. Ernest B. Howard, told the City Club here Friday the AMA does not object to stepped-up medical care for the aged, but to the medicare system through Social Security.

Dr. Howard said the federal government should step in to aid those who need old-age assistance, but it should also allow people who do not need it to take care of themselves.

"We want a society in which the freedom of the individual is maximized, while at the same time his welfare is provided for," the speaker said. "Doctors are concerned about what effect the bills Congress passes will have upon the care which they render."

He said that doctors would have no objection to a system which would permit individuals to contribute during their working years to provide for health care, when they retire, as long as the system is voluntary.

Dr. Howard is in Portland for the five-day AMA national convention which starts Sunday.
